New York District Passes the Billion Mark—Quick Response to Appeal for Increased Subscriptions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—More than $1,000,000,000 will have to be subscribed by the American people tomorrow to put the Fourth Liberty Loan over the top. Officials are counting upon the patriotism and determination of the country to achieve the desired end.

The campaign enters upon its last day tomorrow with the quota of one district, St. Louis, officially subscribed, and countrywide subscriptions reported to the Treasury of $3,958,589,600, or approximately two-thirds of the $6,000,000,000 sought.

"Subscriptions from all sources," said the Treasury in an authorized statement, "both reported and unreported, now probably are somewhere between $4,500,000,000 and $5,000,000,000. The country must subscribe more than $1,000,000,000 to reach its prescribed quota."

The summary of sales by districts, thus far reported, follows:

District.	Quota.	Subscriptions.
St. Louis	$260,000,000	$260,581,200
Minneapolis	210,000,000	183,633,750
Boston	560,000,000	416,430,100
Dallas	126,000,000	85,592,750
San Francisco	402,000,000	275,985,350
Richmond	386,000,000	195,078,300
Chicago	870,000,000	580,807,350
Kansas City	260,000,000	186,665,200
Cleveland	600,000,000	374,289,500
New York	1,800,000,000	1,049,206,000
Philadelphia	560,000,000	273,217,900
Atlanta	192,000,000	98,528,200
Total	$6,000,000,000	$3,958,589,600

The St. Louis district surpassed its quota of $260,000,000 this afternoon, with $281,200 to spare. A telegram from St. Louis tonight said that an oversubscription of possibly $20,000,000 might be rolled up tomorrow, but it was not thought that the excess would be greater than that amount.

New York passed the $1,000,000,000 mark today, and advices from that city tonight were that the committee was very hopeful that the district's quota of $1,800,000,000 would be reached before the close of business tomorrow night. It will require some very large subscriptions to put the district up with its allotment, but a hard drive is being made for big subscriptions which may result in success. The total reported at the headquarters in New York, is a little higher than the figures reported by the Treasury, due to the fact that some returns have been delayed.

Messages, urging Liberty Loan workers throughout the country to drive their hardest until the close of the campaign tomorrow night, were sent out tonight from all the headquarters of the War Loan organization. With the country more than $1,000,000,000 behind its quota, it was said there must be no diminution of effort tomorrow. To gain the desired goal there must be the most vigorous selling from sunrise tomorrow until as late at night as there is anyone left to buy.

The standing of the different Federal Reserve districts tonight, on the basis of percentage of quotas subscribed, follows:

St. Louis, 100; Minneapolis, 87 9-10; Boston, 82; Dallas, 70; San Francisco, 69 7-10; Richmond, 68 9-10; Chicago, 66 7-10; Kansas City, 64; Cleveland, 62 3-10; New York, 58 1-10; Philadelphia, 54 6-10, and Atlanta, 51 3-10 per cent. Chicago has dropped into seventh place and Richmond has advanced into sixth from seventh. The net gain in today's report over yesterday for the entire country is about $351,000,000.

An encouraging telegram came from the Boston district tonight saying it seemed certain that the district would raise its allotment, and announcing that Connecticut had attained its quota. The work done in this district stands out as an object lesson for every Liberty Loan Committee. In the face of most tremendous odds, occasioned by the prevalence of Spanish influenza, the district has kept going ahead until tonight it had officially 82 per cent. of its quota. Seven hundred and eighteen communities already have achieved their quotas.

Captured Austrians Protest at Entering Germans' Cage

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 18.—A group of Austrian prisoners, captured today, insisted on being put in a separate cage from German prisoners, asserting that President Wilson had said he was going to make separate reply to Austria on the peace note, which showed that Americans no longer considered Austrians to be in the same boat with Germans. Any how they insisted that they were not the same sort.

MORE U-BOATS SUNK; ALLIED LOSSES LESS

Summer Record Shows Entente Patrols and Convoys Are More Efficient.

TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN NAVY

Sims's Men Have Borne the Brunt of Protecting Transports on a 300-Mile Front.

AMERICAN NAVAL BASE, Oct. 10, (Associated Press.)—The record of submarine activity for the Summer months, June, July, and August, the period most favorable to submarines, is now practically made up, and shows two highly satisfactory results—a steady fall in the allied shipping sunk and a steady rise in the submarines destroyed.

In the tremendous arrivals this Summer period is equally satisfactory. Not one of the incoming troopships was lost, and every soldier was landed. Such losses as have occurred have been on out-going ships, mainly freighters going back with little or no cargo.

As the American naval convoy service has borne the brunt of this protection, the results achieved for the first Summer are a notable tribute to the American fleet. In the Mediterranean there are five of the allied navies co-operating in the protective service—the French, British, American, Italian, and Japanese. Here on the Atlantic coast, however, the French and American fleets furnish the convoys and protective service, and along 300 miles of the front the American service has a foremost part, particularly in the huge movement of troops and supplies from America.

The record of tonnage losses for the Summer will close around 260,000 tons, or about 50,000 tons less than the monthly losses at the opening of the year, and 100,000 tons less than the losses in March. In January the losses stood at about 300,000 tons. They mounted steadily through February and March, until the March total was around 350,000. Then a sudden drop began, and in April the losses were down to 260,000. Again they mounted slightly in May to 250,000. Then there was another fall to 240,000. In July they stood at 260,000, and this has been the level to the close of the Summer.

The percentage of losses on the Atlantic route since the convoy system began May 25 last is less than that on any other route. In the Mediterranean the percentage of losses is about 1½, and on one exposed route it runs up to 18. But on the Atlantic route, where the American convoy is chiefly concerned, the percentage of losses is around 1 per cent.

As to the loss of submarines, the one fact known definitely is that they are being destroyed faster than they are being built. But there is not the same exact data as to the fluctuations of losses, as these are carefully concealed by the enemy, and the loss of an underwater craft is much less apparent than that of one on the surface. But a pretty accurate check is kept on those which disappear and the new ones taking their place.

Among the new ones are the U-139, U-141, and U-142, built at the Germania Krupp yards at Kiel. They have a length of about 315 feet, with sixteen knots speed on the surface and nine knots under water. They each mount four guns and two machine guns, and have four 500-centimeter torpedo tubes, two forward and two aft.

But the appearance of new boats in no way keeps pace with the loss of the old ones, which are crippled or sunk, or mysteriously disappear, leaving hardly a trace as the depth bombs do their deadly underwater work.

German War Cabinet Met Last Night to Draft Reply

COPENHAGEN, Saturday, Oct. 19.—The German War Cabinet met at 6 o'clock last evening to decide the definite form of the German answer to President Wilson.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18.—The German reply to President Wilson probably will be dispatched on Saturday afternoon, according to advices received here.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 18.—Once more Berlin is the scene of a tremendous struggle between the old and the new régime. Hindenburg has arrived in Berlin and for the time being the military party has the upper hand, although the political barometer is changing constantly, and tomorrow may record another change.

The answer to President Wilson's note monopolizes the political arena and is the subject of stormy discussion and dissension. It is reported on excellent authority here that the Government had already formulated its reply, but that the military leaders, incensed at Wilson's note but afraid of the Government's reply, came post haste to Berlin, when the situation suddenly changed.

The Kölnische Volkszeitung remark that the military leaders, who hold the key to the situation, have arrived to partake in the discussion. If the military party wins the day, which is still possible, according to information received here this morning, then the answer will be a practical refusal of all concessions and a return to reliance on militarism. The Kölnische Gazette suggests that if the peace proposal fails there will be a revulsion in Germany and a rallying around Hindenburg's banner, with a waving of swords and the cry, "Fight for your Fatherland and defend your frontiers."

Germany is not beaten, and the old spirit is not yet broken, continues the Gazette, and it would be a mistake for the Allies to assume that, but she is making a desperate attempt to avoid collapse. The military party's idea is for the army to make a firm stand on the Antwerp - Brussels- Namur and Meuse line.

If they succeed in this, they will again reign supreme, but when the army collapses, the result will be Bolshevism, which is already much feared since the Russian revolution.

If the new régime retains its power, then further concessions may be expected, but step by step, with the design of keeping up exchanges with President Wilson.

Today we hear of a new army order to cease the devastation of places except when necessitated by the military situation. This direct answer to Wilson is intended to make him keep the notes going, and also to impress the world, especially the neutrals, that Germany accepts Wilson's terms. We may expect still further concessions.

These concessions may even extend to giving up the ruthless submarine campaign, but will not be unconditional surrender. There will indeed be a great show of accepting Wilson's terms in order to impress the world, and the Dutch press, getting its cue from Germany, is already taking the attitude that Wilson is not keeping his word. The new Berlin Government may ac-

STORM IN BUDAPEST DIET

Address Tells Emperor That His Throne Is in Peril—Separate Peace Demanded.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—The Czechs are masters in Prague, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Berliner Tidende.

Czech money is in circulation and the Czech flag waves over Hradschin Castle.

BASLE, Oct. 18.—Scenes of tumult prevailed at the meeting of the Hungarian Diet yesterday during which demands for peace were made and it was announced that Austria was being organized on a federal basis. So great was the uproar that the presiding officer was obliged to adjourn the sitting. The disorder continued, however, the Deputines calling each other "blackguard," "liar," "traitor," "slave," &c.

Dr. Alexander Wekerle, the Hungarian Premier, said that the Federal States which would be formed in Austria would organize their economic and military policies on an autonomous and independent basis. He made an appeal for united action by all parties.

Count Michael Karolyi, President of the Hungarian Independent Party, who followed Dr. Wekerle, demanded that immediate peace negotiations be begun without regard to the community of interest arising from the policy which had heretofore been followed.

Count Stephen Tisza, the former Hungarian Premier, who on Wednesday had a narrow escape from a would-be assassin, attacked Count Karolyi, yelling: "You are Entente agents!"

Martin Novassy, one of the members of the Diet, answered: "We are friends of the Entente."

Great disorder ensued in the chamber.

Declares for Wilson Principles.

When the sitting was resumed after a brief postponement a draft of the address to the King was read. It said that the result of the war had been such as to place the throne in danger and that Hungary must have full autonomy.

"Hungary feels herself to be in full accord with the ideas spreading throughout the world along the lines of the noble principles of President Wilson's address," the address continued. "Hungary must be completely independent, must have general electoral suffrage, and the relations between nationalities in the country must be governed by the principles enunciated by President Wilson.

"Hungary is in danger of invasion. Hungarian troops must be brought back and non-Hungarian troops sent away."

Dr. Wekerle said:

"The protection of our integrity as a State and the maintenance of our unity are tasks which we must accomplish at all costs. We desire to grant individual rights to the different nationalities which have lived among us for a thousand years. We are not contradicting our traditional point of view in accepting President Wilson's principles. As far as absolute equality of rights to individuals and the defense of our integrity and the unity of the State will permit, we will willingly satisfy the claims of different nationalities."

Karolyi Assails U-Boat War.

At a sitting of the Foreign Committee of the Hungarian lower house, Count Michael Karolyi sharply criticised the foreign policy of the monarchy. He claimed absolute autonomy for the Hungarians and said that when the Austrian Government rejected the British proposal to submit the Balkan problem to arbitration, the monarchy proved that it wished to begin the war.

Count Karolyi said that Austria's foreign policy during the war had been still worse than that which prevailed before

American Surprise Attack Wins Town of Bantheville

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—The Americans sprung another surprise upon the Germans today, the infantry advancing north of Romagne and taking Bantheville without artillery preparation. The Americans pushed the German infantry and machine gunners back after fighting that lasted all day.

Northwest of Grand Pré the Americans captured Talma Farm in the face of a stiff machine-gun resistance. There was much fighting at close quarters throughout the day.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 18.—After constant hammering by the First American Army for the last four days, the Germans today withdrew from the Bois Bantheville, lying north of Landres, and the Bois Loges, east of Grand Pré. Giving up the Bois Bantheville means pushing back the German line about four kilometers, and the surrender of the Bois Loges spells a withdrawal of two kilometers. These two woods were defense points of the Kriemhilde Stellung, and the enemy feared to stay there after our advance north of Bantheville.

The Bois Hadois also was given up by the Germans today. We have occupied the Bois Bantheville.

Following reports of the German withdrawal, American detachments went through the Bois Bantheville, passing through St. Georges and Landres et St. Georges. Grand Carre Farm, at the north edge of the woods, was deserted, but venturing from the woods northward our patrols drew machine gun fire from neighboring hills. When our troops entered the Bois Loges, which is a small wood about a kilometer by a kilometer and a half in area, they found that the Germans on leaving had drenched it with mustard gas so as to make it untenable. Therefore our line runs south of it, and the enemy line north.

We cleaned out, late this afternoon, some machine guns which the Germans had sneaked into the north edge of Grand Pré last night.

New German divisions appeared today on the left of our front. To the left of the Bois Loges our troops advanced north to the Farm des Loges. Along the bank of the Meuse we bettered our positions slightly, closing in on Brieulles. German resistance here continues violent, consisting in the use of many machine guns.

German artillery fire was brisk today, and remarkable for the large number of "duds," especially from the guns of larger calibre. Our artillery officers estimated that 50 per cent. of the larger German shells did not explode.

The first sunshiny day for the last three weeks brought a renewal of airplane activity, with many fights between patrols and chassé machines, as the result of which we netted a number of the enemy. But the feature of

Shell Shortage Handicaps the Fleeing Germans; Whole Regiments Said to Have Refused to Fight

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—From information reaching headquarters this afternoon, it seems that all the available reserves of the enemy north of the River Lys have been engaged. Few, if any, divisions can be spared from any other section of the front. Moreover, it is now absolutely certain that the Germans, in addition to their other difficulties, are seriously handicapped by a shortage of high-explosive shells.

Captured orders show that the German gunners have been urged to use gas shells instead of high explosives, and all ranks have received stricter orders to save their brass cartridge cases when retreating. Even further economy is exacted in the use of shells, it being admitted that the lack of ammunition is hampering operations.

In the Lille sector the enemy appears to be rapidly withdrawing his guns far to the rear, leaving only a protecting screen of artillery.

The Germans, at least for the moment, seem to have stopped their orgies of burning and destroying, partly through fear of what the allied troops may have a chance to do before long. Today's reports say no fires of any consequence have been observed except at places close to the line.

How many thousands of civilians have been delivered from the Germans during the last three days is uncertain, but the numbers run well into the thousands. Now it has become a usual thing for the British, French, and Belgian troops to send back, momentarily from every town taken large numbers of men, women, and children. From some of these evidence corroborative of the reports of the gradual destruction of the German morale has been obtained.

For instance, it has been learned that in the neighborhood of Heule and Cuerne, north of Courtrai, entire regiments flatly refused to fight, although threatened with severe punishment by their officers. These regiments finally retired in a body.

From prisoners, especially officers, similar evidence is being obtained constantly. The officers of the 20th Dragoon Regiment of the crack 6th Cavalry Division, which had been dismounted and fought as infantry, say that the spirit of the men was broken, principally because, instead of getting a rest after their hard fighting, they had again been sent into battle. "Peace talk" is also said to be having a demoralizing effect on the morale of the men, gradually breaking down their will to resist.

HOME FRONT NOW GERMAN WEAK SPOT

Germans Are Resisting Fiercely, but Have Been Outgeneraled and Outfought.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Every day it becomes more and more evident that Germany's weakest point is in her home front. In the past we exaggerated the effects of the blockade and many fanciful stories of privations of the German people and of shortage of raw material in Germany gained credence. Later, when the conquest of Rumania and the collapse of Russia opened up new sources of supply to our chief enemy, there was a tendency to rush to the other extreme and to treat every story of hardship in Germany with suspicion. As usual, the truth lies somewhere in the middle.

The strain which our blockade imposed upon Germany has been continuous and its effects have been cumulative. If Germany was in 1916 a long way from actual starvation, her privations were very real, and in 1917 and 1918 she did not obtain sufficient relief from her conquests in the east to counteract materially the steady pressure of our command of the sea.

For the last three years Winter has been a time of horror in Germany, but horror which a well-drilled and disciplined people could endure provided they had the moral fillip of assured victory in the future to sustain them. Every Autumn until this year the German General Staff plunged and successfully brought off some great coup which enabled them to end the year's campaigning with a flourish of trumpets and to dangle victory before the eyes of the German people as a carrot is dangled before a donkey's nose. In the Autumn of 1915 it was the conquest of Serbia that was the carrot; in 1916 the defeat of Rumania, in 1917 the victory of Capporetto and the retreat of the Italian armies to the Piave.

Now, today, not only are there no victories to brighten the prospect of Winter, but the outlook has suddenly become utterly hopeless, and on every front Germany and her allies see nothing but defeat. For the first time in the war we are combining really ef-

FRENCH ADVANCE ON THREE FRONTS

Drive Ahead West of the Oise and in the Oise-Serre Region.

ALSO GAIN IN CHAMPAGNE

Foe Pushed Back Three Miles at Some Points—Much Progress West of Argonne.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—French troops today made large progress in the theatres of war from the Oise eastward to the Argonne Forest.

In the region of the Oise, the Serre, and along the Aisne in Champagne Foch's men gained ground, capturing fifteen villages in the course of the day.

Tonight's report of the War Office chronicles the successes:

To the west of the Oise the troops of the First Army resumed this morning their pressure from the forest of Andigny to the river. These valiant troops, which for more than a month have not ceased fighting the enemy, powerfully fortified, have won again today further successes. They have reconquered the village of Mannevret and the forest of Andigny, the eastern outskirts of which they hold, making at that point an advance of more than five kilometers under conditions particularly difficult.

They have reached the outskirts of Hannappes, Le Grand Verly and Noyales. They have captured, in spite of furious resistance by the enemy, the villages of Grougis, Ainsonville and Boyonville.

Further south our advance guards have continued to pursue the enemy between the Oise and the Serre. We have advanced our lines to the north of Seray-les-Lizlere, to the southern outskirts of Fontaine and to the north of Nouvion and Catillon. We have captured about ten villages and made numerous prisoners, the number of which actually counted exceeds 1,500.

On both sides of Vouziers (Champagne) our infantry has crossed the Aisne on a front of five kilometers and taken on a footing on the heights to the east. The village of Vandry and several farms organized as supporting points fell into our hands. The capture of several hundred prison ers is announced.

Further east the fighting which has been going on since yesterday has developed to our advantage. We have succeeded in making progress in the Roubaix, Big Industrial Town Near Lille, Also Occupied by Haig's Troops.

MORE GAINS IN DOUAI REGION

British Capture Villages to the Southeast—Advancing Also East of Le Cateau.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Continued allied progress is reported from the Flanders front today.

Press dispatches announce the occupation by the Allies of Zeebrugge, the only submarine base on the Belgian coast remaining to the Germans after their evacuation of Ostend, and of Blankenberghe, a port four miles to the southwest, and of Thielt, [ten miles northeast of Roulers,] taken by the French, who are said to have pushed more than a mile east of the town.

Berlin makes official admission of the evacuation of Ostead, Turcoing, Roubaix, Lille, and Douai.

Southeast of the city last named the British have taken a number of villages and crossed the Douai-Denain road.

The Germans are offering strong resistance from Bruges southward to Cambrai.

More than 4,000 prisoners were taken in yesterday's operations by Anglo-American forces on the Bohain-Le Cateau front, southeast of Cambrai, where progress continued today, the British capturing Bazuel.

Field Marshal Haig's report, issued tonight, reads as follows:

Today was marked by stubborn hostile opposition along the lines of Bruges, Oostcamp, Wynghene, Thielt, and Oostroosebeke. We succeeded, however, in overcoming the enemy's resistance eastward of Oostcamp, between Wynghene and Thielt and eastward of Oostroosebeke.

Southwest of Bruges, Belgian troops made considerable progress and crossed the Bruges-Ostend Canal at several points. Advancing northward, Belgian infantry occupied Oostcamp and reached the approaches of Bruges.

The Second British Army improved its lines south of the Lys River and crossed the Courtrai-Monsorou railway at several points.

British forces occupied Roubaix and Turcoing this afternoon.

The day statement from the British War Office says:

The prisoners reported in our operations yesterday on the front of Bohain and Le Cateau exceed 4,000. We also captured a number of guns.

Further north our advance continues on the whole front between the Sensée Canal and the Lys River.

We have crossed the canal on a wide front north of Cambrai. We are astride the Douai-Denain road, four miles southeast of Douai, and have captured a number of villages.

Northeast of Lille we are within a mile of Turcoing.

Belgians Record Progress.

HAVRE, Oct. 18.—The following Belgian official communication was issued tonight:

The main feature of the day was the vigorous resistance of the enemy on the front of Bruges, Oostcamp, Wynghene, Thielt, and Oostrosbeke. We have, nevertheless, broken that resistance east of Oostcamp, between Wynghen and Thielt, and east of Oostrosbeke.

Southwest of Bruges the Belgian Army realized an important advance. At several points it crossed the canal running from Bruges to Ostend and is progressing northward. Belgian infantry has occupied Ostend and has reached the outskirts of Bruges.

The Second British Army is also progressing south of the Lys and at several points has crossed the railway running from Courtrai to Mouscron. In the evening it occupied the towns of Roubaix and Turcoing.

Southward of the Lys the country is intact and very well cultivated, and there are very many inhabitants there. The Germans, nowever, took with them a great number of men below the age of 40.

Turcoing and Roubaix are intact.

There are 60,000 inhabitants at Turcoing and 65,000 at Roubaix. The municipal administrations have been taken over, and there is a sufficient food supply for fifteen days.

Several stations, bridges, and ammunition depots had been mined.

LONDON, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—Belgian cavalry is pursuing the retreating enemy on the Flanders front today with the object of cutting off his retreat to Ghent. The artillery is following swiftly and carrying out a vigorous bombardment with the same object.

Some of the German garrison failed to get away from Ostend. The men were handed over to the allied forces by the civilian population.

In the area between Bruges and the sea large captures of Germans are not expected, as the sector has been lightly held by the enemy.

It developed today that King Albert flew over Ostend when it was still occupied by the Germans.

The Germans are preparing to inundate the lowlands south of the River Scheldt in Eastern Belgium, a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam reports. The inhabitants have been ordered to abandon their homes immediately.

PARIS, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium entered Bruges at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Turpitz Battery at Ostend was captured, the enemy not having been able to move back the enormous quantity of materials stored there.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FLANDERS, Oct. 18, (Reuter.)—Belgian infantry forces entered the city of Bruges today.

Zeebrugge Reported in Flames.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18.—Huge fires have been seen in the direction of Brugge, reports from Flushing say. The flames are spreading.

It is also reported that Zeebrugge is partly in flames. Three conflagrations there are clearly visible in Flushing. The outbreak of the fires was accompanied by terrific explosions, suggesting that the Germans are destroying munition dumps and hangars.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS OF 5 FLANDERS CITIES

Tells of Evacuation of Ostend, Tourcoing, Roubaix, Lille, and Douai.

BERLIN, Oct. 18. (Via London.)—The Germans have evacuated Ostend, Tourcoing, Roubaix, Lille, and Douai, according to the official statement from General Headquarters, issued this afternoon.

Between Le Cateau and the Oise British, French and Americans attempted to break through. On both sides of Le Cateau, the statement says, attacks broke down.

The text of the report follows:

During the last few days we have evacuated parts of Flanders and northern France, including Tourcoing, Ostend, Roubaix, Lille and Douai. We have broken up ground fought over in the rear.

Between Bruges and the Lys yesterday the enemy frequently followed in pursuit with strong forces. We repulsed British companies which pressed in on the line of Courtrai. They were thrown back by counterattacks.

East of Lille and Douai we were only in slight fighting contact with the enemy.

Between Le Cateau and the Oise the battle has blazed up again. The British and Franco-Americans, bringing into the action powerful fighting forces, again endeavored to break through our front. On both sides of Le Cateau the enemy's attack broke down. Local breaches were cleared by counterattacks.

Between Le Cateau and Alsonville the enemy penetrated our lines at isolated points. We brought the enemy to a standstill before our artillery positions at the Le Cateau-Wassigny road, near La Vallée Mulatre and Monneyret and northeast of Alsonville. Wherever the enemy advanced beyond this line he was thrown back by our counterattacks. Alsonville and the adjacent lines to the south were held against several assaults. In the afternoon renewed attacks here broke down.

Enemy attacks against the Oise front north of Origny also were unsuccessful.

On the Aisne the enemy continued his violent attacks east of Vrizy. He was repulsed in stiff fighting. We carried out successful raids west of Grandpré and on the east bank of the Meuse.

The official communication issued this evening reads:

Between Le Cateau and the Oise renewed attempts by the enemy to break through failed.

In Flanders north of the Lys, on the Aisne on both sides of Vouziers, and west of Grandpré, violent attacks were repulsed.

BRITISH SHIPS LEAVE OSTEND

To Give Germans No Excuse for Bombardment of Town.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Vice Admiral Keyes's entry into Ostend yesterday was made in the course of operations designed to clear up the military situation between Nieuport and Ostend, which was obscure, the Admiralty announced today. The naval force withdrew when the Germans, who were not clear of the town, began shelling the warships.

The withdrawal was to save the lives of civilians and avoid further bombardment of the town by the Germans, as the shells were falling close to a crowd of excited inhabitants.

The text of the Admiralty statement reads:

Admiral Keyes reports that on the morning of Thursday the military situation between Nieuport and Ostend was obscure. It seemed uncertain whether the enemy had withdrawn from the coast. Up to then no fires had been started by him either in Middelkerke or Ostend.

A division of destroyers reconnoitred the coast, assisted by aircraft. They arrived off Ostend at 11 o'clock, at which hour one of our aircraft landed on the beach, where large crowds of the inhabitants had assembled.

I proceeded into the harbor in a whaler, and landed about 11:30 meeting with a great reception. The enemy at the time was not clear of the town and a light battery at Le Coq opened fire at the ships. Two shells, falling on the beach close to a crowd, excited the inhabitants.

A heavy battery of four guns in the direction of Zeebrugge opened fire on the destroyers, and, as it seemed possible the presence of the naval force might lead to the bombardment of Ostend or to more shells falling in the town, where they would endanger the lives of civilians, I decided to withdraw the naval force, and thus give the enemy no excuse for firing toward the town.

I therefore re-embarked, and the destroyers withdrew, being heavily shelled, to just east of Middelkerke. Four motor launches were left at Ostend as an inshore patrol, the inhabitants being nervous of the Germans returning.

The King and Queen of the Belgians expressed the wish to visit Ostend, either from the sea or the air. In view of the difficulty of landing and the uncertainty of the situation, they proceeded in the destroyer Termagant, flying the Belgian flag at the main, to the vicinity of Ostend.

The senior officer of the British motor launch patrol off Ostend, which had been reinforced by French motor launches, reported that all had been quiet for some hours.

Their Majesties therefore landed and proceeded to the Hotel de Ville. They were received everywhere with indescribable enthusiasm. They returned to Dunkirk about 10 o'clock at night.

The British naval forces suffered no damage and no casualties.

GERMANS DIGGING NEW LINE.

"Wotan III." to Run from Antwerp Through Namur to Sedan.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—A new German line of defense from Antwerp through Namur to Sedan, which probably will receive the name of the Wotan III. line, is understood to be in the course of construction. On this side of the line the Germans do not appear to have any defenses of real importance.

It is thought likely that the main bulk of the German armies, or rather what is left of the main bulk, in this section of the front is on its way to the Wotan III. line, though it is quite possible it may try to make a stand somewhere on this side of those positions.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FLANDERS, Oct. 18, (Havas.)—In their plans for a retirement from Belgium the Germans had prepared three successive lines upon each one of which they intended to halt and reform. According to captured German officers, the first two lines already have been broken by the allied advance, and the third one will be reached in a few days.

LILLE WILD WITH JOY AS FIRST FRENCH ENTER

Crowds Cheer Frantically When Told of Allied Victories and Wilson's Note.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—"I have just witnessed the most touching spectacle of my life. The whole city, in a delirium of joy, was ready to throw itself upon us, the first to enter Lille," telegraphs the war correspondent of the Petit Journal from that city.

"Tonight, at 9 o'clock, near Armentières, an officer shouted to us: 'Lille is taken!' We speeded our auto on to the end of victory. Two miles from Lille two young girls ran out in front of our auto, crying amid sobs of joy: 'They have gone! They have gone! Vivent les Anglais! Vive la France!'

"We went a little further, and then a huge shell hole obliged us to abandon our machine and proceed on foot. Two more girls who had run out of the city to meet their deliverers the sooner, cried, while tears streamed down their cheeks, 'They won't come!'

"A hack appeared, and we got in, but a crowd, every member of which was weeping, seized us. One man climbed on our shoulders. Another shouted to us: 'My name is Cuiselin. I am City Counselor. The Germans offered me a million to betray my country. The cowards, the cowards!' and then he burst into sobbing.

"Carried by the crowd, we arrived at the City Hall. Deputy Mayor Baudon stood at the door. When we entered every one rushed to embrace us. An old man, with white hair, stood with a violin at the top of the grand staircase and played the Marseillaise. Outside the crowd seethed like a sea. We were the first messengers from the motherland.

"'Speak, speak to us!' they cried. We opened the windows and told of our victory. A shout went up that filled the city. We told of the Bulgarian capitulation. Again the cheers rang out. We told of the Turkish promise to quit the war, and again the crowd cheered. Then we told them that President Wilson had refused to grant an armistice and demanded Emperor William's head. The crowd in a frenzy, tossed everything it could lay hands on into the air.

"At the prefecture the Acting Prefect, M. Regnier, embraced us, and there was a fresh outburst of cheering from the crowd. It was for Mayor Delsalle and for his son, a French officer of the Legion of Honor and wearing the War Cross. This officer, an aviator, heard at 11 o'clock that the city had been freed. He leaped into his machine, flew quickly to Lille, and landed in the Place du Théâtre. Alighting, he rushed home to his father.

"His was the first French uniform the liberated citizens had seen, and the sight of it increased their delirium of joy.

"There remain 120,000 inhabitants in Lille. The Germans had carried off all the male population more than 14 years of age. The city is not greatly damaged, and the public buildings are intact."

HAIG SWEEPS ON IN DOUAI REGION

British and American Troops Also Go Forward in the La Cateau Area.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—Once more the Germans have been forced out of wide strips of land all the way from the North Sea to the region east of St. Quentin in France.

The greatest allied gains of today seem to have been made east of Douai, where the British have sliced off a substantial corner on the east of the disappearing Lille salient. The last reports received from that front indicate that the British on their forward rush have reached positions close to the junction of the Sensée River and the Scheldt Canal, north of Cambrai, the Scheldt Canal, north of Cambrai.

East of Le Cateau and the Selle River the British and Americans continue attacking. They fought all day today against stubborn resistance, which in all cases was overcome.

The British are driving east astride the Le Cateau-Catillon road, and have taken Bazeuel, 3,000 yards east of Le Cateau, by assault.

The Germans are fighting with the greatest desperation here and along the battlefront southward to protect the retreat that is going on northward. The British are approaching Wassigny, south of Le Cateau, and an additional large section of the west bank of the Oise Canal undoubtedly soon will be in allied hands.

FOCH'S TRIBUTE TO HAIG.

Said British Break Through Hindenburg Line Forced Peace Offer.

LONDON, Oct. 18, (via Montreal.)—Marshal Foch a few days ago personally told Field Marshal Haig that it was the British break through the Hindenburg line that brought about the German peace offer, the London correspondent of The Manchester Guardian says he learns indirectly but in a most unquestionable way.

BEST DAY FOR OUR AIRMEN.

Eight Towns Are Bombed and Ten Enemy Machines Downed.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 18, 8 P. M., (Associated Press.)—American bombing aviators today attacked Bayonville, Buzancy, Remonville, Briquetay, Verpel, Cory-Le-Grand, Allicreville, and Imecourt, each town being a German supply point or an army unit headquarters. They downed ten German machines.

Simultaneously with the bombing expedition two squadrons with small bombs and machine guns attacked German infantry along the roadways leading to Landreville and Landrestet-St. Georges.

The day is considered the most successful in the history of American military aviation.

The Times Special Cable Dispatches from the American Front

OUR MEN SPRING SURPRISE

the day's aerial activity was the work of our bombing planes this afternoon. They went over, an armada of 140 planes, 80 in one lot and 60 in another. They filled the air with a great whirring cloud. Shortly after they passed the front line violent and large explosions occurred at Clery Le Grande, Aincreville, and other places.

Our losses were slight.

The giving way of the enemy in his withdrawal of four kilometers at the centre of our front has a large significance, giving us a great wedge into the Kriemhilde position. It should be remembered that only yesterday the Germans in these positions were ordered to hold at all costs.

The whole German line from the sea to the Meuse pivots on the sector where the best that the German command has is being thrown against the First American Army to save the Germans' all-important lines of communication. While least sensational in its accomplishment, the task assigned to Pershing's men may be called the most important on the whole front. The Germans are paying a tremendous price to hold as well as they have. We are able to pay a bigger price to put him back. It is a tough job, but we are winning slowly, nevertheless surely.

Signs of German Shakiness.

Oct. 17.—There were evidences late today that the Germans were withdrawing their main forces from the region of Landres et St. Georges, the centre of the sector of the First American Army, leaving behind a screen of machine-gun nests. Our patrols, advancing toward night into the buis de Bantheville, did not come into contact with the enemy.

As yet it is too early to make any prediction as to just what this means. Suffice it to say that where our troops met the fiercest kind of resistance at the lower edge of the Bois de Bantheville yesterday there was none today.

Fresh German documents falling into our hands continue to urge upon the German troops the necessity of holding at all costs the front before the Americans.

The Germans have been hastily constructing a semblance of a defense line running, on the average, four kilometers back of the present line, and have yet another hurriedly prepared position running through Buzancy. We do not know now what the enemy's plans are. We know that it has cost him terribly in the last two weeks to hold on to the Kriemhilde positions east of the Argonne. The effect of the American artillery fire, which was incessantly heavy, is said to have been terrific.

The Germans have made every effort to hold us back, and against their sturdy opposition we have been able to move but slowly. It should not yet be said that the evidences of their retirement mean certainly that they have given up holding the present line, following the success of the Americans yesterday in capturing the Côte de Chantillon, the key position of the Kriemhilde Stellung east of the Argonne and our taking of Grand Pré.

The Americans in this sector have occupied themselves consolidating and mopping up the positions won yesterday. The Germans have kept up a harassing artillery fire, including shells from one 380 millimeter gun. I heard five of these shells drop today. Three were "duds."

The Germans are using a great deal of gas against our troops. The wet weather makes mustard gas especially disagreeable these days, because not only does the heavy atmosphere cause it to stick to the hollows where the shells are thrown, but the mustard gas burns through wet clothes much more easily than through dry.

Although heavy fighting has, of course, inflicted its casualties on the First American Army, the ordinary health of the Americans is excellent in view of the long continued cold weather.

All prisoners are full of the subject of peace. They are sure the war is about to end. Strange as it may seem, they appear anxious to fight hard now, because only a few more days are left, they say. They are absorbed in the purpose of stopping the war before the allied soldiers get onto German soil.

A wireless report spread along the front today that the Kaiser had abdicated, but no confirmation of this report from Dutch sources has been received so far.

Peace and German Morale.

During the last two days I have made an effort to learn the effect of the peace discussion upon the German Army from captured documents and letters. In any statement this effect is hard to deal with in generalities, because in nearly every case the matter of individual conclusion of Germans, which of course reflects every shade of opinion, differs.

But there is one result of the peace discussion. That is that the morale of the German fighting man has been sustained in that he feels happy because he believes he has only a few more days to go. Therefore should peace not come right away, this improvement may be only temporary.

If one tries to understand the feeling in the ranks of the German Army, one must realize that every German soldier is kept informed of the progress of negotiations. Copies of the German notes and President Wilson's replies are posted at all German headquarters, and the German soldiers are as well, or better, informed than the American soldiers upon the situation as their superiors see it.

Practically all the German soldiers believe the war is certain to end very soon and look upon the cessation of hostilities as being just ahead. Army orders from Grand Headquarters and exhortations from officers in immediate command to their fighting units urge the soldiers to fight their best now. A tremendous effort is being made to prevent the peace discussion from injuring the fighting qualities of the German troops, and so far as the American front is concerned, it has been successfully done.

The Germans have been told that to quit now would not make peace. This appears varied ofttimes with the plea that to fight best in the last round would keep the French, American, and British armies off the sacred soil of Germany. This makes a strong appeal to the German fighters, who, bearing in mind what they have done in French occupied territory, have a horror of the allied soldiers getting on to the soil of the Fatherland.

Other appeals to fight harder now contain the argument that while the war is about to end, Germany will get better terms if she finishes strong than if she finishes weak. Virtually all these appeals are predicated upon war ending at once. That idea permeates the brain of all German soldiers. Therefore should the war not end soon the German command might face a serious situation in regard to the army's morale.

Already the German commanders seem to be feeling about for reasons to give to explain the situation should peace not come in a few weeks. This morning I saw a document distributed two days ago to a German regiment in front of American troops, which informed them that France, America, and Italy wanted peace.

The interesting sidelight on what the Germans have hoped to attain through an armistice is disclosed in a leaflet circulated among German soldiers telling them that when Germany withdrew her troops from France and Belgium, America and England would, of course, withdraw their troops from France, and that, therefore, the withdrawal of the Kaiser's troops to the German border carried with it no danger to the sacred soil of the Fatherland.

With regard to President Wilson's statement that a change must come in the Government of Germany, it is interesting to note that while the German soldiers are bitter because of the failure of their world war and bitter against those responsible, at the same time many of them do not feel bitter toward Wilhelm, but characterize him as a good fellow and rather a victim of the Junkers.

These few impressions are set forth, not as showing that any crisis is necessarily imminent in the ranks of the German Army, but as indicating that peace is ardently desired by the German Army; that peace discussions are foremost in their minds and hopes, and showing what effect the failure of peace negotiations may have upon the Kaiser's army, hitherto and now fighting well under good control of the German high command.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 18.—One American division which has been in the line more days than any other is the 42d, or Rainbow Division, one of the infantry regiments of which is the 165th, the old 69th New York. This crack division fought on the Marne, fought in the St. Mihiel battle, and has been in the thick of the fighting between the Argonne and the Meuse, holding the centre of the sector of the First American Army in the vicinity of Landres-et-St. Georges, a high key position to the Kriemhilde stellung north of Verdun. As usual, the division has given an excellent account of itself. Incidentally it is occupying now the 24th Divisional Headquarters that it has had since coming to France.

The biggest thing the Rainbow has done in this sector was the accomplishment of one of the most difficult jobs assigned to any American division—the taking of Hill 288 at the northern end of the Bois Romagne, near Landres et St. Georges. Generally in warfare the name of some city or town goes down in history as marking a great fight. But in fact more often there is some isolated point which represents far more in effort and importance than the name of some town.

Bitter Battle for Hill 288.

For instance, America is thrilled at mention of the name of Château-Thierry. Yet the actual capture of that town was not one-hundredth part so difficult as the taking of unnamed hills north of the Ourcq. The taking of many villages by the Americans in this sector has given names to fights nothing like so sanguinary as the conflict for possession of a bald top hill, which for lack of another name is called 288, because that is how many meters high it happens to be.

When the 42d Division was ordered to take this hill it started against it frontally. To make that part of the story short, it did not get the hill; it did not even get to the hill. But it did find out that in the woods stretching all around its sides the Germans had line after line of barbed wire, trench after trench, hundreds of machine guns, and in the scrubble on the crest some 77s with gunners who knew how to shoot them pointblank.

I pass over the next four vain attempts to take that hill and come to one rainy morning just before light, when the 166th Regiment from Iowa, with a New York regiment on the right, started out on the sixth trial. Our seventy-fives started dropping shells on top of the hill with a line range, while the New York lads over to the east used machine guns and snipers to keep the foe at least partly occupied.

Surrounded by Iowans.

While this was going on the Iowa troops were filtering through the woods surrounding the hill until they had surrounded it. This was completed just as daylight came, bringing a cold rain from a leaden sky. With water dripping from their tin hats, but keeping their powder dry, the men of the 166th started up that hill from all sides.

Let us tell it here that on the hill were 1,800 Germans of a guard division, more than 230 machine guns, and two seventy-sevens. The Iowa boys had not started before they struck wire and back wire and Germans in trenches with rifles and machine guns.

No one wishes to talk to those Iowans about poor German morale. As they cut through the wire the Germans went at them with bayonets, while others sent snipers and machine gun bullets. On the slippery hillside with the Germans upstairs took place hundreds of hand-to-hand fights. Our boys got the machine guns into play, and they tell me that machine gun duels took place at twenty yards and less.

Five lines of wire had to be cut. It cost Americans to go through each one, and it cost Germans to try to hold each line. Our lads being well up the hill by this time, our artillery was called off. There was no German artillery, and the fight went on hand-to-hand for the most part.

Many lads who did the bravest of fighting did not come back to tell of it. But those who came back tell of a Sergeant who, when his Lieutenant was shot down, led on platoons, and of one platoon which did not even have a Corporal to lead it and was led on by a private, who assumed command until he was killed in a fight with a German Captain who, a moment later, was killed by the bunkie of the dead American.

German Guns Killed Germans.

All the two seventy-sevens were pumping shells into the Americans, but just as often they were hitting Germans, until the gunners quit.

The fighting kept up six hours until the Americans got through the last wire, past the last trench, and there on the tortured top of that hill they took 107 Germans. The rest of 1,800 had been killed or wounded. Our losses were considerable, something more than half of the German losses—but we got the hill and they lost it.

The General commanding the 42d tells me that it was the toughest job and the pluckiest bit of fighting that any part of the division had done.

I speak of Iowa, New York, and Alabama boys, and so on, but here it should be stated that the workings of the war machine are fast obliterating that identity. Replacements are sent into these old regiments regardless of the State of their nativity. From these seasoned regiments many men are promoted and sent to command platoons in raw regiments. Some are sent back home to train troops, and then there is the inevitable war toll of killed and wounded. I may illustrate what I mean by saying that of more than 3,000 men who came to France as the 165th Regiment, there are now something like 800 of the original personnel, but the new men borrow the spirit of the old ones, and the regiments will fight at the drop of the hat if any one suggests it.

Father Duffy's Popularity.

And the new boys as much as the old in the former 69th, the Irish regiment from the Empire State, love and respect their chaplain, Father Duffy, whom all New York knows. His care of his boys has endeared him to them all beyond power of words to tell. His bravery under fire in the rescue of wounded, his tender care of the dead and his solicitation for their decent burial can never be forgotten. They love to tell how when he finds a dead lad, if no burial squad is convenient, he will take pick and shovel—he has his own—and, under fire, if need be, put the body in its last resting place.

Yesterday I ran across Peter J. Hundt of 480 East 183d Street, New York, who wanted to say a good word about Father Duffy. "He's a regular guy," was the way he put it. Timothy E. Nolan, hailing from 2,126 Arthur Avenue, the Bronx, said his admiration was no less.

John Mether of 383 East 134th Street was one of the few men of his platoon who came back from the Hill 288 fight. Asked to tell about the fight, he said that all he knew was that he got caught in a barrage, and that all he saw was men being thrown in all directions and up in the air, and that he got out.

Attached to the 42d is an engineer unit, among the members of which is William E. Luck of Charleston, S. C. Luck was a member of a platoon assigned to help the doughboys get through the wire near St. Georges. Of the entire platoon which started for the wire he is the only man who got there and back. The doughboys tell me that he was the first man to reach the wire of the Kriemhilde Stellung on that sector, and that his nippers made a path through a twenty-foot-wide stretch of barbed wire. Then he took a rifle from a dead American and fought with the troops.

GERMAN SNIPER KILLS AMERICAN CHAPLAIN

Fires on Clergyman Burying Enemy Dead—Many Infernal Machines Are Found.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 18.—An American chaplain has been killed by a German sniper near Grand Pré while directing a squad burying German dead.

A German ammunition dump near Châtel Chahery blew up yesterday afternoon, supposedly from a time bomb device. This place was captured by the Americans a week ago.

A large number of German infernal machines have been found which the enemy troops left behind them. Most of them have been destroyed without damage to us. The most ingenious of which we have heard was a mine set in a large dugout to be exploded by a thermometer attachment. The Germans naturally supposed that in a region where all the houses were destroyed the Americans would use such a dugout as a shelter, and arranged an infernal machine so that it would explode when a certain temperature was reached, or, in other words, when the wet and cold Americans built a fire in the dugout.

Under strictest orders no Americans may occupy a dugout until engineers have examined it. These engineers found the thermometer detonator under a cot. Under the opposite side of the floor ten large shells primed to go off were dug up. This sort of warfare makes the Americans feel that, regardless of the diplomatic situation, they would like to give the enemy a few more blows for the sake of the meanness of his soul.

PERSHING REPORTS CAPTURES.

1,000 More Prisoners Taken by Our Men West of the Meuse.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Capture by the Americans of 1,000 additional prisoners in the fighting west of the Meuse was reported in General Pershing's communiqué for yesterday, received today at the War Department. There was severe fighting on the entire front of General Liggett's First Army. The statement follows:

"Section A—Severe fighting has continued on the entire front of the First Army. We have broken up counterattacks in the Bois de la Grande Montagne and in the vicinity of Champigneulle and the Bois de Solges. Our troops have taken and passed beyond Grand Pré and have improved their positions throughout the line. One thousand additional prisoners have been taken."

TROOPSHIP FIGHTS U-BOAT TWO HOURS

Attacked on Home-Bound Trip, She Reaches Port with Eight Men Wounded.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 18.—The homeward-bound army transport Amphion had a two hours' running fight with a German submarine 800 miles off the Atlantic coast Saturday morning, in which eight men on the American ship were wounded, two fatally.

The transport arrived here today and reported that, so far as those aboard could determine, the submarine was not badly damaged, if at all.

The first shots carried away the Amphion's wireless and she was unable to call for help. The naval gun crews replied to the enemy shots and the transport crowded on all steam, finally drawing away from the submarine. The transport's superstructure was riddled with shells and shrapnel.

After running away from the submarine the Amphion put into an island port where the more seriously wounded were landed. On her arrival here the transport went to a shipyard for repairs.

The names of the wounded men were not given out here. Most of them were said to have been members of the gun crews.

The Amphion formerly was the North-German Lloyd liner Koln and is of 7,409 gross tons and has a speed of 12½ knots an hour. She was seized at Boston when this country entered the war, and after being repaired by the Shipping Board was turned over to the army as a transport.

wooded region between Olizy and Grand Pre.

The day official bulletin reads:

the right bank of the Oise the enemy confined his reactions to artillery fire. Between the Oise and the Serre French pressure, continued during the last few days, has obliged the enemy to begin a new withdrawal. Debouching from Achery and Choigny toward the end of the night, the French troops pursued the German rear guards and occupied Anguilcourt.

West of Grand Pré the battle continues with extreme stubbornness, and was extended this morning as far as the heights of Vouziers. The French have crossed the Aisne in this region.

fective military pressure with relentless naval pressure, which is slower and less showy in its effects than the victories of our armies on land. It has none the less been certain and terrible in this war of nations.

Our real objective is to overcome what the Germans would call the will of the enemy people to continue the struggle. We are obviously not very far from that objective, and the navy has had a big share in placing us so near to it. Asquith's recent tribute to the sleepless vigilance and persevering activity of the navy that has drained away drop by drop the enemy's reservoir of power is one which every thinking soldier will indorse, and it is particularly opportune just now, when there is a tendency to account for the present condition of Germany by describing the situation of her armies in the west as extraordinarily perilous.

It is quite certain that our recent victories in the west have been the chief means of bringing Germany to her present frame of mind, and that we could have done this in no other way, but it is equally certain that they alone do not account for all. I am confident that our men who are today fighting the Germans on the Selle and the Americans who are fighting the Germans on the Meuse would not describe the enemy opposed to them as a broken and dispirited foe incapable of effective resistance.

There is a very general idea abroad that ever since the second battle of the Marne the Germans have been running away, but this is quite contrary to the fact, and is very unfair to our men. The Germans have been defeated in a whole series of fierce battles, in all of which they fought well, but in all they have been outgeneraled and outfought. In intervals between these battles the enemy has had in consequence of his defeat to carry out considerable retreats, such, for example, as the withdrawal from the Chemin des Dames and in the Gobain Forest, but if in such cases the ground has been easily regained it has been regained as a consequence of desperately hard fighting elsewhere.

The enemy is still some way from complete military defeat, but it is very probable that our military pressure, combined with other pressure, has been sufficient to break his home front until the probability has become a certainty. It is our plain duty to allow no relaxation in our efforts.

CZECHS RENOUNCE HAPSBURGS' RULE

Declaration of Independence by National Council Is Presented to Wilson.

FRAMEWORK OF A REPUBLIC

Principles of American Democracy Adopted as Foundation of the New State.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Political action of far-reaching importance in relation to the situation in Austria-Hungary and the future of the Central Powers was taken today when the Provisional Government of the new Czechoslovak nation declared its independence of Austria-Hungary.

Professor Thomas G. Masaryk, who has been serving as President of the Czechoslovak National Council, today presented to the State Department at Washington and dispatched to the Entente Governments the text of the declaration of independence in the form in which it was adopted at Paris by the Provisional Government.

The declaration reads:

"Declaration of independence of the Czechoslovak nation by its Provisional Government.

"At this grave moment, when the Hohenzollerns are offering peace in order to stop the victorious advance of the allied armies and to prevent the dismemberment of Austria-Hungary and Turkey, and when the Hapsburgs are promising the federalization of the empire and autonomy to the dissatisfied nationalities committed to their rule, we, the Czechoslovak National Council, recognized by the allied and American Governments as the Provisional Government of the Czechoslovak State and nation, in complete accord with the declaration of the Czech Deputies made in Prague on Jan. 6, 1918, and realizing that federalization, and, still more, autonomy mean nothing under a Hapsburg dynasty, do hereby make and declare this our Declaration of Independence.

"We do this because of our belief that no people should be forced to live under a sovereignty which they do not recognize, and because of our knowledge and firm conviction that our nation cannot freely develop in a Hapsburg mock-federation, which is only a new form of the denationalizing oppression under which we have suffered for the last 300 years. We consider freedom to be the first prerequisite for federalization, and believe that the free nations of Central and Eastern Europe may easily federate should they find it necessary.

Appeal to Historic Rights.

"We make this declaration on the basis of our historic and natural right. We have been an independent State since the seventh century; and, in 1526, as an independent State, consisting of Bohemia, Moravia, and Silesia, we joined with Austria and Hungary in a defensive union against the Turkish danger.

"We have never voluntarily surrendered our rights as an independent State in this confederation. The Hapsburgs broke their compact with our nation by illegally transgressing our rights and violating the Constitution of our State, which they had pledged themselves to uphold, and we therefore refuse longer to remain a part of Austria-Hungary in any form.

"We claim the right of Bohemia to be reunited with her Slovak brethren of Slovakia, once part of our national State, later torn from our national body, and fifty years ago incorporated in the Hungarian State of the Magyars, who, by their unspeakable violence and ruthless oppression of their subject races, have lost all moral and human right to rule anybody but themselves.

"The world knows the history of our struggle against the Hapsburg oppression, intensified and systematized by the Austro-Hungarian dualistic compromise of 1867. This dualism is only a shameless organization of brute force and exploitation of the majority by the minority; it is a political conspiracy of the Germans and Magyars against our own as well as the other Slav and the Latin nations of the monarchy.

"The world knows the history of our claims, which the Hapsburgs themselves dared not deny. Francis Joseph, in the most solemn manner, repeatedly recognized the sovereign rights of our nation. The Germans and Magyars opposed this recognition, and Austria-Hungary, bowing before the Pan Germans, became a colony of Germany, and, as her vanguard to the East, provoked the last Balkan conflict, as well as the present world war, which was begun by the Hapsburgs alone without the consent of the representatives of the people.

Teuton Dynasties Denounced.

"We cannot and will not continue to live under the direct or indirect rule of the violators of Belgium, France, and Serbia, the would-be murderers of Russia and Rumania, the murderers of tens of thousands of civilians and soldiers of our blood, and the accomplices in numberless unspeakable crimes committed in this war against humanity by the two degenerate and irresponsible dynasties.

"We will not remain a part of a State which has no justification for existence, and which, refusing to accept the fundamental principles of modern world-organization, remains only an artificial and immoral political structure, hindering every movement toward democratic and social progress. The Hapsburg dynasty, weighed down by a huge inheritance of error and crime, is a perpetual menace to the peace of the world, and we deem it our duty toward humanity and civilization to aid in bringing about its downfall and destruction.

"We reject the sacrilegious assertion that the power of the Hapsburg and Hohenzollern dynasties is of divine origin; we refuse to recognize the divine rights of kings. Our nation elected the Hapsburgs to the throne of Bohemia of its own free will, and by the same right deposes them. We hereby declare the Hapsburg dynasty unworthy of leading our nation, and deny all of their claims to rule in the Czechoslovak land, which we here and now declare shall henceforth be a free and independent people and nation.

"We accept and shall advhere to the ideals of modern democracy, as they have been the ideals of our nation for centuries. We accept the American principles as laid down by President Wilson: The principles of liberated mankind, of the actual equality of nations, and of governments deriving all their just power from the consent of the governed. We, the nation of Comenius, cannot but accept these principles expressed in the American Declaration of Independence, the principles of Lincoln, and of the declaration of the rights of man and of the citizens. For these principles our nation shed its blood in the memorable Hussite wars 500 years ago; for these same principles, beside her allies, our nation is shedding its blood today in Russia, Italy, and France.

Frame of New Constitution.

"We shall outline only the main principles of the Constitution of the Czechoslovak nation. The final decision as to the Constitution itself falls to the legally chosen representatives of the liberated and united people.

"The Czechoslovak nation shall be a republic. In constant endeavor for progress, it shall guarantee complete freedom of conscience, religion, and science, literature and art, speech, the press, and the right of assembly and petition. The Church shall be separated from the State. Our democracy shall rest on universal suffrage. Women shall be placed on an equal footing with men, politically, socially, and culturally. The rights of the minority shall be safeguarded by proportional representation. National minorities shall enjoy equal rights. The government shall be parliamentary in form and shall recognize the principles of the initiative and referendum. The standing army shall be replaced by militia.

"The Czechoslovak nation will carry out far-reaching social and economic reforms. The large estates will be redeemed for home colonization. Patents of nobility will be abolished. Our nation will assume its part of the Austro-Hungarian pre-war public debt. The debts for that war we leave to those who incurred them.

"In its foreign policy the Czechoslovak nation will accept its full share of responsibility in the reorganization of Eastern Europe. It accepts fully the democratic and social principle of nationality and subscribes to the doctrine that all covenants and treaties shall be entered into openly and frankly without secret diplomacy.

"Our Constitution shall provide an efficient, rational, and just Government, which shall exclude all special privileges and prohibit class legislation.

"Democracy has defeated theocratic autocracy. Militarism is overcome—democracy is victorious—on the basis of democracy mankind will be reorganized. The forces of darkness have served the victory of light—the longed-for age of humanity is dawning.

"We believe in democracy—we believe in liberty—and liberty evermore.

TELLS OF CATTARO REVOLT.

"Down with Regime of Terror!" Exclaims Deputy in Reichsrat.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ZURICH, Oct. 17.—The Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung publishes a heavily censored report of the sitting of the Austrian Parliament on Oct. 11, when Deputy Schacherl asked questions about the naval events at Cattaro, and gave the following details:

More than 380 soldiers are in prison for taking part in the so-called revolt against the military authorities. The trial took place in February, a number of the soldiers were shot and others condemned to hard labor. The Deputy charged the military authorities with useless brutality, for the soldiers declared that they had struggled against the enemies of Austria and that the revolt took place as a protest against their bad treatment.

The question was accompanied by cries and noisy demonstrations by Slav and Socialist Deputies. The orator concluded by exclaiming:

"Down with the régime of terror and these barbarous and senseless measures."

MAGYARS HERE ELATED.

Separation Movement Due to Wilson, Says Their Organ.

With reference to the Hungarian separation from Austria, the Magyar Munkaslap, over the signature of Ernest L. Mandel, its editor, will say:

"The Hungarians of America will learn with sublime exaltation that the centuries' old dream of their fatherland has come true, that Hungary has proclaimed her independence and complete separation from Austria. They will learn with reverent joy that on Oct. 17, in her declaration of independence, Hungary, through the leaders in Parliament, stated that Hungary feels herself to be in accord with the noble principles of President Wilson's address; that general electoral suffrage has been proclaimed, and that the relations between the various nationalities of the kingdom will be governed by the principles enunciated by President Wilson."

hostilities began and that there were "numberless occasions" when peace might have been concluded.

"When we knew that Germany would not give in and that the whole world had arisen against the policy of Germany, which had become hateful to all nations," he continued, "we might have made peace. Our fidelity to the alliance has limits."

Count Karolyi was ruthless in his criticism of submarine warfare and said that the main mistake of the Central Powers was in underestimating America. He closed by expressing a desire for the creation of an autonomous Hungary and the abolition of the common institution of the monarchy.

Premier Wekerle, in replying, defended the conduct of the Government and said that it had created in Germany a sentiment favorable to peace.

CHARLES PROMISES A FEDERAL AUSTRIA

Manifesto Forecasts Autonomy for Each Nationality in the Empire.

VIENNA, Oct. 18, (via Basle.)—Steps for the organization of Austria on a federalized basis were proclaimed by Emperor Charles today. The plan does not include the union of Austrian Poland with "the independent Polish State," the Emperor declared. The City of Trieste and the Trieste region will be treated separately, "in conformity with the desire of its population."

The manifesto is addressed "to my faithful Austrian peoples." It reads.

"Since I have ascended the throne I have tried to make it my duty to assure to all my peoples the peace so ardently desired and to point the way to the Austrian peoples of a prosperous development unhampered by obstacles which brutal force creates against intellectual and economic prosperity.

"The terrible struggles in the world war have thus far made the work of peace impossible. The heavy sacrifices of the war should assure to us an honorable peace, on the threshold of which, by the help of God, we are today.

"We must, therefore, undertake without delay the reorganization of our country on a natural, and, therefore, solid basis. Such a question demands that the desires of the Austrian peoples be harmonized and realized.

"I am decided to accomplish this work with the free collaboration of my peoples in the spirit and principles which our allied monarchs have adopted in their offer of peace.

"Austria must become, in conformity with the will of its people, a confederate State in which each nationality shall form on the territory which it occupies its own local autonomy.

"This does not mean that we are already envisaging the union of the Polish territories of Austria with the independent Polish State.

"The City of Trieste with all its surroundings shall, in conformity with the desire of its population, be treated separately."

Emperor Charles addressed the Austrian land and sea forces at the same time he issued his message to the people. In his order to the sailors and soldiers, the Emperor expressed "firm confidence that the concord which has existed in the army and the navy until now will exist for the future for the well-being of the new confederated Austria."

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The version of the manifesto of Emperor Charles as received here contains this concerning reconstruction of the Fatherland:

"This Reconstruction, which in no way affects the integrity of the countries under the holy crown of Hungary, will guarantee the independence of each individual national state. It will, however, also effectively protect common interests and will bring them to bear wherever community is a condition of vital importance for individual states.

"A union of all our forces will be especially necessary for a just and rightful solution of the great tasks resulting from the reaction of the war. Until legislation for the reconstruction is completed, existing institutions will remain in force unaltered. In order to safeguard the general interest of the country the Government is charged to prepare everything for the reconstruction of Austria.

The manifest appeals to the people to "co-operate in the great task with the national councils formed from the ranks of Reichsrat Deputies of each nationality, whose task it will be to assist the interests of the people to each other and toward my Government.

REPLY MAY COME TODAY

cept much, but not the giving up of Metz and the Rhine bridgeheads.

Hoping for Wilson Concessions.

Germany thinks that she will get much more favorable terms by negotiating with Wilson than with the Allies alone, and so will endeavor not to allow the exhcange of notes to drop. It should not be forgotten that clever as the Teuton may be his psychology has always been his weak point, as he showed by bringing America into the war.

Ludendorff, who had not had a holiday since the beginning of the war, had a serious breakdown after the Allies' July offensive. During this time the appeal for an armistice was decided on, to his uncontained anger.

The Pan Germans are holding manifestations and making speeches. Dietrich Schafer said that Germany's land and honor must not be touched and that the Germans would be true to Hindenburg. Wilson's note meant, he added, that "we are to be destroyed." There have also been fresh manifestations in front of the Iron Hindenburg.

Reichstag Again Put Off.

In spite of the fact that the nation is confronted by such grave decisions, the Reichstag is not to meet this week, as had been decided.

There is considerable anger over Wilson's accusations regarding barbarities, but never in any German paper has there been any note of regret about these, and THE NEW YORK TIMES corresponddent can state that even broad-minded Germans fail to realize that they have behaved differently from other peoples, either as a nation or individually. "For every Fryatt or Nurse Cavell case we have a similar one. Look at the Baralong case. Both nations have committed the same crimes on the battlefield and elsewhere, and what does Wilson really want?" saida German recently.

It is evident that not before the Germans are thoroughly beaten and their army broken will they think for themselves and see their dastardly deeds from the world's viewpoint.

LONG CONFERENCES IN BERLIN.

Reichstag Parties Divided Over the Reply to Wilson.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—From Switzerland, now a centre for information and rumors on the peace situation in Germany, reports come of prolonged conferences in Berlin on the subject of the reply. There were conferences all of Thursday, a Basle dispatch states, and, in addition, the military chiefs held a session at the War Ministry lasting five hours.

According to the Frankfurter Zeitung, the official text of President Wilson's note has not yet reached Berlin. It is expected momentarily.

A Berne dispatch says:

"President Wilson's reply to the German note has created a new state of affairs in diplomatic discussions relative to peace, it is reported here from German sources, and the German reply, it is said, will make it clearly understood that the tone employed by the President was open to objections.

"There have been passionate discussions of the President's reply at meetings of all the groups of the Reichstag, but no line of policy has been determined, although there have been prolonged deliberations on the subject.

"The presence of Field Marshal von Hindenburg in Berlin is believed to foreshadow the drafting of the German reply to Mr. Wilson. Under the circumstances, it was uncertain whether the Reichstag would meet on Friday. In any case, there will be no plenary meeting of the German Parliament before the reply is forwarded. Then there will be a full dress debate, in which the Socialists, notably Friedrich Ebert, Vice President of the Social Democratic Party, and Gustav Noske, Socialist member of the Reichstag, will take part."

Rumors reach Zurich, a Havas dispatch from that city says, that there have been outbreaks among the soldiers at the front. Abusive placards concerning the Emperor, the Crown Prince, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, and General Ludendorff have been posted in various railroad stations in Germany.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that a demonstration by the German Independent Socialists in Unter-den-Linden, Berlin, today was reported by the Cologne Volkszeitung. The crowd sang the "Marseillaise."

WASHINGTON EXPECTS REPLY TO FALL SHORT

On Guard Against Apparent Acceptance That May Be Deceptive to Allies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Germany's reply to President Wilson's note of Oct. 14, whenever made, is not expected to meet fully the conditions precedent to peace and an armistice as insisted upon in the President's decision against dealing with the autocratic power that has spoken in the past for the German nation.

The confident expectation in Washington is that the German answer will be drafted so as to look like an acceptance, but the Hohenzollerns are not regarded as being yet ready to make the necessary surrender of autocratic power and military masters, of Germany are not thought to be willing to give guarantees such as Marshal Foch and Generals Haig, Pershing, Petain and Diaz will require before assenting to an armistice.

The ruling powers in Germany are believed to be making a desperate effort to find some way of meeting the demands of President Wilson short of absolute surrender. The real situation in Germany is not being disclosed. The border has again been closed against the exit of real information. What little news comes through is interpreted as indicating that the military and political leaders in Berlin have not been able to reach an agreement on the form the reply to be sent to President Wilson.

The Reichstag, it appears, is not going to have any real voice as to the form of the reply. It will be framed to suit the views of the Kaiser and the military leaders and their new figurehead in the Imperial Chancellorship, Prince Maximilian of Baden. The reply would probably be a very sharp document were it not considered better policy to camouflage the real German attitude in endeavoring to win President Wilson, through alleged acceptance of his peace terms, over to the discussion of a "peace by understanding."

Official Washington is not allowing itself for one moment to be misled by hints of constitutional or other "reforms" circulated from Germany. These are not accepted at their face value. Even that value is considered small, since nothing has been disclosed to show that the autocratic rulers of Germany are yet ready to make the only kind of a surrender that will satisfy the Allies, for whom President Wilson, after exchanges of views, has acted as spokesman.

WARN AGAINST HUNGARY.

Rumanians Here Say That She Is Trying to Hoodwink the World.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Alarmed at the prospective fate of their fellow countrymen in Transylvania, when dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian Empire comes, the Rumanian National League of America today issued a statement from its headquarters in Washington in which it said:

"The Rumanian National League of America, having in view renewed efforts of the Hungarians to falsify history and truth, so as to be able to continue even after the now inevitable downfall of the Austro-Hungarian dualism to oppress the Rumanians, Slovaks, and Serbs of Hungary, protests with all its energy against these attempts to hoodwink the good faith of the democracies of the world.

"It also calls attention of the American people to the cynicism exhibited by the leading Magyar circles in proposing to appoint as delegate to the future peace conference Count Apponyi, the most ferocious tyrant of the subject races of Hungary, and the too-famous author of the law bearing his name which closed 2,975 Rumanian schools."

WANT NO REVENGE, SAYS CLEMENCEAU

Tells French Deputies Allies' Victory Means the Liberation of Civilization.

GREAT SCENE IN CHAMBER

Frantic Cheers Greet the Announcement of the Recapture of French and Belgian Cities.

PARIS, Oct. 18, (Associated Press.)—"Our victory does not spell revenge," said Premier Clemenceau amid scenes of indescribable enthusiasm in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon. "Our victory and the victory of our allies means the liberation of civilization and liberty of human conscience."

Paris has lived historic days since the beginning of the war, but never since those dark days of August, 1914, has Paris lived such a day as this. Long before the hour set for the opening of the Chamber huge crowds had gathered, overflowing across the Seine to the Place de la Concorde, where are many captured German guns and Gothas. Every seat in the Chamber was occupied except where the French flag, entwined with the crimson plush of a vacant chair, showed that the former occupant had died—that he had served his country not alone in the Chamber of Deputies, but on the field of battle.

After Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber, had told of the liberation of Lille, Douai, Ostend, and Bruges, and while the Deputies and audience were cheering frantically, Clemenceau arose from the Government bench and made his way alertly to the tribune, the light of triumph illuminating his face and the dust of Lille still clinging to his garments.

"Can I add anything to the patriotic words of the President of the Chamber," said the Premier, "except that I have just received a telegram, (and he waved a blue leaflet toward the Deputies,) stating that Roubaix and Turcoing have just been liberated?"

There was not one discordant voice in the whole Chamber, but two conspicuous Socialist members remained seated while the other Deputies applauded. "There should be but one voice here," said President Deschanel, glaring at the Socialists, who sheepishly arose and the incident was closed.

Recollections of that other historic scene on June 5, when an irate Chamber demanded explanations from this same Premier for the defeat on the Chemin des Dames, came back to the correspondent, and as dignified as Clemenceau was in defeat, as generous was he in victory.

REJECT AUSTRIAN PROMISES.

Czechs Declare That Vienna Cannot Carry Out Its Pledges.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Czechoslovak National Council and the Union of Czech Deputies at their meeting in Prague on Sept. 29 passed a resolution declaring that the Czechs had no faith in the promises of the Vienna Government. The resolution, which was suppressed by the Austrian censor, has just reached London. It says in part:

"We do not believe today in promises given and not kept. The most vehement promises cannot blind us and turn us away from our aim. The hard experience of our nation orders us imperatively to hold firm in matters where reality is stronger than all promises. The Vienna Government is unable to give us anything we ask for.

"The Czech nation will follow its anti-German policy whatever may happen, being sure that its just cause will finally triumph, especially today, when it has become part of the great ideals of the Entente, whose victory will be the only good produced by this terrible war."

at $25, $28, $30, $33

we are not asking any more nor giving any less than we did last season!

There is absolutely no change whatever in our prices nor in the values at these prices. The quality of the fabrics and the hand-tailoring is identical with our last season's productions. One swallow does not make a summer, and it is loose logic to assume that our prices must be higher and our values lower, simply because others are doing it!

We can maintain our last season's prices because we got the woolens RIGHT. Other stores didn't and that's the story.

We notice that certain shops are repricing or reducing their Class A shoes to conform to Government standards.

The point is, if they can sell them at Government prices now, why couldn't they do it before? But that isn't all.

Reducing a shoe to conform to Government regulations, which was overpriced in the first place, isn't exactly a reduction—it's restitution!!

Our Men's Shoes have been selling under the Government's standardized prices right along and we do not and could not reduce them now!

LIEUT. FROBISHER KILLED IN AERIAL COMBAT

New Jersey Aviator Received Fatal Wounds in Battle Which Resulted in American Victory.

Lieutenant J. Edwin Frobisher, Jr., of the American Aviation Section, died on Sept. 10 of wounds received while he was in combat with a superior force of German airplanes. He was one of several American fliers who went aloft to drive off a squadron of German planes which had attacked the American lines. In the fighting which followed, and which ended in a victory for the Americans, Lieutenant Frobisher was wounded. He was 23 years of age and a native of Arlington, N. J.

Lieutenant Oliver W. Hammond, wounded, is a son of Charles L. Hammond of 130 Clark Street, Portchester. He is a graduate of the second Plattsburg Camp and went to France with Company F of the 101st Infantry of the New England Division.

Harry H. Connelly, who was a letter-carrier when he was drafted last year, was killed Sept. 27. He was 29 years of age and a son of Mrs. Sarah Connelly of 127 Smith Street, Portchester. He was in Company E of the 311th Infantry.

Walter F. Wilkins, Jr., wounded, is a former trooper of the First New York Cavalry, and went to France with the 105th Machine Gun Battalion of the New York Division. His home is at 301 Sixty-first Street, Brooklyn.

Sergeant Joseph Donovan of 444 Bedford Avenue, Richmond Hill, L. I., was wounded by shrapnel on Sept. 6. He is a son of Francis Donovan of Richmond Hill and is a graduate of the College of the City of New York. He has written his father that he was wounded seventeen times.

Benjamin Seigman, wounded, is a son of Mrs. Sarah Seigman of 249 Hart Street, Brooklyn. He is in Company A of the 305th Infantry.

Ferdinand W. Ott, killed, was in Company B of the 106th Infantry of the New York Division. His mother lives at 1,050 Decatur Street, Brooklyn.

Harry Reynolds, wounded, is in Company K of the 328th Infantry. His home is in Maspeth, L. I.

Sergeant Harry F. Bruhn, dead of wounds, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Neils Bruhn of Cedarhurst, L. I. He was in the 165th Infantry of the Rainbow Division and was 21 years of age.

Sergeant John J. Reschlin, killed, was a son of Gustav Reschlin of 233 Fifth Avenue. He was in the New York division.

Corporal Martin F. Hanavan, killed, was a brother of Owen Hanavan of 65 Bank Street. He was killed on Sept. 16, and was a member of the 301st Machine Gun Battalion.

Corporal Edward J. Malone, killed, was in Company K of the 7th Infantry. Before entering the service he was Registrar of Fordham University, of which institution he was an honor graduate of the Class of 1915. He was 24 years of age and a son of Mrs. Eleanor J. Malone of 2,348 University Av., the Bronx.

Sergeant Herbert Gerard Truppner of the marines, has been wounded a second time. He is a son of Mrs. Paul Truppner of 126 Dongan Street, West New Brighton, S. I.

Sergeant Frederick Sexauer, missing, is in Company L of the 308th Infantry. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sexauer of 365 First Avenue, Astoria, L. I.

William Siendenberg, killed, was in the 302d Regiment of Engineers. He was a son of Mrs. Catherine Siendenberg of 89 East End Avenue.

Charles P. Morgenthaler, who has died of pneumonia in France, was a member of Company L of the 316th Infantry. His home was at 2,024 Pitkin Avenue, Brooklyn.

George H. Martin, dead of pneumonia in France, was in Company E of the 301st Engineers and lived, before he was drafted into the Upton Division, with his three sisters at 1,235 Halsey Street, Brooklyn.

John C. Lenahan, missing, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lenahan of 125 Greenpoint Avenue, Brooklyn. He is a member of Company M of the 308th Infantry.

Walter F. Wilkinson Jr., wounded, went overseas with the 105th Machine Gun Battalion of the New York Division. His home is at 301 Sixty-first Street, Brooklyn.

Max Schulman, wounded, is in Company E of the 307th Infantry. His mother lives at 279 Smith Street, Brooklyn.

William Duffus, wounded, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Duffus of Cedarhurst, L. I. He was wounded on Sept. 17 and is a member of the 328th Infantry.

Owen Rowe, wounded, is in the 308th Machine Gun Battalion of the Upton Division. He is a son of Mrs. John Goettsche of White Plains.

Nathaniel Rouse, wounded, went to France with the 165th Infantry. He is a son of Mrs. Shirley Rouse of 21 West Thirty-seventh Street, Bayonne, N. J.

Thomas Fairweather, Jr., wounded, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fairweather of 155 Franklin Street, Brooklyn. He is in Company D of the 105th Infantry of the New York Division.

Raymond S. Condit, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Condit of 26 Grant Avenue, East Orange, was wounded on Sept. 22. He was, when drafted into the 312th Infantry, in the employ of the Essex National Bank of Newark.

DEAD OR PRISONER?

News Sought of Lieut. S. D. Connolly, R. A. F., Late of Sparkill, N. Y.

First Lieut. Stewart Dow Connolly, R. A. F., was reported killed in action last August and later reported prisoner in a German camp. His father, Edward M. Connolly of the National Surety Company, is now vainly seeking definite information as to whether the young aviator is alive or dead.

Lieutenant Connolly, whose home is in Sparkill, N. Y., before the war was well known as an amateur athlete. He won the metropolitan junior golf championship in 1912 and the Hudson River golf championship in 1915. After studying at Mount Pleasant Military Academy and Cutler School, he trained at the first Plattsburg camp, and later entered the Royal Air Force in Canada. He is 23 years old.

TO MY FRIENDS:

Have you bought all the Bonds YOU can?

When the First Loan was offered in July, 1917, I bought $2,000—a fair amount for a man of my income.

I bought more of the Second Loan.

When the Third Loan was offered I began to wake up. I SUBSCRIBED for all I could possibly afford. After that I began to THINK.

Many of my good friends and old pals had gone "Over There" to offer their ALL to make it safe for us to live in comfort here.

I had a long heart-to-heart talk with my good wife. We asked ourselves if we had really done all we could, or only what we could "without inconvenience." Then we began to ACT. We gave up our apartment and cut our rent from $175 to $50 per month—and other expenses have been cut accordingly.

I have now invested over 70% of my gross income and over 80% of my total assets in Liberty Bonds, and if I keep my health—I will not sell a single Bond. To pay my Income Tax, insurance, and other expenses from what is left will be some problem.

So, my friends, when you see me wearing last year's clothes, hat and shoes, and lunching at the "Automat" instead of the Waldorf, you will know the reason. I am trying to do what I think is right and—I don't want to be ashamed to meet "Lou" Bacon, "Pete" Long, Herbert Moloney, "Dunk" Macpherson, and dozens of others of my good friends when they come back.

It is up to each one of us INDIVIDUALLY to go off in some quiet spot and alone—face to face with our God—ask ourselves this question—"Am I worth dying for?" Then take a subscription blank and let your conscience dictate the answer by the amount you subscribe.

Don't let Germany's peace propaganda defeat the Loan.

Yours for the winning of the war,

PARIS SEES ENEMY IN DYING STRUGGLE

Believes That Germans Will Realize Slowly That Complete Defeat Faces Them.

TALK OF PUNISHING KAISER

St. Helena Suggested for Foe Ruler —No Yielding to Berlin's Haggling.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—The position of Germany at the present moment, as Paris sees it, is that of a criminal in the death cell, who has been sentenced by a judge to meet his merited doom, but cannot yet believe that all chance of a reprieve is hopeless. Nothing is more clear in the French mind, since the reply of President Wilson was made known, than the fact that no more paltering with enemies is possible. Wilson's reply was regarded as Germany's death sentence.

The beaten enemy, according to all indications, cannot yet conceive that Wilson's words voice exactly what the Allies intend to do. The Allies have decided, as Wilson has stated, that they will not waste time negotiating with an enemy whom they hold at their mercy. Capitulate or fight, is the last word of the Allies, and both alternatives will have exactly the same results. At last, after four long years of struggle, the beast of Prussian militarism is cornered, it is held. Pan Germanism is in its death-agony.

Most Parisians cannot yet realize in its entirety the transformation which Foch's leadership has wrought. They are too close to the facts.

The Allies are not only winning; they have won. "On les aura!" ("We shall have them!"); the war cry of the poilus for four long years has been suddenly changed into a world-resounding "On les a!" ("We've got them!")

The magic words, "Lille" and "Ostend," although there was no mention of them in the afternoon communiqué today, flew like quick-fire along the boulevards through the drizzling rain; and all Paris was on tiptoe with excitement. This time there was no mistake.

How long these dying struggles will last is the subject of much speculation. Many well-informed persons think that the military operations may well last another year.

The belief is growing here that Germany will decide to swallow at least part of the bitter dose before many days, and follow the example of Bulgaria by sending delegates with a white flag and a request to be placed in communication with Foch.

In that event, it is felt that Germany will try to follow her characteristic policy of haggling and the details preparatory to an armistice may occupy several days or weeks, and may be temporarily broken off.

Meanwhile in Clemenceau's determined phrase, the Allies will continue to make war.

To look still further into the future, even when the actual fighting comes to an end, it will probably be a long time before the Allied armies are ready for demobilization. There is not only the fact that soldiers will be required for many months to police countries which have been devastated, disorganized and thrown into a state of anarchy by long years of war, but also the question of an army of occupation is to be faced.

It is recalled that the Germans remained in France more than two years and a half after the end of the Franco-Prussian war in February, 1871, and did not leave finally until September, 1873, when the final installment of the indemnity of a billion dollars had been paid by France.

The papers today speak openly of punishment to be inflicted on the Kaiser, and in one quarter the opinion was expressed that all France was unanimous that the fate of the man who, by his sole will, upset the peace of the whole world, might be stated in two words—St. Helena.

Opinion is hardening, too, in favor of making no distinction between the guilt of the Emperor and that of the people of Germany. It is argued that as they supported the war, they must collectively bear the punishment for the crime.

Two Lives Lost on the America.

At the office of Rear Admiral Gleaves, naval commandant at Hoboken, it was announced yesterday that two men were missing from the crew of the transport America, which sank at her pier on Tuesday. They were John Abel, first-class fireman, of 1,735 South Halstead Street, Chicago, and Charles N. Tatum, first-class fireman, of Cleveland, Tenn. The body of an army Corporal was found floating early yesterday morning by a diver, but it was not certain whether he was on the transport when the accident occurred or fell into the river from the pier at night.

The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.

If it should so happen that Germany's peace efforts are fruitless, that she is unable to hoodwink any of the allied statesmen into securing for her a compromise peace, it is entirely possible that she will make a stand on some such line as that indicated in these columns on previous occasions, the line of the Meuse and thence down through the Ardennes to the Vosges.

This is a military possibility which may be negatived by political or economic conditions within the empire. This is a matter entirely suitable for polemic discussion. It is not a question on which we can lay any claims to being well informed. Germany has always been a calamity howler when things were going wrong with her on the battlefield. We have been hearing rumblings of revolution since 1915. But they have always been put out with the permission of the Government or at least with governmental sanction. Of their lack of value, then, we can have no doubt.

If, however, Germany does elect to make a stand on some such line as that mentioned, we have not yet met with a serious check. Turkey is trembling in the balance—at least what there is left of her. She is holding on and must hold on until her partner in crime has demonstrated whether he is to be granted immunity for previous crimes if he desists from committing more. If this plea fails, Turkey's last card will be gone and she must follow in Bulgaria's footsteps.

General Allenby in Syria is doing all that is possible to hasten this inevitable decision. After he had taken Damascus and the French, by occupying Beirut, had given him a clear passage across the country from the Syrian desert to the Mediterranean, he immediately began his march toward Aleppo. He divided his force into two columns, one of which took the coast route from Beirut to Tripoli and the other the route from Damascus to Homs. Both these places have been taken, and the two columns are in touch by the metaled road which joins these two places. Aleppo is now less than 100 miles away, with no force interposed between. While nothing has been heard of the Mesopotamian Turk, he is doubtlessly hastening westward while his line of retreat—the Mosul-Aleppo road—is still open.

But the capture of Aleppo would cut the Turkish Empire in half, leaving nothing but the country west of the Taurus Mountains still in the hands of the Sultan's Government. Turkey must make peace in spite of the Black Sea fleet, and that soon. This fleet, the terror of which the Germans are holding over the Turks' heads, will not be much in evidence once the Dardanelles are opened and the fleet of the Allies enters the Sea of Marmora. It is certain that by Winter this situation will have come about.

Then we will be ready to turn our attention to Austria. Conceive of the situation as it will exist at that time—the beginning of Spring. Germany will occupy the line of the Meuse. The Italians will be pounding Austria either in the mountains or across the Piave. The Allies as a whole will be moving toward Budapest by way of Serbia and Montenegro. It will not take very many months before Austria will be forced to follow into the paths already blazed by Bulgaria and Turkey. Germany will then be surrounded by an iron ring, not with her allies, but alone. The end will be short. This is the end which Germany faces. Therefore this is what she is trying to dodge.

Of the progress of events on the front in France incident to yesterday's fighting there is little to say. Germany is continuing her retreat apparently in good order except in the Flanders sector. The Lille salient has been almost eliminated by the occupation of Lille, Turcoing, and Roubaix. France, from Arras to Valenciennes is practically redeemed. In the north the Germans have been almost entirely cleared from the Belgian coast. Here the rapidity of the Allies' advance has indicated a true German rout.

It is distinctly noticeable, however, that with this exception the Allies are finding their way beset with difficulties, and that although they are making some progress it is very slow. The secret lies in the fact that the Germans are not demoralized; they are not a confused mass of men, guns, and transports. They are still a well organized army kept pretty thoroughly in hand by their commanders. Their retreat so far has been well planned and executed in masterly fashion. Their numbers have been depleted through casualties which cannot be replaced, their transport has been more or less shattered, they have lost a wealth of material. They are still a force capable of hard and consistent fighting. We are not yet out of the woods.

Saks-Tailored Suits For the Young "Sprout"

. . and don't think that we're putting "boyish styles" on our Young Men. When a fellow's in long trousers he's a man in our eyes even if he can't go into a voting booth.

For example, a fellow passing from knickers to long trousers wants real mannish patterns; he wants a bit of a flare to his style; but, above all things, he wants sound tailor-work just as his father gets, so that his suit won't have a here-to day-and-there to morrow shape.

These are things he may get in the usual run of Young Men's Clothes—they are things he's certain to get in Saks Clothes.

Incidentally, if a chap has any doubts about the superiority of Saks Tailoring let him ask his father.

This Day Is Critical For YOU --and Civilization

This Liberty Loan hangs in the balance. Our soldiers do not stop and sit down half way across No Man's Land. They go on and bayonet the Hun in his own trench.

No race can be won if you slow up just because you're ahead on the home stretch.

The almost-beaten Kaiser is pinning his hope on your failure to buy all the Liberty Bonds you can buy.

Are you playing his game—or America's?

Listen to Secretary McAdoo:

"* * * * * * * * * The destinies of the world and the hopes of civilization are centred upon America. We shall fail in everything we have fought for and hope to gain in this war if the Fourth Liberty Loan is defeated. Let every true American citizen to-day examine himself under the white light of patriotism and say whether or not he has done his utmost in this emergency. The highest obligations of duty and patriotism command every true American to go immediately to his banker, to his Liberty Loan Committee, and subscribe to the limit of his ability to the Fourth Liberty bonds. Don't delay; don't wait to be urged; be as quick to do your part in this Fourth Liberty Loan battle as our soldiers in France are quick to obey the order to charge the enemy. Buy Liberty bonds on the instalment plan if you cannot buy them for cash. Every patriotic bank will help you.
If every patriotic citizen will do his duty now victory for the Fourth Liberty Loan is certain.

MORGENTHAU WOULD CHASTEN GERMANY

Shock of Invasion and Defeat on Her Own Soil Needed to Reform Her.

ARMY MUST BE CRUSHED

Peace-Loving People of His Youth Can Be Restored, but Only by Destroying Their Evil Rulers.

Henry Morgenthau, ex-Ambassador to Turkey, at a meeting of labor and radical forces held last night at Cooper Union, on behalf of the Liberty Loan, expressed his belief that the mental attitude of the German people could be changed for the better, but that it would take a nervous shock in the form of a crushing military defeat to do it. The audience, consisting for the most part of Socialists who had left the party when it adopted an anti-war platform, rose to great heights of enthusiasm. The other speakers were ex-Senator Winfield R. Gaylord of Wisconsin, Frank Bohn of the Friends of German Democracy, William English Walling, William Edlin, Henry L. Slobodin, J. G. Phelps Stokes, and Solon Fieldman. Cantor Meyer Kanewsky sang two songs by Rubenstein. Mr. Morgenthau said:

"The wisest feature of President Wilson's answer to Germany was probably the fact that he practically went over the heads of the German Government and spoke directly to the German people themselves. On the surface, this document was addressed to the present responsible executives and the German Government; in reality its audience was the everyday, plain-spoken citizen of the German Empire. It was not meant primarily to be read in castles and courts and cabinet rooms; it was written to be read in all city homes, in farmers' cottages, in the workshop, in the field, and in the trenches.

"It told the plain German people precisely how they could attain the one thing which they desire above all else in this world—peace. It informed them that they and not their Kaisers, their Kings, their Archdukes, their Field Marshals, and their Admirals, held this issue of peace or war in the hollow of their hands. It is from them that the President wishes to hear, not from the leaders who have plunged them into the most terrible predicament into which any nation has ever fallen.

"It is within the choice of the German nation, says Mr. Wilson, to obliterate that Kaiserism which has brought all these horrors upon mankind. Unless the German nation destroys the monster that is hourly destroying itself, there can be no hope for its future. To that League of Nations which is to be organized to preserve the peace and liberties of mankind the German people, but not the German autocracy, will be admitted. The one question that confronts us now is whether the German people, as distinguished from its self-constituted leaders, will accept this invitation. In a sense, therefore, the psychology of this German nation is the most important factor in the world situation today.

Wilson Drew the Distinction.

"This attempt to diffentiate between the German Government and the German people is nothing new. President Wilson drew this distinction in the very addresses in which he asked Congress to declare war. His insistence on this point has irritated many observers, here and abroad, who have insisted that no such difference exists, that the German people are just as bad as their Kaiser, that they approve the most dastardly crimes of the German Army and the German navy, and are just as lustful of military conquest as their imperial masters. I believe that those who refuse to see much difference between the mentality of the German people and the German Government are right. They have worked as a unit in this insane enterprise of conquering the world.

"This fact, however, does not affect the wisdom of the President's policy. It does not mean that the people cannot be separated from their Kaiser, that they cannot be led to see a new light, that they cannot be forced even to overthrow their whole autocratic system, abandon the damnable political philosophy in which they have been so assiduously schooled, cleanse themselves of the foul crimes which they have applauded for four years, and reform themselves into a decent, self-respecting, liberty-loving democracy. Indeed they have got to do this or they perish.

"I shall probably be told that this invokes a transformation in human nature, and that human nature does not change itself. The psychology of a whole nation can be changed and changed fundamentally. I believe this first of all, because I am a believer in democracy. As a believer in democracy I do not think that democratic institutions and the democratic attitude towards life are the special privileges of any one race or people. They are destined to be the inheritance of all mankind everywhere. The principles of the Declaration of Independence and of the French Revolution are just as applicable to the German people as to the great nations that have been its utterance.

"We are taught that the Anglo-Saxon peoples have a particular gift for democratic institutions; let us not lose sight of the fact that the Anglo-Saxon peoples came originally from Germany. Indeed a great English historian—I think Freeman—has said that, if you wish to trace the Declaration of Independence to its beginnings, you will have to go back to a German forest.

Reformation Was German.

"Amid all the denunciations we are showering upon Germany now—and they cannot be too severe—let us not forget that the one event which has perhaps done most to emancipate mankind from tyranny, the Reformation, started in Germany. While we remember that Frederick the Great and Bismarck were Germans, let us not forget that Martin Luther was a German also. In even more modern times Germany has shown a democratic instinct; now near the German people came to achieving democratic institutions in 1848 we all know. All history shows that the seeds of democracy do exist in the German peoples, little in evidence as they have been in the last fifty years.

"But I have another reason for believing that the so-called German character can be changed. I do not think that the German nature with which we are now so painfully familiar is the same as that which existed fifty years ago. It is certainly not the same as that with which I was familiar as a boy in Germany. Possibly I hold this idea because I was born in Southern Germany, in Baden, and because all my early recollections of Germany centre around the country of Goethe and Schiller. Perhaps the Prussian has always been a beast; all through history he has certainly made himself an object of detestation; two hundred years ago, as today, he was regarded as ferocious, arrogant, unscrupulous, and overbearing—an altogether hateful thing. And in this war all Germans have shown unmistakable Prussian qualities.

"Yet this was not the kind of German that I knew as a child. In Southern Germany, when I was a boy, children did not constantly play at soldiering, the thoughts of all men and women did not take a military form, and the desire for world conquest did not fill everybody's mind as the only laudable ambition that should impel a great nation. My recollections of Germany, indeed, ... at all—though again, I must keep in mind that I ... no ... Russia. But in those days there was no such thing as a ... we had no Kaiser ruling over the whole of Germany, no German Imperial fleet, no brood of philosophers preaching the doctrines of Pan Germany, no force of spies in foreign countries stirring up hatred and animosities, no national aspirations to destroy the liberty and independence of small nations.

The Home-Loving German.

"As I remember the German of those days, he was a rather easy-going, home-loving, somewhat dreaming family man. His main enthusiasms were the German poets and the German musicians, and the love of nature was marked, even among the young. We loved to roam the fields, to botanize, and to chase butterflies. In those days we had a great fondness for America; tens of thousands of our people were going there every year, and practically all of us had relations who had found cordial homes on this side of the Atlantic.

"It is of this kind of material that Prussianized Germany has created the present arrogant, bloodthirsty citizen of the empire. It has been one of the most astonishing transformations in history and will always, I am sure, have the utmost interest for the psychologist. The masters of this new Germany began, in 1871, one of the most monstrous experiments ever made; this was nothing less than an attempt to pervert the mentality of a race. They took under their complete mental control the millions that made up the newly constituted German Empire and proceeded to transform them into docile instruments to achieve their dominating purpose—the conquest of the world.

"Fundamentally it was a case of hypnotism on a grand scale. The masters of Germany proposed to regulate all the thoughts of their people and to control all their emotions and aspirations. We all know that there is nothing so susceptible to suggestion as the mind of the growing child. All who have remained in the countries of their birth are practically what they were made in the first ten to fifteen years of their lives. It is in that period that we derive our religion, our moral conceptions, our patriotic instincts, our racial feelings—practically all those fundamental attitudes, prejudices, if you will, that constitute our mental life. If we can control the human mind during this impressionable period, it is possible to instill into it preconceptions that will direct its actions all through life.

The New German Theory.

"The new masters of Germany now seized their millions of growing minds and began to impress them with the new philosophy of the German Empire. It inculcated this new German theory of the State as an overpowering entity, something entirely distinct from the individuals that composed it—as a mighty, constantly forward marching force, that could do no wrong, that recognized no moral principles, that had no obligations to its neighbors, that was entirely free from such abstractions as justice, or mercy, or right, that sinned only when it was weak, and that had only one duty—to go on, constantly waxing more powerful, always seeking to destroy its neighbors, and reducing all mankind to its control. It taught as a necessary corollary to this, that the individual was nothing, and that his only duty was implicit obedience to his superiors, that the greatest honor that could befall him was to sacrifice his life in promoting this ideal.

"This new Paganism revived certain of the cults that accompanied the Paganism of the ancient world. Just as the citizens of Imperial Rome were taught to deify the Emperor, so the new citizens of Imperial Germany were taught to deify the Emperor, so the new came the human embodiment of this new conception of the super-state, a man directly sent by God to make it the overruling power among the nations and, as such, he necessarily commanded the unquestioning obedience of all his subjects.

"An essential part of this new Kaiser worship was the worship of militarism. The greatest trade a man could follow was to be a soldier, and the greatest occupation of a nation was war and preparation for it. The German child was taught that there was only one way to national progress and to national greatness, and that was the battlefield. The State stimulated this lesson by awarding the highest social distinctions to its soldiers and by erecting the army and navy leaders into a special privileged class, who had complete freedom to insult and browbeat the civilian population.

"The masters of the German people impressed upon their minds the superiority of the Germans to all other peoples, the superiority of German kultur to all other kultur, and taught them that it was Germany's God-given duty to carry this new national evangel to all the world. They taught them also that once a German always a German, and that no matter where the German might find himself, whether in the wilds of Brazil, or in Africa, or in the United States, and no matter what pledges of allegiance he may have given to his new country, his loyalty still remained to Germany.

Now a Mass of Ruins.

"I could give at greater length the new philosophy now enjoined upon the growing German mind, but that is hardly necessary, for the world is now sufficiently familiar with all the hideous details—with all the cruelties, the sufferings, the calculated indifference to justice, decency, and human rights which have accompanied this new barbarism. Germany has succeeded in her attempt to pervert the mentality of her people, but she has failed in her underlying purpose of subduing the world.

"This monstrous conspiracy against human freedom and democracy now lies a mass of ruins at our feet. Germany's mighty military machine, the product of forty years' incessant labor, is daily going to pieces under the blows of the allied armies. In the last ten days the humbled German Government has itself acknowledged its defeat and practically put up a plea for mercy. What are the allied peoples to do in face of this new situation?

"It is not for me to sketch the terms of peace, but at least one point I think that we should insist on at this time. Unless peace can be restored upon terms that will change the mental attitude of the German people toward its own masters and toward the rest of the world, then the war will have been fought in vain. I regard this as the fundamental point in the whole international situation. At present the German people possess a philosophy of life that takes its roots in hell. Unless they discard this, and bring their thinking into line with that of enlightened nations, we will have obtained, not an end to this war, but merely a truce.

"At present I regard the German mind as in a condition of disease. It has been deliberately schooled for forty years to think in the terms of war and of evil. Modern psychiatrists have a method of handling the human mind that has been twisted out of its normal course in its early impressionable years. They call this the process of re-education. It is a process of substituting healthy thoughts for diseased thoughts, of right attitudes for wrong attitudes, and developing a normal mentality to take the place of an abnormal mentality. Some such process of re-education must be applied to Germany, if she is to cease to be a menace to the world—if the world, indeed, is to be a fit place for peaceful, liberty-loving democracies such as are the powers that are now overcoming the Kaiser's legions.

Germany Needs a Shock.

"How is this change to be brought? It is not the insoluble problem that it may seem to be at first. Let us again regard this as a problem of perverted psychology. Experience has demonstrated that there is one way which is particularly valuable in setting straight a mind that has been started wrong in its early impressionable years. A terrible nervous shock frequently produces the most beneficial and healthmaking results. Nothing would do Germany so much good in the present crisis as such a shock.

"This is the reason why a complete military defeat is the essential preliminary to ending the war. There is not the slightest doubt that, at this present moment, Germany still believes that she is superior to the rest of the world in war, and that she regards her present reverses as merely temporary, serious enough perhaps to justify her in making an inconclusive peace, but not serious enough to dissuade her from her great enterprise of universal empire. If permitted to do so, she will temporarily lay down her arms and immediately begin repairing the injuries to her military machine.

"In Constantinople I had many talks with a typical German Junker and militarist, the German Ambassador, Baron von Wangenheim. He was always discussing the 'next war' as though it were something that had already been determined upon. 'We have failed this time,' he would tell me, 'but we shall now store up enough copper, cotton, and other materials for a five years' war, and next time we shall not fail.'"

"This represents the state of mind of Germany today. The German people have not abandoned their faith in militarism as the finest expression of their national life or in war as their first duty as Germans. Only an overwhelming defeat will ever make them see a new light. I do not believe that any peace should be made until this defeat has been administered to them.

Take War Into Germany.

"I am emphatically ... those who believe that this war should be taken into Germany. I believe that the afflictions which Germany has visited upon other nations should be visited on Germany. Though I do not believe that we should ravage German cities as Germany has ravaged those of France and Belgium, yet I think that our armies might give the German territories a few wholesome examples of the kind of warfare their soldiers have made on allied soil.

"I do not advocate this policy from any feeling of revenge, but merely from a sense of justice. It is practically the only way in which the world can protect itself from another attack, the only way in which we can permanently save our own homes and our institutions from the constantly impending threat of another assault. I believe that it is the only way in which Germany can be cured of the disease that now afflicts her. There is only one kind of a Germany that will cease to menace the world, and that is a chastened Germany. There is only one way to chasten Germany, and that is to defeat her so completely that the memory will not pass out of her mind for many generations. Such a defeat is absolutely essential to the re-education of Germany along the lines of civilization and democracy.

"Do not think that we can destroy the German military machine merely by making peace with it. It must be destroyed as a physical fact; all the German armies must be demobilized, all their guns and munitions must be taken away, their fortresses must be razed, their munition factories must be demolished, and their fleet must be distributed.

"I may be laying down a large program, but it can be done; our own country can send, not three or five million men, but as many millions as the job will demand. Do not let that German military machine, a little wounded, creep back to its hangar in Germany, there to be repaired for another attack. If we should do this, it is certain that posterity would judge that our crime, in leaving this organism intact, after having experienced its capacity for destruction, would be as great as the crime of having created it.

Eliminate the Hohenzollerns.

"Another thing is necessary if this German mentality is to be restored to a condition of health. That is the elimination of the instructors who have so perverted the nation's instincts. In the reorganization of Europe there can be no place found for the Hohenzollerns and their kind. These wretches are nothing but the marplots of civilization. Their very existence is a challenge to everything that democracy holds dear. In a modern world they are merely the survivors of the worst ruffianism of the Middle Ages. These imperial families and the junker aristocracy that supports them are the agencies that have perverted the German mind and tamed the German people to be the instruments of all the devastation that now afflicts the world.

"Do we propose to let these men go without punishment? Let us not be fooled into permitting them to play 'possum,' to pretend to be sick, perhaps even dead. Let us take care that that is their actual state. These Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs and their junkers started out to destroy democracy. They have failed in this enterprise, at least for the present.

"Let us accept their challenge; let us start out to destroy autocracy, and let us not stop half way. Let us say to these Kaisers that we are ready for the battle which they themselves have proposed, that we are completely stripped for combat, and that we propose to fight until one of us is destroyed. That is just what President Wilson has said, and that is the reason why his latest message to Germany will become one of the greatest documents of history.

"So, to come back to my first point. I do believe that Germany can be made a democracy—a great democracy. But I regard her utter defeat in a military sense and the elimination of her war lords as the essential preliminaries to the new German democratic state. These changes are necessary to re-establish the healthy and normal mentality which is the first requirement if she is to emerge from the present war a nation with which the rest of the world can consent to associate as a brother."

LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE

120 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

Say Listen—

You're pretty certain that Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart can afford to buy more bonds than you can. And they have. Believe that, for they've bought and bought and bought. They've bought every dollar's worth they could afford. And then they've bought more that they couldn't afford without a sacrifice.

But that's not all. On top of that each of them has bought more bonds---a $100 load for Mary, and a $200 load for Doug and Bill. And it meant so much that they just had to take it on the "four-down two-a-week-coupon-book-basis."

And here's where you come in.

They dare you—on top of all you've taken—to match their last buy. They dare you! And to make you doubly anxious to take the dare they make this proposition to YOU:

Match their buy—one more $50 or $100 Bond—on top of all you've got—one more—on the coupon book basis.

Then——

Twenty-three weeks hence, when that one last buy of yours that it really hurt to make is in your hands—paid for—then one of them, your choice of the three, promises to send their autograph to you, on a special card of thanks, as proof that you took their dare. And they say they hope they "lose their arm" writing!

Picture the one and only "Mary" with but one arm! A climbing dare-devil "Doug" with but one hand to help him! The good "bad" man "Bill," the two-gun man a one-gun man! Try to make 'em cripples—Buy that one MORE Bond.

Now, what do you say? One more as a dare. And when it's paid for, Mary or Doug or Bill—your choice of the three—promises to send her or his autograph as proof that you stood the acid test with them.

"Say folks, listen. We're 'loaded to the guards.' We've bought and bought and bought some more. You've an idea we can afford it. But say, we've bought more than we could afford. We've bought 'until it hurt.' And believe us, we're proud of it. It's a petty hurt compared to what 'our boys' are getting—and smiling in the getting. Think of that!

"You know the boys over there don't quit because they've done their share. No, sir. Why? Because they figure their full share is fight to the death. When something hurts they don't stop. They go on.

"And truthfully that's what's stirred us up—the three of us. We've bought until it hurt. And then, because we wanted to do as near like those boys as we could, we've gone on. We've bought one more, each of us, on the 'four-down two-a-week-coupon-book-basis.'

"And that's where YOU come in. We want you to match us. We dare you to!

"We dare you—whoever you are—rich or poor—big or little—we dare YOU to take ONE MORE today—on the same basis—The Partial Payment Coupon Book Plan. Take one more and match our buy. Match either of us the bond we've bought when we KNEW IT WOULD HURT TO PAY FOR IT.

"And if you will we make this promise:

"Twenty-three weeks hence—when that bond is paid for—one of us—your choice—will send our autograph to you as proof that you took our 'dare.' Make this 'dare-purchase'—match us—try with us to do as much as we can in our little way to show our appreciation of the sacrifices our boys are making for us. Take our dare!

"And we'll be proud to have been 'in on' the plan with you.

"For, folks—it's a good cause—the most wonderful cause we've ever had a chance to play a part in.

"Come on. We're loaded, the three of us, loaded to what looked like the breaking point, thousands of dollars, back in the early days of the drive. We have done our best—bought, bought, bought until it hurt. And now we've bought one more. And we dare you to match our effort. Are you on?

We dare you to buy ONE MORE Liberty Bond, as we did!

PLOTTED TO HAMPER POWDER INDUSTRY

Von Bernstorff and Albert Organized Association to Corner Carbolic Acid.

USED IT UP MAKING DRUGS

Celebrated Success by Dinner at Hotel Astor—Double Price for Edison Product.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Further disclosures of the efforts of Count von Bernstorff, Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, and other German agents to prevent the manufacture and shipment of munitions to the Allies were made today by A. Mitchell Palmer, Alien Property Custodian. He revealed the workings of the Chemical Exchange Association, organized by Dr. Hugo Schweitzer in 1915 to buy up all available carbolic acid in America and prevent its use in the manufacture of trinitrotoluol and other high explosives by converting it into harmless pharmaceutical products.

The plot of the Chemical Exchange Association, Mr. Palmer said, was discovered by Francis P. Garvan, Director of the Bureau of Investigation, in his investigation of German-owned chemical companies. He found that Dr. Albert, in conjunction with Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, arranged with Hugo Schweitzer, a naturalized American and a chemist of the Bayer Company, to prepare and carry out plans which would prevent the shipment of carbolic acid to the Allies and to American munition manufacturers making high explosives.

The Heyden Chemical Works of 135 William Street, and the Bayer Company of 117 Hudson Street, New York, both of which have been taken over by Mr. Palmer, were the two chemical concerns through which Dr. Schweitzer arranged to carry out his plans.

Bought Up Edison's Product.

"In 1915 Thomas A. Edison invented a synthetic carbolic acid, of which the American Oil and Supply Company of Newark, became the selling agent," said Mr. Palmer. "Comparatively little carbolic acid could be bought then. Dr. Schweitzer immediately set out to control this supply and on June 22, 1915, entered into a contract with the American Oil and Supply Company whereby this company agreed to ship 6,000 pounds of carbolic acid each working day from July 1, 1915, to Dec. 31, 1915, and 4,000 pounds each working day from Jan. 1, 1916, to March 31, 1916, at a price nearly double the usual market price. Dr. Schweitzer put up $100,000 in cash which was furnished by Dr. Albert, as security for the faithful performance of this contract, and a $25,000 surety bond.

"To obviate doing business in his own name, Schweitzer organized the Chemical Exchange Association. This association was a co-partnership, comprising Dr. Schweitzer and Richard Kyn, father-in-law of George Simon, business manager of the Heyden Chemical Works. Muller, Schall & Co. of 45 William Street, New York, were sales agents for Dr. Schweitzer.

"Every effort was made by Schweitzer and Kny to keep their contract secret and to prevent the American Government from learning that Dr. Albert and the German Government were behind this contract. Meantime, the American Oil and Supply Company delivered large quantities of carbolic acid to the Heyden Chemical Works, which was converted into harmless pharmaceutical preparations and sold. The net profit on this deal was $816,000, which Richard Kny told Mr. Garvan was divided equally between himself and Dr. Schweitzer.

German Certificates in Deal.

"The investigation showed that on June 23, 1915, the day after Schweitzer entered into his contract with the American Oil and Supply Company, G. Amsinck & Co., bankers, wrote Dr. Albert that they had received Imperial German Government certificates due Jan. 1, 1916, as collateral, for which they placed at the disposal of Dr. Albert a drawing account of $300,000. G. Amsinck & Co., acting upon the instructions of Dr. Albert, gave their check to Dr. Schweitzer for $100,000, which Schweitzer posted as a forfeit with the American Oil and Supply Company, guaranteeing the fulfillment of his contract."

To celebrate the success of the scheme, Mr. Palmer said, Dr. Schweitzer and Richard Kny gave a dinner to Dr. Albert at the Hotel Astor in New York in the latter part of 1916 and gave him a loving cup. Captain Wolf von Igel of the German Embassy was among the guests. Dr. Schweitzer died in December, 1917, and among his papers Mr. Garvan found statements showing how completely he was in touch with the carbolic acid situation in the United States.

Does Pershing Speak for You?

"The German army can be beaten;
The German army must be beaten;
The German army will be beaten."

Pershing counted on every man, woman and child in America to back him up when he said that—back him up with their souls, their flesh, their pocketbooks—to the last drop of their blood, to the last dollar.

Our young men are backing him up with their blood. Everyone of us at home must back him up with our dollars—our last dollars—our future dollars.

Can the soldier afford to lose an arm, a leg? Can he afford to lose his life?

What we can afford cannot be the measure of our patriotism now.

It's the one more bond you can't afford, the one more bond that is so big it hurts, that is the only true measure of American patriotism now. That is the bond that makes you an American.

The final hour is at hand---the last call to all Americans to go over the top with Pershing's men.

Go to a bank today and borrow

There are 355 banks and branches conveniently located in all sections of this city. They are all open to you for Liberty Loan purposes.

Whether you have ever borrowed from a bank before or not, whether you have ever been inside a bank or not, GO INTO ANY BANK AND ASK.

Simply to "buy a bond" and wear a Liberty Loan button is no longer enough. The hour calls for patriotism that is measured by sacrifice. Pershing's men are waiting for your answer. ACT.

POLES FOUND KAISER GREATLY DEPRESSED

Acceded with Indifference All Delegates' Demands, to Rage of Ludendorff.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Prince Radziwill and Count Roniker, the Polish delegates who went to the German Emperor's headquarters in August to present to him Poland's claims, were much struck by the monarch's depression and indifference, says the Matin. Emperor William consented readily to demands which ought to have appeared very excessive to him.

"Not only did he agree to the creation of an integral and independent Poland," the Matin continues, "but he let pass without protest allusions to Posen, and acquiesced when the delegates spoke to him regarding a sea outlet for Poland at the expense of East Prussia.

"As for the Crown Prince, he confined himself to snickering and slapping the delegates on the back, giving them the impression that he was a most unintelligent man.

"General Ludendorff was the only person who appeared to realize the situation, but did not dare to contradict the Emperor. He relieved himself by grunting furiously."

To Draft Italians Here.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct 18.—Favorable report was ordered today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the treaty with Italy, by which citizens of that country now in the United States and citizens of this country now in Italy will be subject to military duty. The treaty is practically similar to those executed with Great Britain and France, and suspends a former treaty which provided that citizens of the two countries could not be impressed into military service when in each other's lands.

ALLIES CAPTURE TOWN IN NORTH RUSSIA

Also Clear Karelia Entirely, Driving the Enemy Back Over the Finish Border.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Allied forces have occupied the town of Kadish, in the Province of Archangel, and have advanced six miles south of that place along the Archangel-Vologda railway, according to an official statement tonight on operations in North Russia. The text of the statement says:

On the Murmansk front allied forces operating from Kem, on the White Sea, 300 miles south of Murmansk, have now cleared Central and Southern Karelia, and the enemy has been driven back across the Finnish border. A large quantity of bombs, ammunition, and material has been captured, including twenty-eight boats, three machine guns, and 600 rifles.

On the Archangel front allied forces have occupied Kadish, on the Emtsa River, fifty miles south of its confluence with the Dvina, and advanced six miles south along the Archangel-Vologda railway.

PRIZE OPERA 'BIANCA' HAS ITS PREMIERE

Henry Hadley's Little American Work Is Good Entertainment at the Park.

MAGGIE TEYTE THE HEROINE

Opera of Mock Lovemaking by Cavaliers Has Broad Effects in Both Orchestration and Singing.

BIANCA, opera in one act; libretto by Grant Stewart from an Italian comedy, "The Mistress of the Inn," by Carlo Goldoni; music by Henry Hadley. At the Park Theatre.

Bianca	Maggie Teyte
Il Cavaliere del Ruggio	Henri Scott
Il Conte della Terramonte	Howard White
Il Marchese D'Amalfi	Craig Campbell
Fabricio	Carl Formes
Pietro	John Quine
Carl	John Phillips
Ciro	Jack Goldman
Giovanni	Franklin Riker
Luci	Bianca Rodrigues
Emilia	Isabel McLoughlin
Conductor	Henry Hadley
Artistic Director	Jacques Coini

After postponement for one or another reasons from last week and again from last Tuesday, whether by conflict of events in the New York music season's first crowded hours, or because of difficulties of the influenza epidemic, the newest "American opera"—whose composer has already written another, "Cleopatra's Night," and had it accepted at the Metropolitan now—was sung for the first time on any stage by the Society of American Singers at the Park Treatre last night. An informal and appropriate Liberty Loan feature of the premiere of Hadley's "Bianca" was the introduction of his song, "To Victory," conducted by Edwin Goldman of the New York Police Band, and sung by Dora Gibson with a chorus of sailors in the boxes and a trooping of colors by soldiers on the stage during the evening's Liberty Loan speech.

"Bianca," brief though it is, had won both a $1,000 prize and a generous preparation by Mr. Hinshaw's forces. It was staged with as much care as some longer and more serious works by native artists in the past. The final dress rehearsal under Mr. Hadley's direction took place at noon, only a few hours before "Bianca" and her creator faced their first house. The composer as well as Mr. Coini worked hard, as indeed did the entire cast, in order to give the refined but rapid action just that last touch of utter playfulness and abandon which, in this workaday world, must achieve the prime essential of amusing and diverting an audience. "All work and no play," they knew, would never lead plain-speaking, theatre-going Americans into the "undiscovered country" of idealized artifice and artistry of Continental opéra comique.

If New York enjoyed "Bianca" as much as he and the cast enjoyed preparing a merry old Italian play in brand new American musical production, Henry Hadley told an audience of cheering friends who filled the house that all concerned on the stage would feel well repaid. There was a wreath with flags for Composer Hadley. In the performance, which came late in the evening, Maggie Teyte was warmly applauded for her principal air of the "Mistress of the Inn." She carried well for its brief hour a situation in which the rest of the singers were all men. Henry Scott, Howard White, and Craig Campbell, with a duel inevitable. The hostess burnt her fingers to ultra modernist discords, the men quarreled to antique minuets, but the faithful servitor, Carl Formes, brought down an ironing board on the final sword-play for a charming wedding quintet, which was a climax of surprise, joined in by all those in the tavern who had been silent partners till then.

"Women are all alike," was the theme of the little opera's mock lovemaking by the cavaliers. But apparently men are not so different, for the beguiling of man's heart by woman's wiles had its counterpart in Pergolesi's "Maid as Mistress," with Lucy Gates and David Bispham, which opened last night's performance, an opera actually written not long after the supposed time of Goldoni's comedy of Florentine manners in the roaring 1670s.

Congenial to the theatre, the little play that Grant Stewart adapted for Mr. Hadley's use proved entertaining, if some of its music was weighty beyond classic forms. As latter-day "dramma per musica" the work was developed to broad effects in both orchestration and singing. It wasn't opera comique, in the sense of tinkling melodies and spoken words, but a half-portion grand opera speeded up in merry style by the Park players.

SUE HARVARD IN SONGS.

Soprano Displays a Clear, Full Voice—Aurore La Croix Plays.

With one pause for a Liberty Loan speaker, who made her appeal in stirring fashion from the stage of New York's musical débutantes, Sue Harvard, soprano, added another to the infrequent recitals of the season thus far at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon. Miss Harvard has a clear, full voice, that serves her well, while calling for variety in her choice of program. She sang airs in Italian and French, both early and modern; an old melody in Welsh, "The Bells of Aberdovey," arranged by Brinley Richards, and among songs in English, "Berry Brown," dedicated to her by Ward Stephens, who accompanied at the piano, and his "Have You Seen Him in France?"

Another matinee recital, by Aurore La Croix, a new pianist, on the previous day in Aeolian Hall, proved interesting in its disclosure of more than technical gifts, rather of musical personality, a young artist in the making. Miss La Croix, an American of French descent, was heard in Schubert's Sonata, op. 42, and the customary Chopin and Liszt, to which she added an unfamiliar serenade and scherzo by E. R. Blanchet, and a theme and variations by Edward Royce.

Concerts Postponed by Influenza.

Several postponements among the season's early concerts at Carnegie and Aeolian Halls were decided upon last night, the Metropolitan Musical Bureau announcing that Toscha Seidel's matinée in Carnegie Hall tomorrow had been called off, while R. E. Johnston announced that Mischa Elman, who was booked for the following Sunday, would not appear there until after the holidays. A report of general closing, however, owing to the influenza epidemic, was denied by other managers.

The Wolfsohn Bureau issued a statement that Reinald Werrenrath's Sunday matinée in Aeolian Hall would "take place as advertised," while Josef Rosenblatt would "positively appear" tomorrow evening at Carnegie Hall, and the recital announced next Saturday by Jascha Heifetz would take place also.

NEWS PRINT PRICES UP.

Federal Trade Board Establishes New Scale of Prices.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Because of increased cost of labor and transportation, the Federal Trade Commission in a finding announced today granted increases in prices for the standard newsprint paper, establishing as fair maximum prices for the period from July 1 the following: $3.75¼ per 100 pounds, f. o. b. mill, for roll news in car lots; $3.87? for roll news in less than car lots; $4.15¼ for sheet news in car lots, and $4.27? for sheet news in small quantities.

The new prices, it is estimated, will allow manufacturers an average profit of $19.75 a ton, but do not include the increases asked because of higher cost for wood used for pulp. Three rates were fixed as bases for adjustments for paper already delivered on contracts.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"She Walked in Her Sleep" will end its engagement at the Playhouse tonight, and "Peter's Mother" will be seen at that theatre instead of the Forty-eighth Street. The premiere has been postponed until Monday, Oct. 28.

Free performances of "Not With My Money" will be given for uniformed men at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights. The public premiere will take place on Wednesday.

A Letter From the President

THE WHITE HOUSE, Oct. 14

The reply of the German Government to my note of inquiry dated October 8 gives occasion for me to say to my fellow countrymen that neither that reply nor any other recent events have in any way diminished the vital importance of the Liberty Loan. Relaxation now, hesitation now, would mean defeat when victory seems to be in sight; would mean years of war instead of peace upon our terms

I earnestly request every patriotic American to leave to the governments of the United States and of the Allies the momentous discussions initiated by Germany and to remember that for each man his duty is to strengthen the hands of these governments, and to do it in the most important way now immediately presented—by subscribing to the utmost of his ability for bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan. That loan must be successful. I am sure that the American people will not fail to see their duty and make it successful

NO DEFINITION AT ALL

We never did think much of that definition that says a genius is one with an "infinite capacity for taking pains." Of the geniuses we ever met some had the "infinite capacity" and others would take almost anything except pains. We never saw the combination in the sense of the definition.

We mention this because we know that we are not geniuses and our business has grown right up on our capacity for taking pains. We began taking pains forty-five years ago, taking pains to get theatre tickets when and where they were wanted, taking pains to remember different clients' individual wants. Taking pains in and out of season has brought us to the point where we can assure you that it will be well worth your while to ask us to take pains for you.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

The old and celebrated firm of Austrian & Magyar, whose affairs have long been handled with such distinguished unsuccess by members of the Hapsburg family, observed some time ago that bankruptcy was not far away. Consequently, in the faint hope of getting away before the crash, the firm is now dissolved. Such assets as remain to the partners have already been disposed of, in the one case to a wife, in the other to the children; and an appeal will be made not to take away from these innocent persons their sole means of livelihood. Nevertheless, the wife of Magyar is a Magyar, the children of Austrian are Austrians; and since the transfer of assets was accomplished with a direct regard to the approaching collapse, the court will hardly hold it a legitimate action.

This is the meaning of the declaration in favor of complete independence from Austria which was made in the Hungarian Diet, and of Emperor CHARLES's manifesto announcing that Austria would become a confederate State of locally autonomous nationality. The old Austrian Government, run by and for the dynasty and the aristocracy at the expense of the subject peoples, has collapsed; and Emperor CHARLES is trying, too late, to substitute new local governments, equally in the hands of the dynasty and aristocracy and by this time equally unsatisfactory to the people—the direct descendants of the old Government which GLADSTONE felt had nowhere done anything good.

In Hungary, the Government run by and for a group of landholding nobles, in alliance with Austria, having collapsed, an attempt is made to represent that a great change has been made by continuing the same Government without any bond with Austria save the common monarch. But it is the same Government; and neither in Hungary nor in Austria can the men and the system that made this war, in collusion with Potsdam, escape the responsibility.

As for these concessions, they are far too small and years too late. In his manifesto "To My Faithful Austrian People," which in title as well as in content is a worthy production of the home of musical comedy, the Emperor-King praises his own noble character and his endeavors to help his peoples—of the "Austrian people," so beloved by some of our faint-hearted, there is no mention—to prosperous development. But the war has made it impossible to achieve this noble purpose. "We must, therefore, undertake without delay the reorganization of our country on a natural and therefore solid basis."

That is to say, having let our country run on for several centuries on an unnatural and therefore unstable basis, we are now going to do without delay what has already been delayed half a century too long. "Austria must become, in conformity with the will of its peoples, a confederate State." But the will of its peoples, expressed vociferously and often, is for complete independence of the Hapsburg; the sole exception, the Germans, seem to be more inclined just now toward a return to the confederation of other German States which may soon cease to be known as the German Empire. CHARLES knows the will of his peoples; if he throws this plan out now, it is in a desperate hope that some few waverers in the allied nations will regard it as ground for supporting the Central European peace offensive.

It may be observed that he is not going to give up Austrian Poland. The world has heard much of Austria's kindliness to the Poles, but it appears that this was based on the hope that all Poland would eventually fall to the Hapsburg Crown. Since the Poles have made this impossible, CHARLES wants to keep the Polish territory that he has. Moreover, "the city of Trieste, with all its surroundings, shall, in conformity with the desires of its population, be treated separately." Who told CHARLES the desires of its population? They differ in their ambitions, but none of them, save the few Germans, wants to remain with the Hapsburgs. Some of its people are Italian, some Slovene; the agreement between Jugoslavs and Italians assigned Trieste to Italy. Does the exception mean that Austria is willing to give it up? If so, it means renunciation of an important part of the Pan German plan, but it does not help this sham federalisation.

The devil is very sick. But if the allied nations should accept this half concession—which, after their promises to the Czechoslovaks and other oppressed nationalities, they are certainly not going to do—we shall learn presently that the Hapsburg gave and the Hapsburg hath taken away. If the German-Austrians want to go back to Germany, let them go; if the Magyars, reduced to their proper racial limits, want to join a confederation of Danube States, let them. But let nobody misunderstand the meaning of the present manoeuvres.

THE SUCCESS OF THE LOAN.

Big subscriptions to the loan will be made on its last day, and will carry it over the top. Perhaps events will even change its name from the Liberty Loan to the Victory Loan. So long as that result remains only a prediction, neither man nor woman, neither great nor small, should relax any effort within their power to remove the last doubt from the mind of the Huns that there is illimitably more where this came from, to prove our support of those who are risking their all for us who are not even risking our dollars for them, and to show the world that we are a united and resolved as well as a rich and mighty nation. Tomorrow's newspapers cannot record this result, even though it will be reached. The task of gathering and verifying facts which carry responsibility for billions makes this impossible. Nothing can be announced which is not beyond peradventure. It will be toward the middle of next week before all the additions are made, and all the duplications stricken out.

But it is only today that the opportunity, the privilege, is offered to put this certainty on the record. And today's newspapers, which cannot report the completion of the subscription of the loan, do report that there is money in the country which is seeking profit rather than the world's security. The speculator who makes a profit while the loan is not subscribed is not to be envied. That Wall Street should tolerate a peace boom while a war loan is left on the Treasury's hands in any degree would be a scandal which Wall Street cannot allow. The country believes that the money is there, and that Wall Street should produce it, even though the country should fail in its duty. Wall Street is accustomed to this, and belies its reputation by bearing no malice and by doing as much more than its share of financial duty as others fail in theirs.

Whoever wants to feel the glow of duty done, and have the lightening of a future conscription of his means as an added attraction, today has his last opportunity to be worthy of our soldiers. That applies alike to corporations who are subscribing by scores of millions and to individuals who in uncounted instances have subscribed more liberally in proportion to their ability. There will be good news about the loan next week. Make that sure today. Double up! Hurry up! Now or never, all together! Over the top with the loan! What are billions when the Hun is running his last race and we are just getting our second wind?

SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN.

If it seem a weariness of the flesh to reopen the interminable "Schleswig-Holstein question," we must remember that prescription and the statute of limitations cannot be pleaded in a case of robbery. While Germany was in the flush of conquest, the Danes, whatever their sympathies, had to keep a discreet tongue. Now they are beginning to ask for the return of Schleswig-Holstein, which BISMARCK, taking advantage of a long-standing quarrel of succession, joined Austria in stealing from them by one war and wrenched from Austria in another.

By the agreement of Gastein, in 1865, Holstein was to be under Austrian control, Schleswig under Prussian, and Louenburg was sold to Prussia, which got the object BISMARCK's mind was set on, the right to build a canal from the Baltic to the North Sea. Joint government of the two Duchies was provided for. That was BISMARCK's opportunity. He accused Austria of breaking the agreement, made war on her. The Duchies were incorporated in Prussia.

The Treaty of Prague between the two nations in 1866 provided that certain districts of Schleswig should have the right to determine whether they wished to belong to Denmark or Germany. This was a mere sop to NAPOLEON III. It was not meant to be carried out. In 1878 BISMARCK went through the form of asking Austria to allow the provision to drop out. Since then Germany has followed the amiable course which has so endeared her to Alsace-Lorraine and Prussian Poland. She drove out the innocent Danes who had returned to Schleswig in the belief that they would be allowed to choose their country. By prohibiting the use of Danish in the schools and public offices by the too well-known methods of Germanizing, she did all in her power to make all the remaining Danes become thoroughly German. The effort was futile so far as the Danes are concerned. Now even the Germans of Holstein, seeing the general loathing with which the German name is regarded, foreseeing that they will be taxed to death and not permitted to emigrate after the war if they remain German, are coming to prefer reunion with Denmark.

Schleswig-Holstein is Denmark's Alsace-Lorraine. The German seizure of the two Duchies, a prelude to the German preparation for world dominion, stirred the greatest indignation in France. Their restoration, founded, of course, on their own will, on the principle of national self-determination, would be welcomed heartily by France. While the preponderant element of population is German, language, as the case of Switzerland demonstrates, is not necessarily the controlling factor of nationality. If the Germans of Schleswig-Holstein choose to be Danes, Danes they should be.

If the other great Powers had interfered in 1864 and 1866, and still more in 1871, the history of Europe would have been so different from the sombre spectacle it is! In this matter of the Duchies all the Entente Powers, all persons who long for a stable peace, have an immediate interest. From Holtenau in Holstein to Brunsbüttel runs the Kaiser Wilhelm or Kiel Canal, southwest 60 miles, from the Baltic to the North Sea. For that Denmark was robbed of Schleswig-Holstein. Its prime purpose was military. It was for the use of the German fleet against England and France and the smaller nations that Germany expected to grab in time. When it had been adequately fortified, deepened, widened, Germany was ready for the great war. It cannot be left in German hands. It should be neutralized. Of both sides of it a peaceful nation such as Denmark is will be the best guardian.

Holstein stretches down to the Elbe. The addition of the two Duchies to Denmark would enlarge by a third the area and population of a country dedicated to peace. If Germany behaves herself, her use of the canal will be unimpeded, only it will be a highway of commerce and not a waterway of pirates.

FOOD SUPPLIES HERE AND ABROAD.

The attitude of Germany and Austria toward negotiations for peace may be due in part to proof that their foes will have an abundance of food for a year to come, while their own people look forward to a Winter in which supplies of essential food will be small. We have promised to increase, for the year ending with next June, our shipments of food to Europe by 5,730,000 tons. Three-quarters of the additional quantity will be breadstuffs and fodder grain. Exports of meat and fats are to be increased by 1,050,000 tons, or about 68 per cent. "We find that we can do this," Mr. HOOVER says, "and still have a margin over the amount necessary to maintain our own health and strength."

From this year's crop of wheat we can spare more than 300,000,000 bushels. The Government's recent report, adding 20,000,000 bushels to the September estimate, made a total of 918,920,000. This yield is second only to the great crop, 1,025,801,000 bushels, of three years ago. We shall have 2,717,775,000 bushels of corn. This falls below last year's crop by 441,000,000 bushels, but it is only a little less than the five years' average, and the quality of the grain is very good, while that of the preceding great crop was poor. The yield of oats, 1,535,297,000 bushels, is almost equal to last year's "record" crop of 1,587,286,000, and here again the quality is excellent. It is estimated by the President of the National War Garden Commission that the quantity of food products taken from small tracts exceeds last year's yield by 50 per cent., and is worth $525,000,000.

The British crop of wheat has been increased from 60,000,000 to 90,000,000 bushels, a considerable gain is reported in France, and official figures show an addition of at least 20,000,000 bushels in Italy. And an accumulated wheat surplus of 300,000,000 bushels in Australia and Argentina waits only for transportation. There is a plentiful supply of food for the nations and armies that oppose Germany and Austria.

The most trustworthy information about food conditions in those countries comes by way of Switzerland. Recent reports from Zurich have repeatedly predicted an abolition of Germany's meat, fats, and butter rations before Winter, and possibly in October. The wheat crop, saved by needed moisture in June, is about equal to last year's, except in Hungary, where the yield is less by 16,000,000 bushels. A slight increase of the small bread ration was recently ordered. This will not be compensation for a loss of meat and fats. The number of cattle has been so greatly reduced that an almost complete failure of the hay crop causes little anxiety. Animals required for breeding have been seized for the army, and local district commissions appointed to preserve such animals were recently dissolved. Wheat stolen from the Ukraine was soon exhausted. This year's crop in Rumania and Bulgaria is very small. The present bread ration may be retained, but loss of meat and fats must cause suffering and great discontent. Food conditions and prospects in Germany and Austria are as disheartening as the reverses of their armies on the western battlefront.

RETURN OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

If tomorrow should be a fair day, with something of the balm of Indian Summer in the atmosphere, the number of automobiles out will probably be a spectacle, for Dr. GARFIELD has lifted the gasoline ban. All the world and his wife, which is a democratic term, will be a-wheel. It may be that the fastidious like to keep their motors in the garage on the first day of the week, for the highways are then rather congested, but the stay-at-homes will hardly be missed by the traffic policemen and the country constables. At this time of the year Sunday is the one day when the ordinary citizen, with family demands upon him, squeezes himself in behind the wheel to fill his lungs with "ozone" and pass the hedgerows in review out of the corner of his eye. After saving oil for the American Expeditionary Forces by a course of self-control that has astonished him, there will be no road too bad for him and he will be tempted to take liberties with the speed limit. Reaction has its delights, if it has its perils. He has been good to the point of sublimity.

The restraint exercised by automobilists in the last few weeks would have been impossible but for the safety-valve of patriotism. It has been demonstrated that Americans will deny themselves anything to win the war. Those who enjoy no means of locomotion but Shanks's mare have viewed the privileged tenants of touring cars as supercilious, arrogant, and a law unto themselves. How undiscerning, how unjust! Uncle Sam stood in the middle of the highway waving the Stars and Stripes, and lo! the road was left to the pedestrians, the ancient buggy, and the dogs. It was as if the automobile had disappeared from the face of nature. No honking, no redolence of gasoline, no dodging! The countryside was empty, calm, and spellbound. Fields, trees, and water surfaces were contemplative. It was like a dream of another world.

Governor McCALL of Massachusetts lately implored Dr. GARFIELD to rescind his edict and let the automobile people bid defiance to influenza on the fleeting highways, where the air was crisp with Autumn and the sunlight sanative. The idea was sound, and no doubt the epidemic will abate in some degree with the passing of gasolineless Sunday. But Dr. GARFIELD was right, too; and he is now able to announce that 1,000,000 barrels of the precious fluid, or 50,000,000 gallons, have been saved to send overseas. But users of automobiles must have a care; if they abuse their freedom and the stock of gasoline ebbs too fast, the ban will be invoked again.

We believe there is no danger. Saving gasoline has become a patriotic duty. Owners of pleasure cars have got the habit. A good deal of touring may be expected tomorrow in the way of relaxation from unaccustomed denial, but the desire to conserve will soon reassert itself. Moreover, the season for outings draws fast to a close. Some owners have "stored" their cars for the Winter. The pleasure-seekers afoot and their care-free dogs return thanks for the license they have enjoyed o' Sundays, but henceforth they must share the roads with the motor cars.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Here Is the Best of Advice.

Never more than while this epidemic of influenza prevails is it true that people who are ill should call a doctor instead of trying to treat themselves, but, unfortunately, a call for a doctor now does not always bring one at once, or even at all, and large numbers of people must necessarily rely more or less on what they can do for themselves. Highly commendable, therefore, was it that a committee of the Advisory Council of the Health Board, headed by Dr. ABRAHAM JACOBI and including seven other eminent physicians, have drawn up a series of simple suggestions as to precautionary measures that can be taken in any family when one of its members shows the easily recognizable first symptoms of the disease—measures which, if taken intelligently and thoroughly, will greatly increase the patient's chances of quick recovery.

These suggestions were printed in THE TIMES yesterday, but recognition of their merit and importance prompts their repetition here:

> Obey all the orders of the Health Department.
> If you feel sick all over, with chilliness or aching of the bones, and with feverishness and headache, perhaps with a cold in the head or throat, you are probably getting influenza.
> Go to bed and, until you get a doctor, do these things:
> Take castor oil or a dose of salts to move the bowels.
> Keep reasonably but not too well covered, and keep fresh air in the room, best by opening a window at the top.
> Take only simple, plain food, such as milk, soups, gruels, or porridge, or any other cereals. Eat bread and butter and any kind of broth or mashed potatoes. Eggs may be eaten, but not more than two a day. Do not take any meat or any wine, beer, or whisky, or other spirits, unless you are ordered to by the doctor.
> Do not get up unless absolutely necessary, and then do not walk about and expose yourself to cold, and do not go about in bare feet. In this way you will avoid getting pneumonia or bronchitis.
> Do not take any medicine unless ordered by a doctor.
> Do not cough or sneeze in the face of other people.
> You should drink plenty of plain water all through the sickness.
> Stay in bed until you have no fever and are feeling much better. Stay in the house two or three days longer.
> If you are not much better, or practically well in two or three days, call a doctor, if you have not already done so, or ask the nearest hospital for help, or call the nearest nursing centre, or notify the nearest Board of Health clinic.

Their Navy Remains Invisible.

It was only the other day that the Kaiser eloquently eulogized the fidelity and efficiency of his navy—the navy he so accurately described as "victorious." How strange it is, therefore, as was noted in one of yesterday's dispatches, that his victorious navy has remained quietly at anchor while the allied forces moved along the Belgian coast and occupied the ports that were rightly held by the Kaiser to be among the most precious of his new possessions.

To defend those ports would be the natural task of a victorious German navy, and one that such a navy could hardly neglect without making somewhat dubious its right to that characterization.

The mystery, however, is not quite inexplicable. Now, as all through the war, the British Navy insists that it is "in being," and knowledge of that fact lingers in the German mind and forms a cruel obstacle to the entering upon nautical adventures and enterprises. That is what the Germans mean when they complain that the seas have not been free in the past and demand that they be free in the future.

A DEFENSIVE WAR.

Reichstag Would Have Declared It as Quickly as the Kaiser.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A dispatch from Copenhagen published in this morning's papers states that an amendment to the German Federal Constitution is about to be passed providing that the consent of the Federal Council and the Reichstag is hereafter to be required for a declaration of war in the Empire's name.

Suppose such amendment had been in force in July, 1914. What would have happened? The Chancellor, or whoever may be the proper officer, would have appeared before those bodies on July 31 and informed them that Austria had declared war on Serbia on July 28; that Russia had ordered full mobilization, and had refused to countermand such order; that thus East Prussia was threatened; that the President of the French Republic had just finished an interview with the Prussian Government; that French officers had entered Belgium; that French aviators had dropped bombs on Morenburg, (a lie, but widely believed in Germany at that time); that it was essential to move quickly.

Assuming that the question of declaring war against Russia and France had been then put to them, does any one doubt that they would have answered it in the affirmative by an overwhelming majority? If any one has any doubts as to this, he can resolve them by consulting the newspaper files of that date and learning from them and from the narratives, since published, of foreigners of various nationalities, including our own, who were in Germany at the time, what was the attitude and temper of the German people on Aug. 1, 1914.

E. HENRY LACOMBE.

New York, Oct. 17, 1918.

FROM THE CHILDS COMPANY.

Rising Costs Have Reduced Profit Since War Began.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

We wish to correct the erroneous impression given by certain newspaper articles concerning the Childs restaurants, many of them sensational in character and some even going so far as to hint at profiteering.

The truth of the matter is that, even with increased prices, the company is making a much smaller net profit than in pre-war times; in proof of which we submit the following authentic records:

A comparison of our business during the fiscal year 1916 (before we entered the war) with the first nine months of the fiscal year 1918 shows that, while our sales have increased over 39 per cent. since we entered the war, our profits have decreased over 50 per cent.; and while the net profit on our sales before we entered the war was a little over 12 per cent., it is now only a little over 4 1-3 per cent. The reason is simple enough: Since the beginning of the war, wages have advanced about 60 per cent. and food commodities from 100 to 400 per cent.

An examination of the company's books, to which we readily agreed, will, without doubt, present the matter in a new light and bring about a more thorough understanding of conditions affecting our business—conditions that have reduced the average profit on a meal from 2 9-10 cents before we entered the war to 1 3-10 cents at the present time.

WILLIAM CHILDS,
General Manager, Childs Company.
New York, Oct. 16, 1918.

IF WE SHOULD FAIL.

If we should fail them in this crucial need—
Hold back the money that is theirs by right—
Either from thoughts of fear or selfish greed,
Or that mad phrase, "Why give? Peace is in sight!"
Or say, to soothe our conscience, "Goodness knows,
The mite I hold 's a drop within the flood!"—
Not give the last red cent for those
Who gave for us their last red drop of blood—

How shall we face those gallant fighting men
Who gave up home, love, life to keep us free?
What shall we do when they come back again
To probe the traitor souls of you and me—
If we should fail? There are no depths so deep
That we could hide from their just, noble scorn,
No sophist lies so black that we could creep
Beneath them, in that white-lit judgment morn!

What could that money buy we hold so fast?
Not honor, glory we had lost before!
No Lethe drink to make us lose the past!
Forget Today in that vast Evermore!
For all you are and ever hope to be,
For all the boasted love you bear this land,
Give, that our friends and foes across the sea
Shall know forever where we take our stand!

Give—for the hands move quickly to the hour
When we must send our message to the world.
Let it be charged with overwhelming power,
That foemen's hopes into the dust be hurled!
Then, when our boys come home and fill the sky
With thundered cheers and cries, "Thank God we went!"
Fling back your answer in one ringing cry
From every single throat, "Thank God, we lent!"

ST. LAWRENCE GIVES DEMOCRATS A SHOCK

Voting Record of 17,637 Broken by Registration of 38,000 in First Two Days.

GLYNN PREDICTS VICTORY

But Smith Men, Aided by a "Republican Friend," Figure Out a Plurality of 150,000.

The rock-ribbed Republican county of St. Lawrence is outdoing itself in the registration this year. In 1916, when there was a Presidential election, designed to bring out a maximum vote, the combined vote for Governor in St. Lawrence County was 17,637. Yesterday Chairman George A. Glynn of the Republican State Committee received the following telegram from Harry M. Ingram, Chairman of the St. Lawrence County Republican Committee:

"We registered 38,000 during the first two days of registration last week, and expect to add several thousand more this week."

Democrats are accustomed to hear of phenomenal developments in politics from St. Lawrence County, where the Republicans have it so much their own way that in many election districts it is difficult to find a sufficient number of Democrats to form registration boards. But they heard of the Ingram telegram with amazement, and wondered where the votes were coming from. Chairman Glynn of the Republican State Committee was asked that same question by a reporter.

"Well, they are there, all right, or they couldn't have registered them," was his reply. "Of course, the women are voting this year, which they did not in 1916, and, according to all accounts, women are flocking to the registration places everywhere up-State, and they are for Governor Whitman almost to a woman, too."

The suggestion that women coming out in great numbers was responsible for the sensational increase in the number of registered voters in St. Lawrence was received with smiles of incredulity by Democrats. In St. Lawrence County the only communities where there is personal registration are the City of Ogdensburg and the towns of Gouverneur, Potsdam, and Massena. All the rest of St. Lawrence is rural, and in such territory the registry boards make up the voting lists by writing in the names of persons who have voted in other years.

Yesterday was the third day of registration in up-State cities. Chairman Glynn said that all reports indicated a record registration.

"Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, Corning, Kingston, and Batavia," said Mr. Glynn, "all report that the voters, especially the women, are coming out in great numbers, notwithstanding the Spanish influenza."

The Citizens Committee for Alfred E. Smith came back at Chairman Glynn last night with a statement attributed to "one of Mr. Smith's Republican friends who is regarded as an authority on election statistics," and predicting the election of the Democratic nominee by 150,000. The forecast gave the Democratic nominee New York City by 250,000 and predicted that he would carry all the big cities up State, cutting the Republican majority above the Bronx to 100,000.

"The rural vote will be much smaller this year than ever before," the statement continued. "Some of the solid Republican backwoods districts that have never before had any real Democratic restraint on the wholesale voting of nonexistent voters will not do so well this year. There is now, for the first time, a Federal law on the statute books which makes it a felony against the National Government to take part in any fraudulent voting in any election at which members of Congress are elected."

Chairman Glynn made light of the suggestion that Mr. Smith would get a large majority in this city, and brought forward a long array of figures to show that the registration in Republican districts was better in proportion to their voting population than in the Democratic districts, and that the registration of woman voters all over the city favored the Republicans.

"We have every reason to be well satisfied with the registration figures in the city, too," said Mr. Glynn. "Mr. Smith's own district, the Second Assembly District in Manhattan, did not make a very good showing. The registration last year in that district, when only men were registering, was 9,701. This year, with both men and women registering, it was 10,295, an increase of only 594. The number of women registered in the district is 2,511, the smallest in any of the twenty-three Assembly districts in Manhattan."

WADSWORTH UNDER ATTACK

Washington Suffragists Suggest He Fight with Old Regiment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Senator Wadsworth of New York was the particular target of attack by the suffragist forces today. The Senator was singled out as one of the "willful" thirty-four who voted against the Susan B. Anthony amendment. On the steps of the Senate Office Building suffragists upheld a banner reading:

> Senator Wadsworth's regiment is fighting for democracy abroad.
> Senator Wadsworth could serve his country better by fighting with his regiment abroad than by fighting women.

The suffragists say they will attack the "willful thirty-four" individually, day by day. Tomorrow will be "Baird Day," in criticism of Senator Baird of New Jersey.

RYAN AT ARMORY RALLY.

His $25,000 to 71st Regiment Loan Fund—Police Claim It, Too.

At a Liberty Loan rally in the 71st Regiment Armory last night a lively controversy between members of the organization and the Police Department, as to which body was conducting the meeting, was settled by an announcement from the platform that subscriptions would be credited to the Regiment. The meeting was largely attended and the principal speakers were Ambassador Gerard, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, and John D. Ryan, Director of Air Craft Production, who gave $25,000 to the fund.

Mr. Ryan, who went to France in September and got home on Sunday last, told the audience that he saw American troops in action in the St. Mihiel salient and in the Argonne Woods.

"We won't have to be ashamed of the American air service if it is as good as at St. Mihiel," he said. "The air battle on that day will go down in history.

"I came back with the feeling that the American Army in France will do what is expected of it. I returned with the feeling that 'Germany is whipped, though perhaps we have got to make her realize it.'"

Rabbi Wise made a patriotic speech that aroused enthusiasm, especially when he said, "The Kaiser, like the tariff, is a dead issue." Ambassador Gerard also told of some of his experiences in Germany.

BIG ARMY BILL IS PASSED.

House Approves Deficiency Measure Practically Without Change.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The six billion dollar military deficiency bill was passed today by the House without a dissenting vote and sent to the Senate in practically the same form that it came from the Appropriation Committee.

Before the House took a final vote several legislative sections were stricken out on points of order. They included one for a war salvage commission to be appointed by the President and to recommend to Congress what disposition should be made of property acquired by the Government during the war. Another would have granted authority to the Chief of Ordnance to make agreements with local authorities for the Government to pay half of the cost of roads damaged by army vehicles.

Besides providing vast sums for the War Department, the bill also provides $107,217,000 for the Navy, and $70,000,000 for the War Risk Insurance Bureau to pay allotments to families of soldiers and sailors.

In anticipation of final action on the bill tonight, Representative Kitchin, the Democratic leader, after a conference with Senator Martin, majority leader in the Senate, announced that he would endeavor to bring about another series of three-day recesses in the House, beginning, probably tomorrow, and continuing until Oct. 29, the date proposed for the beginning of the joint recess until after the November elections.

After Congress reconvened Nov. 12, Mr. Kitchin said, the House probably would continue its three-day recesses until the Senate disposed of the war revenue bill. The majority leader predicted that the revenue measure would not be ready for the President's signature until December.

OPPRESSION IN TAX SALES.

Nassau County Buyer Accused in Long Beach Deal at Lien Inquiry.

Acting upon the complaint of Mrs. E. C. Feeley of 174 West Seventy-sixth Street that David Bandler, a Nassau County buyer of tax titles, had demanded $750 from her for the release of property which he is said to have obtained by the payment of a back tax of $12.40, Samuel S. Breslin, counsel for the Mayor's Committee on Taxation in the tax lien sales investigation, sent Mr. Bandler the following letter:

"We consider this a clear case of oppression, and unless your answer to this letter will be a promise for release of this property to Mrs. Feeley for $12.40, plus a reasonable amount of interest, this committee shall petition the County Treasurer to cancel the conveyance to you on the ground of oppression."

Mrs. Feeley told Mr. Breslin that Thomas H. Dougherty had purchased property in 1909 from the Long Beach Estates, represented by William H. Reynolds, for $2,500. She said that when Dougherty died the property went to herself, her uncle, and her sister-in-law, and that when they visited Long Beach and told former Senator Reynolds he had failed in his promise to develop the property Mr. Reynolds replied that war conditions had interfered with the development. According to Mrs. Feeley, Reynolds told them to go to court, and they would get "the same treatment that had been accorded other complainants."

Mrs. Feeley said she later received a letter from the Long Beach Estates saying search had been made by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company and that they had found the lots had been bought by Charles E. Wiltsie, who had transferred them to David Bandler, for the back tax of 1914, for $12.40. Mrs. Feeley said the property had been insured by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company for $2,500. She said taxes had been paid every year to the Long Beach Estates, as agents, and that the taxes had been accepted by that company even after 1914.

Magistrate Appleton, before whom the investigation is being conducted, said yesterday that the work of the committee was bearing fruit.

WANTS CONCRETE SCHOOLS.

Mayor Sees a Way to Erect Buildings Under Federal Rule.

Notwithstanding the ruling of the War Industries Board that the city should not build school houses at this time, Mayor Hylan in a letter to President Arthur Somers of the Board of Education yesterday declared that the Government's restriction applied only to steel and that the city should go ahead and build school houses of reinforced concrete. He said the city had $10,000,000 available for building schools and he would like to see construction begun at once. In his letter the Mayor said:

"Every patriotic citizen desires to comply completely with the requirements of the United States Government at this time, but, if we cannot build one type of school building, we can build another equally good type of school building.

"If we cannot use steel construction, we can use reinforced concrete construction, and some of the most comfortable and most practical and most permanent buildings in the United States are built of reinforced concrete.

"Many of the school buildings in the West are built of concrete, and in certain the West is quite equal to that of New York."

PRESIDENT THANKS GERRY.

Congressional Primaries Bribery Law Needed, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—In a letter today to Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, author of the new law making a Federal offense of bribery in Congressional primaries or elections, President Wilson expressed his satisfaction at signing the measure, and said:

"I am sorry to say that such a bill was very much needed. Experience in the last election and in many that preceded it had demonstrated only too clearly the importance of putting the Federal power in commission against the processes of corruption at elections. The Department of Justice will use this power to the utmost limit of legitimate exercise, and I want you to know how much I appreciate your personal connection with the measure."

SISSON PAPERS RULED OUT.

Judge Clayton Bars Them from Trial of Trotzky-Lenine Agitators.

Raymond Robins, former American Red Cross representative in Russia, who was to tell about the so-called Sisson papers, was called as a witness in the Bolshevist case yesterday morning by H. Weinberger, lawyer for the six Trotzky-Lenine agitators, who are on trial charged with violating the Espionage act through the printing and circulation of anti-American literature. Mr. Robins, however, did not have to tell his story for Judge Clayton ruled that it was immaterial so far as the case of the local Bolsheviki is concerned.

"I have plenty of trouble trying these people here in court," said Judge Clayton, "and God knows I am not going to try anybody in Russia."

Weinberger had said he would prove by Mr. Robins and other witnesses that the Bolshevist Government had offered all the resources of Russia to the Allies in order to prevent German domination of the country.

"That theory of defense will not be permitted," said Judge Clayton. Weinberger moved to dismiss the indictments on the ground that the Espionage act is unconstitutional, that there is no evidence of a conspiracy, and that there was no evidence of disloyalty on the part of the defendants. Judge Clayton denied all motions. The trial will be resumed at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

SEES A BIG PROBLEM IN LABOR AFTER WAR

Must Work Toward Australian System, with Special Court for Disputes, Says B. F. Harris.

SOCIALISM TO BE FEARED

Administration Is Criticised for Some of Its Policies by Western Banker.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—At the meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers in the Hotel Copley-Plaza tonight, one of the principal speakers was B. F. Harris, President of the First National Bank of Champaign, Ill. In the course of his address Mr. Harris, whose subject was "Back to First Principles and New Ideals," said:

"Civilization everywhere today faces two foes—one, the iron might of autocracy, and the other, the Bolsheviki, and sometimes under the teachings of misguided and sentimental university professors. We have thought and worked and lived as an aggregation of individuals, but not as a nation. And now, suddenly, we are undertaking the greatest work any nation ever undertook, and, necessarily, with all its international relationships and responsibilities.

"'Tis mortifying but well that we refresh our minds, not alone to recall how we came to our present pass but more especially to determine if we propose, by the same mistaken methods, to dally with such dire results as may come with the dawn of peace and its unplanned days. We were so long saturated with the deadly, stupefying, devitalizing, 'watchful waiting,' pacific procedure—aggravated and compounded from time to time to our dishonor and inestimable cost—that we still seem under the spell.

"Some leaders of the party in power are quite conscious that most of those within and without its membership, differing from it in matters of procedure, hesitate to have their patriotism questioned if they protest, and have taken great advantage of this fact. The reaction from this is repressing and weakening on the opposition, and of great disadvantage and danger both to the best prosecution of the war and the general interest. Thus the dominant leaders are 'digging in' constantly on a growing front, not alone in old school m[illegible] partisan purposes, but in [illegible] socialism and political possession [illegible] industry. A false notion of patriotism must not prevent the vigorous and restorative expression of constructive conviction and criticism that is as necessary for the safety of the republic in war as in peace.

"Almost daily we hear the superficial, misleading phrase, 'make the world safe for democracy.' We cannot make the world safe for democracy, nor can we make the world safe through democracy. It is a question of a type of democratic republic safe for, and under a leadership consecrated to, the people.

"Here—where, in letter as in spirit, we are getting away from the principles that made a nation safe for the first time in history, and helped make the world safer, until we began the modification of this republic—by adding elements both of socialism and autocracy.

"It has taken war to make us economic, conserving, less selfish, more human—and to wipe out most of our wasteful, care-free and paralyzing habits of peace. Many of these forced habits of war must live through and become part and parcel of our national life, if we are to reach our goal.

"The foundation of our civilization, of our republic, lies in the stimulation and freedom of self-initiative—the fullest development of the individual. That is the philosophy of peace. German Kultur is based on the submergence of the individual in the State to the ultimate maximum efficiency and power of the State. This is the philosophy of domination and aggression—it is the philosophy of war.

"The largest national issue that is forming today is whether this Government is going to go further into State ment is going to go further and further into State socialism—as Germany did an dis doing—or whether individualism with fewer restrictions on business, and those largely of Federal nature, will prevail.

"The issue—whether the genius of American individual enterprise is to be set free again, but with due regard for the opportunity and welfare of all the people. The responsibility to save and guide this republic rests on the spiritually and intellectually, the humanly and practically minded men and women who have brotherly love, faith, and courage plus, not in themselves more than in the people rightly led and advised.

"Government cannot successfully assume functions of home, school, and church. Even as Lincoln said he thought 'boards and commissions are contrivances to cheat the Government,' so Government may defeat itsown purpose and so-called Government ownership is only camouflage for political ownership of industry and is that phase of socialistic democracy which assumes that Government should not mind its own business—it only adds another 'mock' to what we mistakenly call democracy.

"One cannot help but feel that much of our headlong and apparently uncalled-for governmental control was a result of an unwillingness of the Administration to chance the alienation of labor and to face it frankly and squarely, and wiht as little ceremony and delay as it did capital and conscription. We indorse the general procedure, but not the delay in getting all of us except labor on a war basis and therein, and in the subterfuge lies my thesis and the origin of most of what menaces us.

"By the same token and in the same hands, what is now Government control in time of war would become political possession or so-called Government ownership in time of peace, with a great political payroll of millions of men and all the resulting inefficiency, increased cost, and general disorganization.

"We must work toward the Australian system, where labor controversies are handed over to a special court. The sanction of Government under one or another name for the court will be granted eventually. The community will approve and industrial controversy will become as justiciable as property controversy and systematic justice thereby be extended. The labor or production problem belongs to all of us, but has too long been treated on a day-to-day, hand-to-mouth basis. After the war reemployment and unemployment problems will overpower us unless we plan wisely and well now—or unless the party in power is to go the rest of the route and put us all on the payroll.

"The nation's goal is not private gain but social well-being, national strength, and eternal life. My neighbor's prosperity is my security. The social, economic, and spiritual well-being of all—hand and brain workers alike, to the last man, woman, and child—concerns all of us intimately."

CALLS FOR WIDER CHANNEL.

Dock Commissioner Hulbert Points Out Remedy for Collisions.

Murray Hulbert, Commissioner of Docks, yesterday wrote to William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, asserting that the channel in New York harbor ought to be widened to prevent collisions of large ships. He mentioned the collision of a collier and a British steamship off Norton's Point last week and pointed out that the forty-foot channel abreast the man-of-war anchorage off Tompkinsville has a width of only 450 feet, and narrows to 370 feet off Robins Reef. His letter continues:

"It seems to me that this re-emphasizes the necessity for expediting the widening of this channel to 2,000 feet, in accordance with the provisions, which, as the New York member of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, I had inserted in the Rivers and Harbors act, approved Aug. 8, 1917."

AERIAL OBSERVERS URGENTLY WANTED

Army Calls for Unlimited Number of Recruits in Response to Pershing's Request.

CHANCE FOR QUICK ACTION

Age Maximum and Other Standards Not Rigid—Three Months' Training Gourse.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—General Pershing has sent an urgent call for air service observers, which the Aeronautical Bureau of the army is making prompt efforts to fill from civil life as well as from the army. A strong response from the daring spirits of the country is hoped for. There is no limit in the number to be accepted for training, and qualified men are certain to get quick action.

In announcing the needs of the expeditionary forces today, Major Gen. Kenly, chief of the bureau, said there were no rigid age limits nor other limitations. It is up to the man himself. If he thinks he can stand the hard, dangerous service, and can pass the rigorous physical and other tests, he will be trained for twelve weeks, commissioned, and sent over.

"This is a quick chance to kill a Hun or get killed," General Kenly said. "We will guarantee to get men who qualify to France without delay."

After reviewing the work of the aerial observers in the war and outlining how the results of their observations greatly facilitate the movement of troops and the artillery bombardments, General Kenly made public a letter from General Pershing to the chief of the American Air Service in France which without doubt refers to the great air raid north of Verdun in which 350 machines, probably a majority of which were American, tock part.

For military reasons, no details of the operations could be made public here. But the letter, which explains itself, follows:

"Please accept my sincere congratulations on the successful and very important part taken by the air forces under your commmand in the first offensive of the First American Army. The organization and control of the tremendous concentration of the air forces, including American, French, British, and Italian units, which has enabled the air service of the First Army to carry out so successfully its dangerous and important mission, is as fine a tribute to you personally as is the courage and nerve shown by your officers a signal proof of high morale which permeates the service under your command.

"Please convey to your command my heartfelt appreciation of their work. I am proud of you all."

Lord Sydenham, British authority on fortifications, in a message received today by Major Gen. Kenly, Director of Military Aeronautics, says:

"Impress upon your people that 10,000 airplanes at this juncture are worth more than 500,000 troops on the ground and will not require nearly so much transport. We can bring Germany to terms by air force, that is certain."

EX-SENATOR KEARNS DEAD.

Utah Millionaire Miner Dies After an Apoplectic Stroke.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 18.—Ex-United States Senator Thomas Kearns, mining man and railway builder, died at his home here today, following a stroke of apoplexy suffered several days ago. Mr. Kearns was struck by an automobile about two weeks ago and the excitement due to the accident is said to have brought on the stroke. He was 56 years old and left a widow and three children.

Senator Kearns was born near Woodstock, Ontario, and in the early seventies he removed with his parents to Holt County, Neb., where they settled upon a farm. He worked on the farm for several years, and then as a miner, first in the Black Hills and later at Park City, Utah. He worked his required shift daily and then devoted eight hours to prospecting and in the study of geology. Then came the discovery of silver in what was afterward called the Mayflower mine. The return from the first shipment netted him $20,000, with which he provided a home for his parents. His mine continued to pay and he developed other properties, and he soon became a millionaire. He was one of the owners of The Salt Lake Tribune and was a heavy stockholder and Director in the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad.

Ex-Senator Kearns was a Republican and served as Senator from Utah from March, 1901, to March, 1905.

He married Miss Jennie Judge of New York State. Both ex-Senator and Mrs. Kearns were very charitable, and among the institutions which they provided for was the Kearns-St. Ann's Orphanage.

MANY CONTESTS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY ON EASTERN AND WESTERN GRIDIRONS

LEADING ELEVENS READY FOR ACTION

Dartmouth and Penn State Are Among the Teams Scheduled to Play This Afternoon.

GAME SURVIVES HANDICAPS

In Spite of Influenza and Other Obstacles, the Gridiron Sport Continues.

Although football has faced enough obstacles this season to discourage almost any form of athletic recreation, there is so much enthusiasm for the gridiron game at the army camps, naval stations, and student army posts at the colleges that the sport refuses to be subdued, in spite of influenza and other handicaps. Never in the history of the sport has the game faced such a crisis as at the present time.

Unless the health authorities step in and prevent the games this afternoon, several colleges will make their first appearance of the season in competition. At Columbia, New York University, and Fordham there are no intercollegiate contests scheduled, but there will be intra-unit contests and scrub games, under the direction of the coaches. Some idea of the uncertainty of the football situation at Eastern colleges may be taken from the fact that at a late hour yesterday, telephone and telegraph wires were being used in an effort to arrange games to be played this afternoon.

Dartmouth, which had practically given up all hope of playing the game this Fall, will send its soldier student eleven against the Norwich eleven at Hanover. Brown, another one of the colleges which had decided to abandon the game, but later decided that such action would be detrimental to the physical welfare of its student soldiers, will play Rhode Island State at Providence. Bucknell is slated to play Pennsylvania at State College, and Amherst and Trinity will try to get together at Amherst. Villa Nova is slated to play the League Island Marine eleven of Philadelphia.

Football schedules of the Middle West will be upset as a result of Spanish influenza, which has caused cancellation of virtually all games. Health authorities, fighting to check the spread of the disease, caused some of the games to be called off, while others were canceled on orders of the college authorities.

With the exception of the Notre Dame-Chicago Naval Reserve game scheduled at Notre Dame, the Middle West will be entirely deprived of notable contests. The Chicago naval eleven, composed of former intercollegiate stars, triumphed over the University of Chicago a week ago, and is expected to furnish strong opposition to Notre Dame in its first start of the season.

All contests scheduled in Illinois and Iowa have been called off, and health authorities also forbid the game between the University of Michigan and Michigan Aggies, scheduled for today.

CONCANNON FALLS BEHIND.

Greenleaf Leads In Pocket Billiard Match by 176 Points.

Ralph Greenleaf divided the honors of the two blocks at pocket billiards with Joseph Concannon, in their 1,200 points match at Maurice Daly's Broadway Academy yesterday, but the Western youngster managed to increase his lead in the total score considerably.

Greenleaf won the afternoon block without being extended, by a score of 300 to 17 in six innings. Greenleaf made a run of 44. In the evening, Concannon was in good stroke and tallied 115 points in ten innings, while Greeleaf was running 100. Concannon had a run of 54. The total score is: Greenleaf 1,000; Concannon, 824.

GOVERNOR TO HELP LOAN.

Horsemen to Have Aid of Executive in Final Drive.

Governor Whitman will be one of the speakers at the Empire City race track today when the turfmen will close their Liberty Loan drive. Subscriptions yesterday, amounting to $31,150, brought the total collected since the opening at Jamaica three weeks ago to $1,867,500, and there is a fair prospect that the two-million mark will be attained.

The Governor will be welcomed by a committee and will have an opportunity to see good racing in the Pelham Bay and Liberty Bond handicaps, which have attracted some of the best horses in training.

Annapolis Game Off.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 18.—The Navy's football plans to open the 1918 campaign tomorrow have again been balked. The Middies were booked to meet the eleven of the Navy Pay School, Princeton, N. J., but a wire was received today that the Princetonians could not come, because of influenza quarantine conditions.

Bezdek Selects Team.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Penn., Oct. 18.—Coach Bezdek today selected the men who will start for Pennsylvania State against Bucknell in the first local game of the season tomorrow. Bezdek picked the following team: Ends, Grimes and G. W. Brown; tackles, Henry and Farley; guards, I. W. Brown and Logue; centre, Bentz; quarterback, Williams; halfbacks, Snell and Killinger; fullback, Unger.

BATTALION TEAMS TO PLAY.

First and Third Company Elevens Clash at Columbia Today.

While the 'Varsity eleven went through a signal drill, Columbia's fourth team and the De Witt Clinton High School players had a long scrimmage on South Field yesterday afternoon. Neither side was able to score, but the schoolboys seemed to have slightly the better of it, although they could not gain through the heavy line of the college eleven. Clinton's forward passes netted a lot of ground, and the boys made additional gains by end runs. The Columbia team was ragged in offensive play, but defensively was fair. The tackling was of high order.

Because most of his 'Varsity regulars were assigned to special details, Dawson was forced to put a makeshift team in the field for his first combination. Charley Shaw, Fargo, and Kinnenger were all doing military work, while Zychlinski was unable to play because of a bruised leg. Greene and Canapery, the two 'Varsity men who were stricken with influenza earlier in the week, were reported to be on the road to a complete recovery, and hope was held out that they would be able to play before the end of next week.

Two games will be played on South Field this afternoon. In the opening game, the first and third battalion elevens will face each other, while in the second battle the first and second 'Varsity elevens will get into action. It will be the first real test for the 'Varsity team.

The Cornell game on Nov. 30 is still hanging fire pending the receipt of a message from Ithaca clinching the contest.

JOCK SCOT SHOWS WAY IN HANDICAP

Favorite Beats Hollister in a Stretch Drive Under the Urging of Ensor.

For the first time in the present Empire City race meet a majority of the favorites were successful yesterday, four of the public choices taking down purses. There was some surprise when Mrs. R. L. Bresler's Jock Scot was preferred in the speculation in the West Point Highweight Handicap over A. K. Macomber's Hollister, the top weight, which had the advantage of Loftus in the saddle.

The speculators who made Jock Scott an odds-on favorite were justified, as Jock Scot was in front all the way and, though ridden out, had a margin of a length and a half over Hollister at the finish. The Quincy Stable's High Cost, usually gifted with early speed, never was a contender and followed Hollister, six lengths back.

Ensor, who rode four winners on the opening day and has kept up a good average since, was again the riding sensation. He piloted Jock Scot in his winning effort and also was victorious with Star Class and Intriguer. Ensor's success with the latter was due as much to Buxton's weak ride on W. T. Anderson's Dandy Dude, the favorite, as to his own hustling work on Intriguer. After taking a good lead with Intriguer in the run to the first turn Ensor was unable to hold the van when Dandy Dude challenged at the end of the back stretch. Dandy Dude appeared to be going easily when he entered the home stretch, a length to the good, but Buxton could not hold him together and Intriguer rushed by again to score by three lengths.

Buxton also rode Sherman A, the other favorite, which failed to make good, in the first race. This was through no fault of the jockey, for Sherman A. tired after making the pace and Major R. L. Gerry's Balustrade just galloped in, while John Sanford's Alphee got up in time to take the place from Sherman A.

Ensor had only to sit still to win with Frederick Slocum's Star Class in the second event at a mile and a quarter, the filly repeating her previous good performance at this distance.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For 2-year-olds, nonwinners of $1,800, or three races other than selling, purse $818.36; about six furlongs. Time—1:09 2-5.

CORPORAL HOFFNER OUTPLAYS RISLEY

Atlantic City Champion Beaten by Soldier Golfer in Close Match, 2 and 1.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 18.—Making the inward nine in 38 after being 1 down at the turn, Corporal George Hoffner rather surprised the gallery and incidentally defeated Maurise Risley 2 up and 1 to play in the second round of the Fall golf tournament at the Country Club of Atlantic City today. Risley is the local champion who won chief honor here in the Spring.

The Atlantic City man began well in the morning, winning the first four holes from R. C. Maxwell, Trenton's star left-handed golfer. After that early advantage, the outcome was never in doubt. In the meantime, Hoffner had been having his troubles with C. H. Maxwell. The last named drives a fine ball, but a tendency to wildness gets him in frequent difficulty. He got the match square at the sixteenth, but lost the next hole, so that a half at the eighteenth left him 1 down.

Hoffner and Risley had to face a stiff, cold wind after luncheon. Risley is accustomed to the vagaries of the elements here, while Hoffner after a year's training at Camp Meade doesn't worry over anything. Both hashed up the long seventh hole which was halved in 8, and they also missed several short putts going out. Hoffner made few slips coming back.

Alex Coles, the Shawnee winner, won both his matches, the one in the afternoon against F. W. Harper of Trenton being carried to the home green. F. W. Knight, the medalist, yesterday won twice, defeating Thomas Conroy of Fox Hills in the morning. Later on Knight proved a trifle too much for the Rev. Aquilla Webb, a left-handed player from Short Hills. The summaries:

First Sixteen.—First Round—F. W. Harper, Trenton, beat A. E. Bates, Atlantic City, 4 and 3; Alec Coles, Shawnee, beat H. W. Wood, Cobbs Creek, 4 and 3; Aquilla Webb, North Hills, beat N. E. Sprague, Inwood, 2 and 1; F. W. Knight, Aronimink, beat Thomas Conroy, Fox Hills, 2 and 1; W. C. Baldwin, unattached, beat H. K. Read, Atlantic City, 1 up; C. N. Phillips, Atlantic City, beat Daniel Darreff, Atlantic City, 4 and 3; George Hoffner, Bala, beat C. H. Maxwell, Trenton, 1 up; Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, beat R. C. Maxwell, Trenton, 3 and 2; H. C. Edwards, Atlantic City, beat D. H. Lay, Atlantic City, 3 and 2.

Second Round—Coles beat Harper, 2 up; Knight beat Webb, 4 and 2; Baldwin beat Phillips, 1 up; Hoffner beat Risley, 2 and 1.

Second Sixteen.—First Round—H. J. Gosmley, Atlantic City, beat Samuel Allison, Midland, 3 and 2; W. H. Evans, Lansdowne, beat H. A. Mackey, Aronimink, 4 and 3; Charles L. Fletcher, New York, beat Benjamin Holt, Atlantic City, 7 and 5; F. F. Gold, Merchantville, beat H. W. Leeds, Atlantic City, 2 up; Theodore Therrious, Bala, beat A. F. Nelson, Atlantic City, 1 up; W. E. Wilson, Atlantic City, beat C. F. Yarnall, Frankford, 1 up; J. J. Heimenzk, Lancaster, beat H. B. Newton, Frankford, 2 and 1.

Second Round—Edwards beat Gormley, 1 and 1; Fletcher beat Evans, 4 and 2; Gold beat Therrious, 5 and 4; Heimenzk beat Wilson, 6 and 4.

Third Sixteen.—First Round—C. M. Hicks, Philadelphia Country, beat F. W. Donnett, Atlantic City, 6 and 4; H. E. Richmond, Atlantic City, beat F. M. McAdams, Aronimink, 4 and 3; Henry McSweeney, Atlantic City, beat D. Souder, Atlantic City, 8 and 7; T. S. Bickins, St. David's, beat H. McCullough, Aronimink, 8 and 6; Howard Westney, Atlantic City, beat A. L. Taylor, Huddon, 2 up; Louis Stadler, Atlantic City, beat H. W. Allen, Old York, 3 and 1; E. S. Davis, Frankford, beat S. L. Knisell, Atlantic City, 5 and 4; Edward Satterthwaite, Bala, beat F. C. Leonard, North Hills, 7 and 5.

MATCH RACE IS POSTPONED.

Billy Kelly and Eternal Contest Is Put Off to Oct. 28.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 18.—The special race to determine the two-year-old championship, which was scheduled for next Thursday at Laurel, has been postponed until Monday, Oct. 28.

LIBERTY BONDS HIS REWARD

Major Ostrander Gets Prize for Winning Billiard Match.

J. Ferguson of Cranfield's Academy defeated D. Waterman of Fuller's Academy in the final round of the A. A. B. A. Class D straight-rail championship tournament at Cranfield's Academy last night by a score of 100 to 21 in sixteen innings. This was the fastest game of the tournament thus far. Ferguson averaged 6 4-16 and had a high run of 31.

In a game to decide the winner of second prize in the elimination play, which closed last week, Major A. B. Ostrander, a civil war veteran, defeated A. Barrett by a score of 100 to 70 in thirty-three innings. Major Ostrander's reward was a Liberty bond.

ORO RINO IS EASY WINNER FOR GEERS

Veteran Reinsman Drives Fast Mare to Victory in 2:11 Pace at Atlanta.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 18.—Today's program of Grand Circuit races was the tamest of the meeting, there being no doubt as to the outcome of either of the events in the minds of race followers from the time the card was announced until the three heats in each race were won.

Grace Direct, driven by Tolloy, took the lead at the start of each heat of the 2:15 class pace and won as she pleased.

Oro Fino, Murphy's chestnut horse, driven by Pop Geers, had the same success in the 2:11 pace, getting out in front and never being headed. Windsor Todd pulled up lame after the first heat and was permitted to withdraw. The summaries:

BILLION NEEDED TO FILL THE LOAN

Maine is within a million dollars of its quota.

Six American dreadnaughts have reported record-breaking totals to Admiral Cowie. They are: U. S. S. Pennsylvania, with $125,000, Utah $105,000, Nevada $100,000, North Dakota $94,000, Arizona $76,000, Oklahoma $75,000.

Admiral Cowie announced tonight that approximately $29,500,000 in bonds had been sold in the navy.

Douglas Fairbanks flew down from New York to Washington by Postal Mail Service today, bringing with him subscriptions of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000. He made the journey in a little more than two hours and a half. Secretary McAdoo received Mr. Fairbanks on the south steps of the Treasury building and gave a receipt for the actor's subscriptions. Fairbanks then sold bonds to the assembled crowd, and late tonight boarded a train to New York with the intention of selling $3,000,000 more in bonds tomorrow.

Two large German guns captured at Château-Thierry by American troops on July 18 were rolled on the Treasury steps just before Secretary McAdoo mounted the platform. These are the first captured German guns to be brought to Washington.

PUSH BOND SALES HERE UNTIL THE BOOKS CLOSE

New York Enters the Final Day with Recorded Total of $1,124,344,750.

This is the final day for filing subscriptions to the nation's $6,000,000,000 Liberty Loan, and although last night's Treasury Department's figures showed that the country was still short of the required amount, Government officials as well as bankers felt confident that the loan would be fully subscribed. To attain success, it was said, intensive solicitation of subscriptions would be continued until the books closed at midnight. Corporations and individuals who have already applied for bonds will have to buy more today if they are desirous of making the Fourth Loan as great a triumph as have been the three preceding ones.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced last night that with subscriptions aggregating $176,542,200 recorded during the day the district's total had reached $1,124,344,750, or about 62½ per cent. of $1,800,000,000, this district's quota.

Subscriptions recorded yesterday were approximately $75,000,000 larger than those of the previous day. Inasmuch as the Reserve Bank's total does not include bond applications filed with the various institutions yesterday, which are to be reported only today, there are actually two days yet to be accounted for. In these two days—yesterday and today—the district will have to furnish $675,655,250 in subscriptions, or $337,827,625 per day, in order to fulfill its quota.

Experience of previous loans has shown that the great bulk of subscriptions come in during the final two days of the campaign. In the Second Liberty Loan campaign the last two days' total was nearly $497,000,000, and in the Third Loan drive of last Spring about $342,000,000 in subscriptions was recorded in the final two days. The amount required in the current campaign is considerably larger, but, in view of the fact that the district's quota is just double what it was in the Second and Third Loans, it is not unreasonable to expect that the necessary $675,655,250 will be forthcoming.

	Treasury Quotas	Subscriptions: Recorded Yesterday	Subscriptions: Total for 17 Days

Sub-District 6, which includes all of Long Island outside of New York City, is the first of the subdivisions to complete its quota. Last night its subscriptions were 112 per cent. of its quota.

Thus far the City of New York has filled only about 59 per cent. of its quota, while the rest of the district has attained a percentage of 72.7. The Borough of Brooklyn stands highest among the five boroughs, with 82½ per cent., while Manhattan's record is 57.2 per cent. Both Richmond and Queens have about 75 per cent. of their respective quotas filled, while the Bronx has only 41 per cent.

At the suggestion of J. P. Morgan, head of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., the partners decided yesterday to add to the firm's subscription of $25,000,000 their personal subscriptions aggregating $4,000,000. Mr. Morgan subscribed $1,000,000, Charles Steele, William H. Porter, Henry P. Davison, and Thomas W. Lamont, $500,000 each, while Dwight W. Morrow, Thomas Cochran, E. R. Stettinius, and W. P. Hamilton each took $250,000.

George W. Perkins, formerly a member of the Morgan firm, who had originally subscribed for $250,000 in bonds, increased his application yesterday to $1,000,000. Captain J. R. De Lamar tripled his $500,000 subscription, while Thomas L. Chadbourne increased his $300,000 subscription to $500,000. Mrs. Willard Straight, who had applied for $100,000 of bonds, increased her subscription to $1,000,000 when advised that she could finance her commitment by borrowing from the banks.

Many Increase Subscriptions.

To the appeals for larger subscriptions in order that New York may raise its quota of $1,800,000,000 the big corporations, life insurance companies, and railroads have made prompt responses. The American Beet Sugar Company added $1,000,000, the International Nickel Company added $750,000, the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company doubled its $500,000 application, the Corn Products Refining Company took an additional $1,200,000, making a total of $4,000,000; the American Printing Company increased its application to more than $1,000,000, and the Submarine Boat Corporation took an additional $750,000; Babcock & Wilcox raised their application to $1,500,000, and Tiffany & Co. increased their subscription by $750,000.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company subscribed yesterday to an additional $20,000,000, making its total $40,000,000; while the Equitable Life Assurance Society took another $19,000,000, which brought its total also up to $40,000,000. The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark subscribed for an additional $13,000,000, making a total of $26,000,000. The Aetna Life Insurance Company and affiliated companies subscribed to $12,000,000.

Following are among the miscellaneous subscriptions reported yesterday:

Central Union Trust Co.	$25,000,000
The Bank of N. Y. and customers	5,000,000
Greenwich Bank and customers	3,000,000
Consolidated Gas Co.	3,000,000

Mayor Urges City to Show Its Liberty Loan Colors Today

CITY OF NEW YORK, OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

PROCLAMATION.

To the People of the City of New York:

This day, Oct. 19, should be a memorable one in New York's history. It is not a holiday. It is not a feast day. But it is a day on which New York can give visible proof of its part in the consummation of the greatest offering of treasure ever placed by any nation on the altar of an ideal.

Thousands of us have made our contribution to the Fourth Liberty Loan. Thousands more will make contribution today, or will double that already made. And, in return for this contribution we have the privilege of wearing the badge of service, the button of the loan. Let us not underestimate the honor which comes with this privilege. Let us wear it today with pride.

If, from sunrise to sunset today, the legions of New Yorkers who have qualified for this distinction will wear its symbol on their coats and will fly the Stars and Stripes from their houses, each may well feel that he or she is a personal bearer of the unalterable answer of America to the Emperor of Germany.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the City of New York to be affixed.

Done in the City of New York this eighteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

(Seal.) JOHN F. HYLAN.

By the Mayor:
GROVER A. WHALEN,
Secretary to the Mayor.

PERSHING'S FINAL LOAN PLEA

Our Men in France Expect Support, He Cables McAdoo.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The War Department tonight made public the following cable from General Pershing to Secretary McAdoo:

"The success of the Fourth Liberty Loan means much to the men of the American Army, who are engaged in the greatest battle of the war. The sacrifices our troops are daily making for the nation are adding glorious pages to her history. Occupying an important position on the battlefront, they are forcing the barbarious enemy northward, step by step, in hand-to-hand encounters, and are resolved to continue until the crimes of our enemy shall be explated.

"Standing firmly on this resolve, our sturdy sons fighting this war for freedom firmly expect the continued support of all Americans at home.

("Signed.) PERSHING."

SIAM FLAG ON LIBERTY ALTAR

Gold-Starred Banner Also Raised in Honor of Dead Heroes.

The Siamese flag was run up over the Altar of Liberty, where a series of ceremonies were held yesterday, including the observance of Heroes' Hour at 4 o'clock, when a gold-starred service flag was raised in honor of all American soldiers who had died in France. Mothers of dead American soldiers were in places of honor.

One subscription of $5,000,000 from a bank which was not named was made at the Altar of Liberty yesterday. Mothers of members of the old Sixty-ninth Regiment gave at the altar an additional $6,000 which they had collected. The private schools, which had raised thirteen times their quota, added $197,000 to their subscriptions at the altar yesterday. One subscription received there was for $100 in memory of Alan Seeger of the Foreign Legion.

Mgr. John R. Chidwick, chaplain of the Maine, when it was sunk in Havana Harbor, said:

"I believe if the American people lend the $6,000,000,000 asked for by President Wilson, there will be no more war on the part of Germany. Bonds will take the place of bullets. If the loan should fail, the German people would feel that the American people had lost heart and lost interest in the fight. They would conclude that the nation was not standing back of the President and they would gather their forces and fight on."

LATIN-AMERICA'S SUPPORT.

$1,000,000 Taken at Waldorf Meeting, Making Total $1,500,000.

Latin-America's interest in the Fourth Liberty Loan was emphasized last night at a meeting of representatives of Cuba and twenty Central and South American countries held at the Waldorf-Astoria under the auspices of the Latin-American Liberty Loan Committee. Cable messages were read from the Presidents of several republics telling of the interest of their peoples in the success of the loan, and expressing appreciation of the aims of the United States in the war.

Starting with a subscription for a $1,000 bond by President Wilson, announced at the meeting by Federico Alfonso Pezet, Vice Chairman of the Loan Committee, subscriptions ran up to $1,000,000. Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, read a telegram from Secretary McAdoo to the Latin-American Committee, which said:

"At this critical period of the world's history the moral support of the peoples of this hemisphere is a source not only of gratification, but of real strength to the people of the United States. Unity of thought and purpose with our sister nations of America renews and strengthens the determination of the people of the United States to translate into actual accomplishment the great purposes for which we are now struggling."

TIMES SQUARE BUYS BONDS.

Subscriptions for $1,600,000 Taken Up to Midnight in 36-Hour Drive.

Liberty Bonds had been sold to the amount of $1,600,000 up to midnight last night in Liberty Hall in Times Square, at which a continuous thirty-six-hour drive was started at noon yesterday. At midnight Senator William M. Calder was the speaker. He was to be followed during the early hours of the morning by Will Rogers and other noted stage performers.

Among the speakers last night were ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, Lemuel Ely Quigg, Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Talley, Police Commissioner Enright, Supreme Court Justice Finch, ex-Ambassador Abram I. Elkus and Assistant Attorney General Becker, Governor Whitman and Mayor Hylan will be among the speakers today.

Service Frames in Demand.

Ornamental metal picture frames, decorated with twelve small oval placques bearing insignia of as many branches of the National Service, are meeting an excellent demand in this market. In the centre of the frame at the top is an American eagle in relief, while in each of the bottom corners is a shield in the national colors. The placques are arranged vertically on the sides of the frame. They are made in cabinet and post card sizes, and may be sold at retail at from $3.50 to $5 each. The best sellers so far have been those with rose gold and oxidized silver finishes.

Do Not Like Packing Charge.

Not a little criticism is heard in the market of the practice of certain cotton mills of adding a quarter of a cent a yard to the prices paid them for goods on the ground that this is necessary in order to meet the increased expenses of packing the merchandise for shipment. This means a charge of about $6 a bale for such goods as 38½-inch 64-60s, a figure that is regarded as excessive and as producing about an eighth of a cent a yard "velvet" for the mill. In certain quarters it is hinted that this charge may be levied by some mills in an attempt to get more money for their goods than the War Industries Board will allow on sales.

Gray Goods Sales Light.

With the "drive" for the Fourth Liberty Loan in its final stages, more attention was given in the local gray goods market to helping Uncle Sam than to selling goods. Some business was put through, however, for delivery during the first quarter of next year. Included in it were 39-inch 56-44s and 38½-inch 64-60s from first hands. First hands also sold 39-inch 68-72s for shipment in November, December, and January. All of these sales were made at the full Government prices, as were sales of 36-inch 6-yard sheetings for January-March delivery. Fine-yarn goods continued quiet, in spite of the concessions made by sellers in order to move them.

German Propaganda Hurts.

Exporters of American fine-yarn goods to markets in Southern Argentina say that a vigorous propaganda is being carried on there in the interests of German producers of these cloths, and that as a result it is practically impossible to sell our lawns, voiles, poplins, &c. These cloths, up to a comparatively recent time, had been selling freely at very high prices. According to reports received here, the propaganda consists very largely of arguments to the effect that peace will soon be declared; that German warehouses are packed with goods awaiting shipment, and that by waiting a little while the merchants down there can get the German cloths practically at their own prices.

Fine Shoes Selling Well.

The better grades of men's and women's shoes are selling well now at wholesale for Spring, in spite of the price-grading orders of the War Industries Board that will go into effect on June 1 next. The fact that the retailers will have half a year or so to sell out shoes that ordinarily would command over $12 a pair is held responsible for the business many of them are placing on goods of this type. Not a little of it was placed before the order was issued. For the most part, however, the general retail trade shows a disposition to "go slow" on shoes that cost above $7 wholesale.

Many New Accounts Being Opened.

Apropos of the statement that retail business in this city is really good, the epidemic and the loan drive taken into consideration, the credit manager for one of the best-known local stores said yesterday that right along he has been opening up many new accounts. While the number is smaller than would be the case under normal conditions, he estimates that the falling off has not been greater than 20 to 25 per cent. at most. He agrees with the assertion that the influenza is having as much effect in deterring consumer buying as the loan, and, in the belief that the people of the metropolitan district can both float the loan and buy goods, he looks for practically normal business after the epidemic burns itself out.

Silverware Shortage Predicted.

While stocks in the hands of the silversmiths are said to be fairly large, a shortage of the best-selling goods is predicted, unless the war ends soon, as a result of putting the industry on short silver rations. Only 80 per cent. of the average monthly consumption in 1915, 1916, and 1917 can now be used in any one month. The labor situation also is serious. The prospect of a shortage in plated ware is even more serious than in sterling due to the order that no nickel and brass may be used after Nov. 30 for other than priority orders. Nickel is a base for plated silver, and it is also used in the manufacture of white gold. The brass restriction will put makers of gold-filled watch cases under a handicap, this metal being much used for making cases of that kind.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

An Excess of Rises Over Declines Again Noted This Week.

The trend of wholesale commodities prices changed again this week, according to Dun's list, with the result that the increases exceeded the declines. Last week, when the reverse was true, there were 25 declines in 46 revisions, but this week's showing gave but 23 reductions in a total of 52 changes. More than half of the fluctuations shown in the general list were in foodstuffs, the features of which were the continued strength of dairy products and the weakness of the major provisions at Chicago.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on standard selected commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and for the corresponding week a year ago:

†Government basis. *Government maximums.

The feature of the week in the foodstuffs markets was easily the sharp advance in fancy nearby eggs, which brought them to the unprecedented figure of 82 cents a dozen. This price is not only 9 cents higher than last week's, but 20 cents a dozen higher than that which prevailed a year ago at this time. Western eggs were steady at the recent advance. A drop of a cent a pound took place in the best butter listed, but similar gains were shown by the medium and cheaper grades. Cheese also was higher.

The Spring grade of 100 per cent. flour showed a drop of 15 cents a barrel here during the week, but the Winter grade was unchanged. In the provisions market at Chicago the first advance in four weeks was noted, it being in Middle Western lard. Live beef, hogs, and sheep, mess pork and short ribs all were lower, and the same was true of hams and bacon at this city. In the vegetable list a decline in Scotch peas contrasted with advances in choice marrow beans, cabbage, and onions. All of the last three are cheaper than at this time in 1917.

The fresh fruits showed advances in both common and fancy apples, but the changes in the dried ones were limited to a rise in citron. The basic grades of Brazilian coffee continued to rise, but teas were unchanged. Sugar also showed no change, but the spice market was unsteady for the first time in several weeks. Cochin ginger was quoted higher, but this was offset by drops in the prices asked for black and white Singapore pepper, nutmegs and mace. Salt Irish mackerel advanced.

Corn was the only item in the grains list to advance, with the declines confined to oats and prime timothy hay. The lists for hides and leather were both bare of changes for the first time in quite a while. The metals list produced only a decline in spelter, the second in two weeks. A drop in turpentine was the naval stores' only change. Jute was higher, but in the other miscellaneous changes were declines in raw silk and dry white lead paint.

Ten of the fourteen changes in the combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs, and oils were advances. Among them were several of the soda products, camphor, and Rochelle salts. The rises in the last two were directly attributed to the influenza epidemic. An increase of $1 a pound also took place in jobbing lots of opium, but it is still well below the corresponding 1917 figure. The textile markets were without feature this week, aside from the selling of gray printcloths and sheetings for deliveries running between January and June next. The burlap situation was quite unsettled, but prices were for the most part sustained at the recently announced maximum levels for importers.

To Halt Making of Gasoline Stoves.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The War Industries Board today advised the discontinuance of the manufacture of gasoline stoves during the war, and urged that material for their production should be used in making gas heaters and cooking devices.

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

International Traction Co.

To Holders of Collateral Trust Four Per Cent. Bonds of INTERNATIONAL TRACTION COMPANY.

The undersigned, at the request of the holders of a large amount of the above mentioned bonds, will act as a Committee for the protection of all holders of such bonds who shall deposit the same with them under an agreement now in preparation.

The serious difficulties in which both the Traction Company and the International Railway Company already find themselves, together with the further troubles which threaten them, sufficiently prove the need of immediate and united action on the part of the Traction Company's bondholders for the protection of their interests.

Notice will be given of the completion of the Protective Agreement and of the terms of deposit thereunder. Meantime, holders of bonds are requested to communicate with the undersigned through their counsel named below.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Heavy Increase of Trading Carries Stocks Upward—Bankers Looking Ahead.

Consideration of peace prospects and encouraging eleventh-hour results in the Liberty Loan campaign found a reflection yesterday in the most active stock market of the year. In particular cases stocks displayed exceptional power in their forward movement, and the sharp ebb and flow of quotations among the more elastic issues imparted a degree of interest to the day's business, which had not been attained before in the current effort to discount the defeat of the Teutonic nations. Discrimination between the so-called "peace" and "war" stocks was less in evidence than in earlier days of the week, and, taking the list through, net gains extending from 2 to 4 points were in the majority, with a number of stocks recording advances much in excess of these. The most insistent bidding for shares in which speculative interest had been particularly aroused occurred as the session drew to a close.

Evidence supplied in the day's cabled news that the German forces were rapidly abandoning the coast of Belgium was the most effective item of cheer received by the financial district. The fact that this retirement was being hastened by the untiring efforts of British and Belgian troops helped to expand enthusiasm over the war situation, and close attention was paid in banking quarters to the movement to federalize Austria. Naturally, the actual developments were amplified largely by the many rumors, which spread rapidly, to the effect that the end of the war was near at hand. While these optimistic expressions of sentiment probably had considerable influence in directing the course of speculation, they had a lesser place in the opinions of bankers and business men, who were willing to wait for events to take definite shape, and in the mean time were trying to adjust themselves to new financial occurrences, whether weeks or months ahead.

It is evident that trade and banking are beginning to devote careful thought to what may develop after Germany has acknowledged her defeat. Determination to make the Liberty Loan a glowing success has, of course, absorbed much of the attention of the leaders, but in a few days the vast task will be completed, even in respect to the many details incident to so great an undertaking as the sale to the public of $6,000,000,000 of Government securities. In these closing days of the campaign it is noteworthy that the banking community is centering upon the loan, probably, more effort than it ever put before on a single piece of work, striving not only to put the transaction through for the sake of success itself, but in order that a wide distribution among the public may lessen the burden on the banks. An early return of peace is expected to bring about fresh commitments on the part of commerce and industry which will bring great, new demands upon money and credit.

It was a matter of considerable comment that the expansion of stock market operations occurred without visible signs of stress in the money market. While call loan rates continued firmly at 6 per cent., funds appeared to be in adequate supply. The expectation that money would become more plentiful after the Liberty Loan payments began to flow in appeared to be of influence in the day's money market. Neutral exchange rates shaded downward, especially Swiss quotations, although the movement was not pronounced.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Discuss Railroad Earnings and Assets.

The railroad stocks, especially those long included in the "standard" list, made a considerable advance yesterday, but so far in the peace market they have lagged behind the more prominent industrials. The possibility of continued Government control after the stated period expires appears to have been a retarding factor, at least in the opinion of many market observers. At the same time, it has been noticeable in commission house gossip of late that attention is being paid to assets and the improved earnings since the freight rate increase went into effect in June.

What Happens When Stock Is Scarce.

The market appraisal of Mexican Petroleum yesterday was, at the top price, $74 per share higher than a fortnight ago. The persistent rise has naturally aroused many rumors of buying by corporate interests at home and abroad. Whatever may be the truth of these reports, information of brokerage houses where large traders operate indicates that a big speculation has been centred in a stock known to be in small floating supply. As used to be the case in General Motors and Bethlehem Steel, a moderate turnover of a stock which is scarce frequently results in a sharp upbidding of quotations.

Pittsburgh Steel's Costs.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company's statement for the year ended June 30 shows in marked degree the sharp rise of costs over the year before. The expansion of $7,772,026 was equal to nearly 36 per cent., resulting in a decrease of more than 20 per cent. in the net operating profit, although total sales were $5,000,000 higher than in 1917. The Federal taxes increased close to 50 per cent., and the balance available for dividends, amounting to $54.59 on the common stock, was 47 per cent. lower than in the preceding year.

Coffee Futures Trading Suspended.

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange yesterday suspended trading in coffee future contracts, pending the result of negotiations between the board and the Food Administration, which are expected to affect the method of conducting operations of this class. The nature of the negotiations was not disclosed. Coffee brokers said that dealing in futures had been on a small scale for some time past, trading being restricted in part by the license system ordered recently by the Food Administration. Notice is to be made twenty-four hours in advance of the resumption of trading in futures.

Writing Paper Bond Plan.

The plan now under consideration by the leading bondholders of the American Writing Paper Company for providing for the first mortgage 5 per cent. issue which matures next July is the exchange of bonds of a new issue for the old, according to information obtained yesterday. The new bonds probably will be dated Jan. 1, 1919, and mature Jan. 1, 1939. The interest rate is to be 7 per cent. from the issue date to Jan. 1, 1921, the rate thereafter being 6 per cent. provided the war ends before Jan. 1, 1921. If the war should continue, the committee plans to maintain the 7 per cent. rate until the first coupon date after peace is declared.

Standard Oil Issues Bulge.

Some of the Standard Oil stocks scored unusual advances yesterday, considering their sluggishness until a few days ago. Vacuum Oil at 380 was up 40 points, Standard of New Jersey at 575 was higher than Thursday's close by 20 points, and Atlantic Refining at 990 was higher by about 30 points. These issues presumably reflected the upward surge of Mexican Petroleum and Texas Company on the Exchange.

FORD MOTOR CO.'S CASH.

Financial Statement Shows $91,471,851 in the Treasury.

The extraordinary amount of cash in the treasury of the Ford Motor Company is disclosed in a statement of conditions as of July 31 last, which was recently filed with the Secretary of State of Massachusetts. The amount was $91,471,851, comprising both cash and bills receivable, an increase of $26,852,084 over the total on the corresponding date the year before.

The company reported $44,522,562 worth of material in process of manufacture, compared with $46,762,457 a year before. The total surplus was $175,242,728, a gain of more than $43,000,000 during the year. The surplus was eighty-seven times the par value of the outstanding capital stock. Bills payable were about $9,300,000 less than on July 31, 1917, with a total of $10,653,327.

Packard Motor Car Earnings.

The Packard Motor Car Company reports a net income of $5,616,707 in the year ended Aug. 31, an increase of $216,016 over the preceding year. The surplus after paying dividends was $4,346,319, against $3,930,055 in 1917.

CUTS PROPOSED TAX ON UNDIVIDED PROFI

Senate Committee Reduces to 12% Levy Which Raised a Storm of Protest.

$140,000,000 LESS REVENUE

Requa Offers Six Amendments to the Provisions for Imposts on Oil and Mines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—With the reduction from 18 to 12 per cent. of the proposed tax on corporation profits not distributed as dividends but retained for development of business, the Senate Finance Committee today took what it considered the most important step since it began work on the War Revenue bill. It is estimated that the savings to the corporations by this change will be between $140,000,000 and $150,000,000.

The House had provided for an 18 per cent. tax on the undivided profits, and this roused a storm of protest among corporations producing war material for the Government. Many of these corporations had constructed new plants out of their profits, after they had been asked by the Government to enlarge their facilities so that more necessary war material would be manufactured.

Some of the committee members opposed the change made today, saying the alteration might allow corporations an opportunity for evading taxes. But, it was pointed out, the bill contained a provision giving the Treasury Department discretion to say, in the case of any corporation, what sum represented a reasonable amount to be retained for use in business. On sums above this amount the individual stockholders would pay income surtaxes exactly as if the sum had been received in the course of dividends. The action of the committee today does not disturb the 12 per cent. tax on profits distributed as dividends during the taxable year.

It is estimated that great sums will be saved by the corporations as the result of lowering the tax and that this money may be used in plant enlargements. In the case of one corporation it was figured that the reduction from 18 to 12 per cent. would save $1,000,000.

The committee also amended the House provision amortization in war industries so as to include shipbuilding. House provisions exempting from taxation farmers' insurance and telephone companies or similar organizations, the income from which consists of assessments used for the purpose only of paying expenses, was accepted unchanged.

Another amendment would exempt interest on bonds of the war finance corporation from normal taxes.

Mark L. Requa, the Director of the Oil Division of the Fuel Administration, appeared before the committee and presented his views on the taxation of oil and mines. Mr. Requa is in favor of a liberal policy toward oil developments. He offered six amendments, which the committee will consider carefully. Chairman Simmons of the committee said if the amendments were adopted it might be tantamount to rewriting the oil section of the bill.

The committee will not sit tomorrow, but will resume work Monday.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Commenting on the condition of trade and the business of the banks, Dun's Review says:

No slackening of the vigorous productive effort in the leading industries has resulted from the continued discussion of pease prospects, but the question of probable future readjustments has entered more largely into calculations. Signs of hesitation among buyers, prompted by expectations of a later turn in the price situation, are not wholly absent, and the disposition to operate cautiously and well within the limits of safety has been intensified. The volume of business, meanwhile, has been further reduced by the diversion of interest to the new Liberty Loan, and the restricting effect of the influenza epidemic has become more pronounced and general.

Bank clearings at the principal cities in the United States this week amount to $5,547,797,474, a decrease of 0.4 per cent. as compared with the same week last year, due wholly to smaller exchanges at New York City, that centre reporting a loss of 7.8 per cent.

Bradstreet's says:

All advices continue to indicate marked paucity of labor or of crude materials, and where odd offerings of staple merchandise are made, ready absorption occurs. Temporarily, at least, there is little evidence of buying for Christmas, and the weather is too warm to permit of the placing of sizable re-orders. Some accounts suggest that as the larger merchants and manufacturers have all they can do to care for Government work, smaller interests have been afforded an exceptional opportunity to go after the trade of country merchants in a more strenuous manner. Supplies of coal are better, and it is evident that large consumers such as the railways are amply stocked, which fact in turn liberates quantities for less important customers.

58 BUTCHERS AGREE TO REFUND PROFITS

Will Contribute to the Red Cross and Sign Pledges of Reform.

ADMIT THEIR OVERCHARGES

Remainder of the 234 Cases Will Be Disposed Of by the Federal Food Board Monday.

Fifty-eight of the 234 cases against retail butchers from all parts of New York City, charged with profiteering in the sale of lamb, were disposed of by the Federal Food Board yesterday, the defendants having voluntarily agreed to make contributions to the American Red Cross amounting in the aggregate to $5,825; to refund all overcharges on charge sales, and to post a sign in their store stating that they were making this refund. In addition, they were required to sign a pledge admitting violations of the rules and regulations of the Food Administration and agreeing to abide by them in the future. Hearing in the other cases was postponed until Monday.

John Mitchell, Chairman of the Federal Food Board, and Arthur Williams, Federal Food Administrator for New York City, presided at the hearing, and Charles P. Robinson, counsel to the board, presented the cases against the butchers. Chairman Mitchell gave those who desired to do so an opportunity to abide by the voluntary penalty. A considerable number availed themselves of the offer, and he stated that those who desired to be heard individually might appear before the board Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Some butchers took the position that though guilty of profiteering, it was unfair to expect them to pay out in refunds and contributions to war charities more than the actual amount taken in excess profits. This impression was corrected by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Williams, the former making this statement:

"Anyone who has taken advantage of war conditions to enrich himself cannot expect the authorities are going to give him a clean bill of health because he refunds the amount he has unjustly taken. If a man picks another man's pockets it is not adjudication to the defense if he simply returns to the victim the money he stole from him."

It was brought out at the hearing that some of the butchers who had been paying from twenty-one cents to twenty-two cents a pound for lamb during the first week in October were charging prices to consumers which showed a profit in some cases of more than twenty-three cents a pound. In practically every case the butchers admitted that the margins of profit allowed by the board were fair, although some of them said they had never seen the list of fair prices issued by the board. The butchers who admitted they had been guilty of charging excessive prices were:

COTTON ADVANCES AND CLOSES FIRM

Firmer Cables From Liverpool and Reports of Rains Bring Day of Steady Demand.

In response to firmer cables from Liverpool the cotton market opened yesterday at an advance of 3 to 20 points, and continued upward on trade buying. Reports of rains over the Eastern belt with predictions of further precipitation had a stimulating effect.

On the rise October contracts sold up to 31.90c., an advance of 35 points over the previous day's closing figure; while December contracts moved up to 31 cents, a gain of 52 points compared with the previous closing quotation. Following this advance there were slight reactions. After the noon hour prices declined about 15 points, due to selling by New Orleans and local liquidation, but the market seemed to be able to absorb readily the offerings, and the undertone was good.

Activity on the Stock Exchange distracted some attention from the cotton market, but it was also said to have been in a measure responsible for the upward movement in the staple.

The market closed steady, practically at the top prices of the day. The net gain for October and July contracts was 35 points, while the net advance in the case of March deliveries amounted to 40 points. December contracts closed 39 points above Thursday's final figure.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,607 pkgs. A little more buying interest and a slightly steadier feeling on fancy grades of fresh creamery, but no quotable change to prices. Medium qualities plenty and rather urgently offered. Renovated, ladles, and packing stock about as previously quoted. Creamery, higher than extra, a lb., 58¼@59c; extras, 92 score, 58c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 56@57¼c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 53¼@55¼c; thirds, 49@52c; unsalted, higher than extras, 60@60½c; extras, 59@59¼c; firsts, 57@58½c; seconds, 55@56½c; State dairy tubs, finest, 57@57¼c; good to prime, 54@56c; common to fair, 47@53c; renovated, extras, 51@51½c; firsts, 49@50c; lower grades, 43@48c; imitation creamery, firsts, 45@46c; ladles, current make, firsts, 41½@42c; seconds, 40c; lower grades, 38@39½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 40@40½c; No. 2, 39½c; lower grades, 36@38½c.

EGGS.—5,839 pkgs. Lighter receipts give a little more confident tone to the market, but there are still liberal accumulations of average good and ordinary qualities of Western fresh gathered and the demand for these slack. There is still a fair call for strictly fine to fancy qualities, of which the proportion in the supply is small; for these there is a fairly firm market, but the medium and lower grades are very freely offered. Storage eggs continue in good demand and firm. Nearby whites are very scarce. Selected fancy new-laid qualities are hard to find and command extreme prices; medium and lower grades irregular. Further offerings of California eggs coming in which had been chiefly sold to arrive at prices ranging from 77@80c, but they could be easily sold at the latter price. Fresh gathered extras, a dozen, 57@58c; extra firsts, 54@56c; firsts, 52@53c; seconds, 49@51c; dirties, No. 1, 45@46c; No. 2 and poorer, 40@44c; checks, good to choice, dry, 40@42c; under grades, 32@39c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, charges paid, 45@46c; firsts, charges paid, 44@45c; firsts, charges paid, 42@43c; State Pennsylvania and nearby Eastern hennery whites, fine to fancy, 84@88c; ordinary to fine, 70@83c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 70@84c; Pacific Coast whites, firsts to finest, 80c; Western and Southern gathered whites, 65@81c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 60@68c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 50@58c.

LESS SUGAR FOR CANDY.

Hoover Cuts Down the Allotment for November and December.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Food Administrator Hoover announced new sugar regulations today, restricting the ice cream, soft drink, and candy trades during November and December.

Soft drink and ice cream manufacturers will be permitted but 25 per cent. of the amount of sugar normally required. Manufacturers of beverage syrups, confections, chewing gum, chocolate, cocoa, cough drops, malted milk, syrups and molasses, soda water, adulterated honey, and similar commodities will be cut to 50 per cent. of the average amount of sugar used from July 1 to Dec. 31, 1916 and 1917 combined.

Candy and chocolate manufacturers are being instructed to give preference to the Army, Navy, Red Cross, Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus, and Salvation Army. Sugar needed for those comes out of their regular allotment, except when furnished for shipment overseas.

There will be no further reduction in sugar for households, but consumers will be kept to their ration of two pounds a person per month.

[Seal.] A. B. PARKER, Deputy Secretary of State.

Germany Will Surrender

only if you do your duty!

Our boys are over there to force Germany to surrender.

Your "good wishes" will not buy ammunition!

Your "hopes" will not make Germany surrender—it takes cash!

Be a red-blooded American!

JURY FINDS ARMY CONTRACTOR GUILTY

Gouled Convicted of Conspiracy in So-Called Raincoat Frauds.

HIS LAWYER IS ACQUITTED

Capt. Vaughan, U. S. A., Pleaded Guilty and Testified Against the Man He Had Favored.

Felix Gouled, an army contractor with offices at 1 Madison Avenue, was found guilty by a Federal jury last night of having entered into a conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with the so-called raincoat frauds. David L. Podell, a lawyer of 42 Broadway, who was a co-defendant, was acquitted. The third defendant, Captain Aubrey W. Vaughan of the army, pleaded guilty and was the principal Government witness against Gouled. Gouled, it was charged, was, through favoritism shown him by Vaughan, able to procure contracts for manufacturers who were not satisfactory to the waterproof supply committee of the Quartermaster Corps. It was further charged that Gouled exacted an extra commission of 5 per cent. of the contract profits, which was a sort of "slush fund" to be used in gaining the favor of army officers.

To conceal the fund so it would not be subject to the Federal income tax, the indictment further charged that Gouled and Harry Rosenfield, a raincoat manufacturer of 352 Fourth Avenue, had sought the advice of Podell, the lawyer. Podell drew up certain partnership papers which figured in the case. Testifying as a witness in his own behalf, Podell swore that he had disapproved of the tax-dodging proposition.

Captain Vaughan testified that Gouled, who is said to own an embroidery factory in Switzerland, had promised him a $15,000 position after peace was declared, and further testified that following the closing of several raincoat contracts he had accepted from Gouled $1,000 in cash, a wrist watch, and a lap-robe.

Agents of the Department of Justice while under examination by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Joseph A. Burdeau, who prosecuted the case for the Government, testified that Gouled had represented himself as on friendly terms with Colonel Hirsch of the Quartermaster Corps, and with other officers attached to that arm of the military service. Colonel Hirsch was indicted in Brooklyn as a co-defendant in the Rosenwasser case two weeks ago. The Rosenwassers are under indictment for supplying defective aviators' coats, puttees, and other equipment to the army.

When the verdict of the Gouled jury was announced last night Martin W. Littleton, counsel for the convicted contractor, asked that the $20,000 bail in Gouled's case be continued until next Tuesday. Judge Cushman agreed to this. It is considered certain that Gouled will appeal. Podell was discharged from custody.

Opposes Wheat Acreage Extension.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Julius H. Barnes, President of the Food Administration's Grain Corporation, believes that further extension of wheat acreage would be unnecessary and unwise. In a letter today to Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska Mr. Barnes said a fair yield from the present large acreage, with any peace developments opening new sources of supply, would necessitate Congressional appropriation to make effective the present price guarantee. Last year's acreage of wheat of 65,000,000 acres was much the largest ever sown, yet this year's acreage promises to exceed that.

Weather in Cotton and Grain States.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Forecast:

N. Car. and S. Car.—Fair and cooler Sat.; Sun., fair.

Ga.—Local rains and cooler Sat.; Sun., fair.

Fla.—Fair Sat., except local rains in n.; Sun., fair, cooler in n. e.

Ala. and Miss.—Local rains Sat. and probably Sun.

Ky.—Fair Sat. and Sun.

Ohio and Ind.—Fair Sat. and Sun.; slightly warmer Sun.

Lower Mich.—Fair Sat.; Sun., partly cloudy, probably showers in w. and n.

Upper Mich.—Fair Sat.; Sun., showers.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

After a day of exciting trading, the market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange closed strong and active. The volume of transactions was the heaviest in months. Price fluctuations were wide throughout the session. The outstanding features of the session were the sensational movements in Mexican Petroleum and the vigorous demand for the steel and equipment shares during the final hour of the session.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Lower John Street furnished an interesting deal yesterday in the purchase by Charles L. Hulsking of the five-story building at 110, on a lot about 20 by 50, between Gold and Pearl Streets. It was bought from Frederick J. Stimson. The buyer owns the abutting property at 5 Pearl Street, and now controls a plot of about 3,000 square feet, with entrances on both streets. He is the head of a drug brokerage firm. The property sold was held at $35,000. The Charles F. Noyes Company were the brokers.

$9,064,450 for Liberty Loan.

Another million dollar day was closed yesterday by the Real Estate Division in its Liberty Loan drive and by subscriptions of $1,001,150, the grand total now is $9,064,450. Alfred E. Marling and the other leaders said there was no question of getting the much coveted $10,000,000, and the committee determined to round up $15,000,000 before the close of today's work. For the last loan the realty interests subscribed $3,600,000, and the division has more than made good the slogan "Double the Third."

Subscriptions included $17,000 from Jacob H. Schiff for all the Kuhn, Loeb buildings, $85,000 from Frederick Johnson for 30 East Forty-second Street, and $15,000 for the apartment at Park Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street. The Adlon Construction Company, $20,000; J. J. Steindler, $10,000; Robert B. Suckley, $10,000; Henry Bruner, $15,000; William R. Walker, $10,000; the Broadway Realty Company, $50,000; for 11 Broadway, National Park Bank, $12,000; the Gorham Company, $3,000 for its Fifth Avenue building; William A. White & Sons, $25,000; James R. Roosevelt, Jr., $35,000; Woodbury G. Langdon, $26,000 for his Fifth Avenue building; William Cruikshank, as trustee, $14,000; Moore estate, through Katharine T. Moore, $10,000; Joseph P. Day, representing various interests, $60,000.

Joseph P. Storms contributed $50,300 for many Jamaica interests, and the Twelfth and Nineteenth Ward Real Estate Association, Adolph Bloch, President, subscribed $35,000 for several hundred members. The Brooklyn brokers, by an additional $130,050, raised their total to $1,345,350. Albert B. Ashforth announced an anonymous subscription of $50,000. The following contributed $5,000: John B. Pine, the Robert Hoe Real Estate Company, the estate of Philip Braender, Rowan Realty Company, William H. Wheeler Corporation, Samuel Kempner, the New York Real Estate Association, and Max Natanson.

Mitchell Will Be Schiff Neighbor.

Charles E. Mitchell, President of the National City Company, is reported to have been the buyer of the residence at 933 Fifth Avenue, between Seventy-fourth and Seventy-fifth Streets, just sold by Mortimer L. Schiff and adjoining the latter's residence. Mr. Mitchell now lives at 3 East Eighty-fifth Street.

Takes Heights Taxpayer in Trade.

William Woodward, President of the Hanover National Bank, took in exchange from Ennis & Sinnott for his dwelling properties at 11 and 13 West Fifty-first Street, recently sold, the one-story taxpayer building on the northeast corner of St. Nicholas Avenue and 182d Street, on lot 79.9 by 60. It is fully rented, and was built a year ago by the sellers.

Private House Deals.

The three-story dwelling at 74 West 119th Street, lot 17 by 100, has been sold by Emanuel Davidson for the Lawyers' Mortgage Company to a buyer for occupancy.

Clara A. Mulcahy has purchased from William Lynn the three-story dwelling at 523 West 173d Street, on lot 18.9 by 100. The H. M. Weill Company were the brokers.

Tenement Investments.

The four-story tenement at 226 East 107th Street, on lot 22 by 100.11, has been sold by S. Soraci for the Metropolitan Savings Bank.

The four-story flat at 228 East Seventy-fifth Street has been purchased by Charles Wynne from Rose Bamberg.

Bronx Sales.

The six-story apartment house at 660 and 662 East 187th Street, 50 by 100, near Cambreling Avenue, has been sold for the Niagara Life Insurance Company of Buffalo by S. Soraci.

The two-family house at 2,184 Valentine Avenue, 20 by 118, near 181st Street, has been sold by the Red Roof Realty Company for Lizzie Van Riper.

Buyers in Queens.

The dwelling with plot 25 by 100 at 82 Bradford Avenue, Flushing, has been purchased by John R. Cook from Mary Ann Brown. J. Albert Johntra was the broker.

The New York and Queens Electric Light and Power Company has added to its holdings in the vicinity of the Flushing Creek water front, on Lawrence Street, Flushing, by purchasing the old Cornell Peck homestead, with a frontage of about 150 feet on Lawrence Street. It was held at $50,000.

Brooklyn.

The Meister Builders Inc. sold 1,837 Seventy-first Street, a one-family brick dwelling, to clients for occupancy. This completes the resale of the three houses recently purchased by this company.

I. Lester Wood has sold through Harry Wood as broker 479 and 483 Prospect Place, two four-story apartment houses. The property was held at $45,000.

Staten Island Sales.

W. S. E. Hall has sold for W. F. Pallister a house and plot on Decker Avenue, Port Richmond, to John A. Delaney of New Brighton. The cottage at 80 Roe Street, West New Brighton, has been resold by the same broker.

Fox Adds Another Theatre to Chain.

William Fox, President of the Fox Film Company, has leased the Empire Theatre, at 152-4-6 Ellison Street, Paterson, N. J., for a long period of years from the Northern New Jersey Realty Company, through Feist & Feist, Inc.

Duryea Homestead Sale.

William H. Whiting & Co. sold to Albert M. Bowen, Jr., of Piermont, N. Y., the homestead of the late William Duryea at Nyack on the Hudson, consisting of a large stone house, garage, and about four acres of land. The property was held at $25,000.

Education Notes.

A special war secretarial course is being organized at the Washington Heights Evening High School, 145th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, Manhattan, on Fridays from 7 P. M. to 10 P. M. The subjects covered are stenography, typewriting, commercial English, and office practice. Those wishing to attend will see the Principal, Charles F. Thellusson, in his office on the fourth floor on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings.

To those hard of hearing, the Board of Education offers an opportunity of learning lip reading under the most favorable conditions. Classes have been formed and are to meet at Public School 93, corner Amsterdam Avenue and Ninety-third Street, every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, from 7:30 to 9 P. M. The classes are free. All hard of hearing adults wishing to take advantage of this offer are urged to register at the school on Monday evening, Oct. 21. This is the first school of the kind ever held uptown.

The Board of Representatives of the High School Teachers' Association favors the adoption of the following minimum schedules:

	First year.	Annual increment.	No. of increments.
D1—Class teacher...	$1,200	$150	12
D2—Head of department	2,030	210	7
D3—Clerks and assistants	1,200	100	5
D4—Head clerks & librarians ...	1,200	100	10

It also favors an increase of 10 per cent. in Principals' salaries, and $6 a day for substitutes.

The Civil Service.

City.

The examination for promotion to Captain in the Fire Department will be held at the old City College Building, Twenty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, on Nov. 9.

The receipt of applications for asphalt steam roller engineer will close at 4 P. M. on Nov. 4. The salary is $5.50 a day. The subjects and weights of the examination are: Experience, 6; technical, 4. The requirements are at least one year's experience on new or repair asphalt work and at least one year additional as hoisting, pile driving, or stationary engineer. The minimum age is 21 years.

United States.

The commission announces for Nov. 12 an examination for senior inspector of car equipment, for men. Vacancies in the Interstate Commerce Commission under the act providing for the valuation of the property of common carriers, at entrance salaries ranging from $1,800 to $3,600 a year, will be filled from this examination. The entrance salary within the range stated will depend upon the qualifications of the appointee and the duty to which he is assigned, certification to fill the higher-salaried positions being made from those attaining the highest average percentages in the examination. Appointments will be principally for duty in the field, but some appointments may be made for duty in Washington, D. C. Appointees will be allowed necessary expenses when absent from headquarters in the discharge of official duties. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on physical ability, 10; education, experience, and fitness, 90. It is desired to secure eligibles having several years' practical experience in car construction or repair shops and in cost estimating of car construction and repairs. Applicants must show that they have had at least five years' experience as master mechanic, master car builder, general car foreman, or in similar service, and that they have within two years next preceding the date of their application been in active service in such capacity. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth but not their sixtieth birthday on the date of the examination. Further information may be obtained from the Commission, Washington, D. C.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A strong anticyclone has advanced rapidly over Northern Canada, and is now central south of Hudson Bay. It has caused a sharp fall in temperature in the Middle Atlantic States, the lake region, and the Ohio Valley.

Pressure is relatively low in the South, with a shallow depression over Louisiana, and a second disturbance is centred over New Mexico.

Light, scattered rains have continued in the East Gulf States, Tennessee, and Arkansas, and the rain area has spread northward to Kansas and Nebraska.

The weather will be generally fair Saturday and Sunday east of the Mississippi, except that rains are probable Saturday at points in the East Gulf States, Tennessee, and Northern Florida. Cool weather will continue for the next forty-eight hours.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Southern New England coast, at Delaware Breakwater, and from Cape Henry to Hatteras, and an advisory warning issued at 9:30 P. M. was that strong north winds will continue from Delaware to Hatteras for the next twenty-four hours.

Winds for Saturday and Sunday along the North and Middle Atlantic coasts will be fresh to strong northeast, with fair weather; South Atlantic coast, fresh northeast, strong off Hatteras, fair.

FORECASTS—TODAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania.—Fair and continued cool Saturday and Sunday.

Southern New England.—Fair Saturday and Sunday.

Western New York.—Fair Saturday and Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday.

Northern New England.—Fair and somewhat cooler Saturday; Sunday, continued cool.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1917.	1918.		1917.	1918.
3 A. M.....	53	56	4 P. M.....	56	52
6 A. M.....	54	56	6 P. M.....	56	52
9 A. M.....	54	56	9 P. M.....	56	52
12 M........	57	50	11 P. M.....	57	50

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 55; for the corresponding date last year it was 54; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 55.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 59; at 8 P. M. it was 52. Maximum temperature, 60 degrees at 12:01 A. M.; minimum, 50 degrees at 12 noon. Humidity, 64 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 56 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 29.94 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.35 inches.

M., and, after services, will accompany the remains a reasonable distance, when detail will be dismissed and return to quarters. The Chief of the 44th Battalion will detail an officer, an engineer of steamer, and one man, and the Chiefs of the 34th, 38th, and 29th Battalions, two men each, to report at the quarters of Engine Co. 231, at 1:45 P. M., for duty during the absence of that company.

The mental examination for promotion to the rank of Captain will be held on Saturday, Nov. 9, at the City College Building, Twenty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, Borough of Manhattan. Further applications for examination will be forwarded on Tuesday, Oct. 22. In compliance with Section 114, Rules and Regulations, 1912, all Lieutenants who will have served for a period of six months or more in the grade, at 8 A. M., Nov. 9, will be eligible.

The following candidates for promotion to the rank of Captain will report for a medical re-examination at Room 1401, Municipal Building, at 1 P. M., Monday, Oct. 21: A. J. Poggi, Eng. 17; J. P. INSTRUCTION.

MEN

wanted for Tank Operators

Men with initiative, eager for a chance to distinguish themselves, are offered great opportunities in the Tank, Tractor and Wireless Divisions. Our Tractor Mechanics and Wireless Courses qualify you for better pay and rapid promotion.

Tank Division

Our course will qualify you as a Tank mechanician or operator. It will also enable you to operate and repair a farm tractor.

Tank service strongly appeals to fighting men eager for action. All men enlist as privates and are promoted solely on merit. Great opportunity is offered for rapid promotion leading to a commission.

Tractor Division

Horses are being replaced "behind the lines" by caterpillar tractors. Thousands of trained operators and expert mechanicians are needed to man these "iron horses," which now bring up the big guns and supplies. This work is of the utmost importance, as it is the artery which furnishes the steady flow of ammunition and food.

Wireless Thousands of competent operators, electricians, engineers and inspectors are needed to fill responsible commissions in the Aviation, Artillery, Signal Corps, Naval Reserve, and on Battleships, Transports and ships of the Merchant Marine. Our thorough courses prepare you in short time to qualify for a Government license.

COPELAND REFUSES TO CLOSE SCHOOLS

Sees No Reason to Put Ban on Public Assemblages Because of Influenza.

4,930 NEW CASES IN CITY

Staten Island Shipbuilders Report 40 Per Cent. of Men Ill and Ask the Mayor to Act.

Spanish influenza statistics for the twenty-four hours that ended at 10 A. M. yesterday showed 4,930 new cases, an increase of 197 over the day before. Influenza deaths show an increase of 47 over the previous twenty-four hours. There were 26 more deaths from pneumonia and a decrease of 58 in pneumonia cases.

There is still much discussion as to whether schools, theatres, and places of public gathering should be closed, but Dr. Copeland, the Health Commissioner, said emphatically, in reply to all criticism, that he saw no reason for closing such places or varying the department's program. One thing that induced Dr. Copeland to defend his program was a report that Borough President Van Name of Richmond had sent to Mayor Hylan a letter from three shipbuilding firms in that borough asking that public places be closed, with the indorsement from President Van Name that it be done.

The letter came from the Standard Shipbuilding Corporation, the Staten Island Shipbuilding Company, and the Downey Shipbuilding Corporation. It said that influenza had decreased efficiency at the plants approximately 40 per cent. and was seriously hindering work for the Government. It pointed out that about 15,000 men were employed in the yards and the disease had been epidemic for two weeks. The private hospitals maintained in the yards are overtaxed and the nurses and attendants are overworked.

"Let me urge you," President Van Name wrote Mayor Hylan, "immediately to issue the proper orders to the Department of Health, the Police Department and the Department of Education in accord with the request as to all parts of Staten Island."

The mother often does not."

Dr. Copeland, when told of Dr. Goldwater's statement, would not discuss it. Before he learned of it he declared that he stood fast in his determination not to close theatres or schools. "I have discussed the school situation with those in authority and they agree with me," he said. "The chief difficulty lies in the fact that there is an unusual amount of illness among the teachers. So far as the children are concerned, a careful survey shows that about half of the absences are due to the fear of parents and not to the illness of children."

As a new aid in the fight against influenza the Health Department yesterday took over the Polyclinic Hospital. It was to have been taken by the army, and the number of patients had been reduced to about twenty and the nurses to seven. It will be used for pneumonia cases, and will add about 300 beds to the hospital accommodations of the city.

The new cases of influenza and pneumonia and the deaths from these causes in the twenty-four hours that ended at 10 A. M. were distributed thus:

	New Cases.		Deaths.
Boroughs.	Inf.	Pneu.	Inf.	Pneu.
Manhattan	1,963	288	167	135
Bronx	752	81	58	45
Brooklyn	1,632	134	111	110
Richmond	154	16	14	9
Queens	482	62	33	14
Total	4,930	588	383	313

Dr. Copeland said that the use of vaccine as a preventive was increasing and that requests for it were coming from out of town. One employer in New Jersey obtained enough for 100 persons and some of it has been sent to Syracuse, where influenza is raging.

At least 200 nurses and many women for other hospital work are still needed. Dr. Copeland said that in Bellevue alone there was immediate need for 40 orderlies, 30 nurses, and 40 cleaning women. He made this suggestion to business men and women:

"Men and women are wanted to volunteer to give their time five evenings a week between 6 and 10 o'clock to useful work in the hospitals while the nurses get a chance to rest. The first one or two nights they can learn, and after that they will be really useful in this emergency."

The department yesterday increased its staff by the appointment of twenty medical inspectors.

Dr. Copeland sent a letter to the various transportation lines in which he said:

"I am not satisfied with the conditions of ventilation in the cars of the transportation companies of the city. I know that many people complain about the chilling effect of the open window or open door. I myself hate to sit in a draft, but we must all recognize that at a time like this the danger of transmission of the germs of influenza and pneumonia is greatly decreased by free ventilation. Please impress upon all your guards, conductors, and motormen the vital importance of keeping the windows and doors open."

Reports to the Health Department say there has been profiteering in funerals and in medicines. The price of burial is said to have gone up in a way which leads the Commissioner to believe that some undertakers are taking advantage of the sufferings of the people. The matter, he said, was being investigated by the Sanitary Bureau.

Owing to the epidemic, the Stage Women's War Relief will close the Sunday Canteen at 251 Lexington Avenue. The Service House will remain open with nightly accommodations for men in service at 25 cents.

The Central Branch of the Y. W. C. A. announced yesterday that it would begin an eleven weeks' course to teach women the practical work of nursing. Application for the course and registration should be made at the Branch, Fifty-third Street, at Lexington Avenue.

The Bronx County Medical Society sent a letter to Dr. Copeland yesterday informing him that that organization unanimously approved the suggestion of Assistant Sanitary Superintendent Dr. Arthur J. O'Leary, that the Second Battery Armory in the Bronx be turned into a temporary hospital for influenza, also that the specialists in the Bronx had offered their services as general practitioners during the influenza epidemic.

INFLUENZA INCREASES THE COUNTRY OVER

Epidemic About Stationary in Army Camps, with Fewer Pneumonia Cases.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Reports to the public health service today from thirty-five States showed that Spanish influenza still is on the increase in most parts of the country. Conditions in army camps also were less favorable, the 4,791 new cases reported to noon today showing that the disease apparently was about stationary after the marked decline noted for several days.

The epidemic still is more pronounced in the eastern section of the country than it is west of the Mississippi River, due undoubtedly to the more crowded conditions in the large cities. Up to Oct. 16 New Jersey had reported 107,839 cases, with 2,232 deaths. Deaths in Pennsylvania to Oct. 15 were reported at 10,046. In Delaware the epidemic apparently was subsiding, but many cases of pneumonia were reported. Fewer cases also were reported from Massachusetts, but in Maine, Rhode Island, and New Hampshire the disease still was epidemic. Maryland also reported many new cases, as did Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi.

The epidemic also continues in the Middle West, Louisville and five other cities in Kentucky have many cases, while Indiana yesterday reported 2,688 new cases outside of Indianapolis, where the disease is epidemic. The malady also continues in Illinois and Michigan, while Ohio reported that it is prevalent in thirteen cities of that State.

Missouri reported epidemics in seven cities, Minnesota in thirty-six districts, Colorado in seven cities, and Kansas in seven cities and many counties. There is a serious epidemic at Oklahoma City, with many cases in other parts of Oklahoma. The disease was increasing in nine counties in North Dakota, and was reported from six cities and several counties in New Mexico. The epidemic also is widespread in Arizona.

Idaho reported new cases from five cities; South Dakota reported the disease throughout the State; Wisconsin had new cases in ten cities and Wyoming reported 2,500 cases during the last week. Montana reported 2,000 new cases during the week ending Oct. 12. In Arkansas the peak seems to have been reached in most cities, but the disease is increasing in the rural districts.

In the District of Columbia both the number of new cases of influenza and of deaths increased to-day and portable hospitals were opened to take care of the overflow from public and private institutions.

Although influenza cases in army camps increased slightly the number of pneumonia cases, 1,598, decreased during the twenty-four hour period ending today at noon. Deaths were 657, against 684 yesterday. Influenza cases reported from all camps since the epidemic began now total 279,945; pneumonia cases, 42,675, and deaths, 13,681.

LIE MONGERS AGAIN BUSY.

Gen. Richard Denounces Reports of Executionss for Spreading Germs.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Reports that nurses and medical officers at the army camps had been executed because they spread influenza germs among the soldiers were denounced as lies today by Brig. Gen. Charles Richard, Acting Surgeon General.

"There have been no more insidiously false reports come to my attention," he said, "than those, recently widely spread, to the effect that nurses or medical officers have been executed at the stage hour of sunrise for spreading influenza or pneumonia germs among soldiers. There have been no medical officers, nurses, or any one else executed at any camps in the United States or abroad for any such cause.

"The reports are ridiculous and without the slightest foundation on fact. They have taken many forms, but through them all has run such a significant likeness of texture that it is not unlikely that they all originated from the same source, the German propagandist. Unfortunately, as is so frequently the case, those behind the baseless reports have been and are being aided in the nefarious dissemination of them by many thoughtless persons who have not taken time to investigate before passing the reports on."

BALTIMORE LACKS COFFINS.

Camp Meade Supplies 500—City Laborers Dig Graves.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—Mayor Preston called a meeting of the undertakers of this city today to arrange for more expedition in burying victims of influenza and pneumonia. The undertakers complained that they were delayed by physicians and that the families of victims sought expensive coffins, the supply of which was exhausted.

The Mayor issued a statement calling on the people to be content with simple equipment at their funerals. He also announced that the army authorities at Camp Meade had offered the city 500 coffins and that these would be accepted. It was also announced that the city will send some of its laborers to dig graves, the shortage of grave diggers being acute at present.

British Embassy Attache a Victim.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Major the Honorable Charles Lyell, principal aide to Major Gen. MacLachlan, Military Attaché of the British Embassy, died here today of an embolism following an attack of Spanish influenza. He was the second member of the Embassy staff to fall a victim to the disease. Captain Angus MacIntosh died Sunday.

Major Lyell, though only forty-three years old, had been a member of Parliament and parliamentary private secretary to Sir Edward Grey and to Mr. Asquith. As a soldier, he served in France, where he suffered from severe shell shock. He was the only son of Lord Lyell of Kinnordy, and his five-year-old son now becomes heir to the peerage. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetry next Monday.

INFLUENZA IN WEST AFRICA.

1,000 Deaths a Week Are Reported in Sierra Leone.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 18.—The officers of a steamship which arrived today from West Africa said that Spanish influenza had been brought there from Europe and was ravaging the coast. In Sierra Leone the deaths averaged 1,000 a week and business was ters are working day and night making coffins, the officers continued, and the crews from the two warships that were in the harbor had to come ashore to assist in burying the dead. The Spanish influenza has also attacked the war vessels.

Coastwise vessels are also losing numbers of their men from the epidemic. The natives, called crewboys, employed on the ships do not drink, but they are easily liable to be carried off by pneumonia. There is scarcely any food to be had at the West African ports, which depended upon America and Europe for their supplies, and few medical comforts. The epidemic has spread to the interior, and the chimpanzees and monkeys, which are very weak in the chest, are dying like flies. The rapid spread of Spanish influenza in West Africa, the officers added, was considered due to the cold rainy season which is now on.

ORDERS ALL VACCINATED.

Chicago Reports Increase in Deaths but Fewer New Cases.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Health Commissioner Robertson today directed a general vaccination of Chicagoans with antitoxine, and advised all persons to salute their friends, but not to shake hands.

Reports for twenty-four hours showed an increase in deaths and a decrease in new cases of influenza and pneumonia. The figures were: New cases, influenza, 1,917; pneumonia, 402; decrease, 76. Deaths, influenza, 244; pneumonia, 137; increase, 19.

EVERYBODY take hold of the Big Bond Broom to-day, and sweep Hohenzollern, Hapsburg & Co. into the offal heap. Patriotism isn't kid-gloved alms-giving; it's bare-knuckled self-denial. Patriotism doesn't fling a coin to its Country, like a careless tip, that you'll never miss, to a bell-boy. Patriotism gives what it can ill afford, and exults in the giving.

Buy Bonds 'way beyond your seeming capacity! Don't say "Enough"—there's no such word in the Lexicon of Loyalty. Do without and go without, so that our Victory shall be crushing and clinching; so that the Earth shall nevermore be riven with unnamable pain; so that our Gallant Dead shall not have gone down into the Great Abyss in vain.

Buy Bonds!
Buy Again!
Try Again!
Repeat!
